Louisianans To Ballot On Race Issue Tuesday

By JAMES McLEAN

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 30 (AP)—Deep South Louisiana decides in Tuesday's voting whether to borrow time by resisting any final Supreme Court decree outlawing segregation in public schools.

For the first time in modern history, Louisiana citizens will ballot on a racial issue.

LT. HARRY BUSCH

Proud of their equal school facilities, Louisianians from cotton fields in the north to the rice and oil belt in the Cajun south have never bothered with such problems except in courts or the Legislature.

On the voting machine ballot are 31 constitutional amendments with No. 16 the segregation question that could be a straw in national winds.

Louisiana also will return to office without opposition U. S. Sen. Allen J. Ellender and seven incumbent congressmen—all Democrats, and name an eighth. Rep. F. Edward Hebert has a Republican rival.

The New Orleans representative defeated George W. Reese Jr., two years ago 72,000 to 36,000. While Reese is running again, Hebert is assured of going back in because this is a one-party state.

Other incumbents are Reps. Hale Boggs, Edwin E. Willis, Overton Brooks, Otto E. Passman, James H. Morrison, T. A. Thompson and George S. Long.

Ellender, 16 years in the Senate, marched strongly toward his fourth term in a Democratic primary by polling a 100,000-vote plurality over two opponents.

The big election decision is school segregation safeguards, and to slightly lesser extent, whether to have annual sessions of the Legislature and to approve $50 to $250 bonuses for Korean War veterans.

Despite a registered vote of about 865,000, Gov. Robert Kennon predicts thin interest with the total vote falling short of 200,000. But he predicts the 31 amendments will pass easily.

Adding amendments to the longest constitution in the land is an old Louisiana habit. Adopted in 1921, the present document is crammed with 184,000 words and has been amended 302 times.

The Louisiana Bar Association last summer urged a convention to write a new, modern constitution,

Negro Jailed In Brutal Slaying Of High School Girl

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Oct. 30 (AP) — Beaver County Dist. Atty. Richard P. Stewart said tonight Elijah Thompson Jr., a 22-year-old Negro, is being held on a charge of murder in the slaying of Helen Jean Bryant, 16, a high school sophomore of nearby Aliquippa.

Steward said Thompson, a neighbor of the slain girl, will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rudolph Schwartz of Hopewell Township tonight.

Searchers today found the nearly nude and ravished body of the girl under a pile of autumn leaves about 300 yards from her home.

She had been missing since Monday.

Matt Zvoner, Hopewell police chief, said the girl "definitely was raped." He said her clothes were disarranged, and knife wounds riddled her body. Her forehead was crushed by a heavy object.

Later, a deputy coroner, Mrs. Margaret Sanders, said an autopsy showed "no indication of actual rape, but there might have been an attempt." She said a laboratory study which authorities hope to complete by Tuesday will show definitely whether there was a rape.

She said, "The actual cause of death was a crushed skull, done perhaps by a blunt instrument or a stone." She estimated that death occurred more than three days ago.

The slaying set off a second manhunt in western Pennsylvania. Police already are seeking the killer of a 6-year-old girl at Conemaugh. The nude body of the child,

Missing Plane Found In France; All Aboard Dead

U. S. Air Force headquarters in Wiesbaden, Germany, announced yesterday that wreckage of the C47 transport plane, which was carrying 21 persons — including second Lt. Harry A. Busch, Jr., of Columbia, when it disappeared over France last Sunday has been found.

The wreckage was spotted Friday high in the mountains north of Nice France, but was not identified as the missing plane until early yesterday, when a Navy helicopter flew low over the site.

An Amedican ground rescue team headed by Major Rufus Hessberg, surgeon of the U. S. 12th Air Rescue group, reached the scene of the crash shortly after the plane was identified. Hessberg reported that everyone aboard had died instantly, and that all bodies were accounted for.

Lt. Busch was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Busch, Sr., of Columbia.

Jes' Ramblin'

In a certain Monroe church Sunday school for youngsters who are beginners in their religious studies, the teacher told them of the beauties of the Garden of Eden. She explained how there were many flowers of all varieties, peach trees, pear trees, plum trees and apple trees.

"But," she went on, God told them something about one of the trees where its fruit must not be touched. Does any one of you children know what he said?"

"Yes, teacher," one volunteered, "he said to be sure to spit out the seeds!"

Mrs. Maude Mayo reports that six or seven beautiful geese, evidently lost from the flock that passed over Monroe the other night, are stranded on the bayou back of her house.

They are just beautiful, she asserts, and she is trying to get a picture of them for preservation.

Considerable praise is due to the efforts of Lt. Governor Conrad Lee of the Monroe Civitan Club, for the time he spent and efforts that he exerted to get a Civitan Club formed in West Monroe. He was met with much discouragement at the outset, but the efforts of a month or more succeeded in the end. He received considerable aid from Earl Goss, national organiz-

Lake Charles Bank Robbery Suspect Held

$12,000 Taken In Daring Holdup By Gunman Saturday

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30 (AP)—The FBI said a man identified as Robert L. Groom, 31, was arrested in Lake Charles, La., tonight in connection with a $12,000 bank robbery there earlier today.

M. P. Chiles, special agent in charge of the FBI here, said Groom, formerly of East Ann Arbor, Mich., was arrested by FBI agents and Lake Charles police for violation of the federal bank robbery statute.

Chiles said Groom robbed the drive-in branch of the First National Bank of Lake Charles, obtaining about $12,000.

The FBI agent also said an undisclosed amount of money and a loaded pistol had been obtained from Groom.

Chiles said witnesses identified Groom as the man who robbed the bank shortly before the noon closing time today.

In Lake Charles, J. C. McPherson, executive vice president of the bank, earlier estimated the robber got about $13,300, of which $1,500 belonged to a customer.

Witnesses said the man, who had a reddish brown mustache and had "whiskey on his breath," pushed aside one of two customers and grabbed a money bag from the other, Abraham Cormier, manager of a supermarket, who was planning to deposit the money.

Mrs. Castell said the man shoved the money bag into the cage and ordered her to fill it up. She said he growled: "Damn you, hurry."

D. L. Hart, the other customer, said the man was wearing the type of cap usually seen on railroad engineers. He said he had it pulled down over his eyes.The man's gun, Hart related, appeared to be a .32 caliber automatic of Belgium make.

Mrs. Castell said the man had been in the bank about 10 minutes before and received two $5 bills in change for a $10 bill.

She said she didn't see him again until she looked up and saw him pushing aside a customer and waving a gun.

George Anderson, bank janitor, said he saw the man drive in earlier. Anderson said he was going to the stores will observe a late closburn trash and the man looked at

Ruston Boy, 15, Killed As Shotgun Jams, Misfires

RUSTON, Oct. 30 (Special)—Fifteen-year-old Oliver Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith, Farmerville street, Ruston, was fatally wounded early this morning when a 20-guage shot gun discharged accidentally, hitting him in the abdomen.

According to Lincoln parish Sheriff Clyde Frazier, Smith and his cousin, Buster Barnette, had gone to the Burch store, about two miles east of Ruston on the Chatham road, to get some groceries for breakfast. The youths had made their purchase, left the store and gone about 50 yards, when people in the store heard the gun discharge.

The boys were found sprawled on the ground. The blast from the gun had torn into Smith's lower abdomen. Barnette had fainted from shock. They were taken by Kilpatrick ambulance to a Ruston hospital, where Smith was pronounced dead on arrival.

Lincoln parish authorities said the gun had apparently become jammed, and discharged accidentally as the youths tried to correct the malfunction.

Funeral services for Smith will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Kilpatricks' Funeral Home chapel.

Services will be conducted by Rev. A. H. Johnson.

Interment will be in the Greenwood cemetery, Ruston.

The youth is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith; two brothers, W. E. Smith, Jr., and John Smith; and three sisters, Shirley Smith, Geraldine Smith, and Annette Smith, all of Ruston.

Campaign Is At Bell-Ring Stage

Demos Pinning Their Hopes On 'Shoe Leather'

'Ring Doorbells' Is Injunction To Their Partisans

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republicans and Democrats uncorked electioneering tactics without precedent Saturday in bell-ring campaigns to turn out the vote for Tuesday's crucial election.

The GOP resorted to telephone bells, the Democrats to door bells.

President Eisenhower got on the phone at the White House with calls to 10 people in 9 states across the nation, asking them to vote and pass the word to 10 othtrs—and so on.

The Republican National Committee, Republican governors and the Citizens for Eisenhower organization pitched into the attempt to set up a telephonic chain reaction. That was on the theory voiced by Eisenhower in a Friday speech at Wilmington, Del., that "if everybody votes, we're in."

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell promptly came through with a telegraphic appeal to all party leaders and candidates to start a similar sort of drive by walking up to 10 homes and punching door bells. He told them that "we are the party with the record and the candidates which can afford to meet the voters face to face."

"The time is short," he said. "Let's start now to stave off the desperate last minute assaults of the Republican smear bund."

Just what effect these novel maneuvers would have on the outcome of the party battle for control of Congress, nobody could say. In some spots — Delaware, for example — even Democrats applauded the Eisenhower get-out-the-vote project and said they would turn to the telephone to spur a big outpouring of ballots.

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall got out a statement saying Mitchell and Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, "are frantic at the big swing toward the Republicans in the past 10 days.

With nothing constructive to offer, he said, the "Democrat 'happiness boys' are frantically changing their gloom tune to a song of hate," in "close harmony on a low note."

Hall said Mitchell and Stevenson devote most of their efforts to vilifying Vice President Nixon and "now they are trying to do the same thing to the President."

Both Mitchell and Stevenson have jumped on Nixon and Eisen the Communists-in-government issue.

By Stevenson over the NBC television and radio networks.

By a Republican panel over the same networks, featuring Atty. Gen. Brownell; Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health educa-

Joe Cooper And 'Tippie' Leave LTI Together, For Stay In Private School

Joe Cooper and his dog "Tippie" left Louisiana Training Institute together Saturday after saying goodbye to a large number of new friends that he made since his commitment on Oct. 5.

"I'm glad to be going home, he said, but I'm sorry too." Thoughtfully he added "I've made a lot of good friends out here and I want to come back and visit."

Former Gov. James A. Noe late Friday opened a drive to raise funds to send Joe to a private boy's school in Tennessee and to finance his college education.

The fund is to be known as the Joe Cooper Educational Fund and the trustee will be the Central Savings Bank and Trust Co. of Monroe. Noe said that reports on the progress of the fund would be issued by the bank.

Through the mediums of his two radio stations and local television station Gov. Noe said the public would be asked to aid in raising the amount needed. "I urge newspapers throughout the country to join me in making the Joe Cooper Educational Fund a success," Noe said. Plans are to raise enough money to send the boy through college.

Joe was released Friday night after Judge Howell Heard decided in a third hearing to give his sister, Mrs. Linda Fox, custody under supervision of a juvenile officer.

The strike ended in a compromise on the squabble that started it—the principle of compulsory overtime. The strikers agreed to

Telephones 10 Citizens Urging Ballot Tuesday

Asks Each One To 'Phone 10 Others; Move Catches Fire

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—In an unprecedented political move, President Eisenhower telephoned 10 citizens around the country today and asked them to help set off a chain reaction of Republican votes Tuesday.

Prefacing each conversation with "this is the President," Eisenhower talked from his White House office with a sorority house cook in Illinois, an unemployed secretary in California, a farmer in North Carolina and a housewife in Texas among others.

He asked each of them to do him a favor by voting and asking 10 of their friends to vote in the elections that will decide whether Democrats or Republicans control the next Congress. Each of the 10 friends was to be asked to relay the request to 10 more friends, and so on.

The "telephone your neighbors" campaign was promptly taken up by Republican headquarters and other GOP leaders, including some state governors.

The affair this year will comprise the fifth annual affair to be held.

There will be a speaker of note at the banquet and a brilliant affair is anticipated with the fact that the one to be honored will be held in complete secrecy until she is introduced to the assemblage.

In order to qualify the woman named must have shown leadership in civic clubs, community projects and in church work.

She must have exhibited community participation in altruistic material and educational projects without any thought of self glorification. In order to qualify, the person selected should possess all these qualifications and must have attained them through successive years, covering all phases, and she must be active at the present time.

Arkansas Demos Worried Over Governor's Race

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct 30 (AP)—Arkansas will settle the strangest contest in its modern political history next Tuesday.

This "solid South" state has seen the amazing spectacle of the official Democratic organization concerned over the threat of a Republican candidate for governor.

Whether that threat has any real substance in the face of the state's 75-year tradition of Democratic domination will be decided at Tuesday's general election when voters choose between the Republican challenger, Mayor Pratt Remmel of Little Rock, and Democratic candidate Orval Faubus, a Huntsville weekly newspaper publisher.

The 45-year-old Faubus defeated Gov. Francis Cherry three months ago for renomination to a second term, and some of the issues which developed in the bitter primary campaign are still around to plague the Democratic nominee.

The chief one concerns Faubus' brief association with the long-defunct Commonwealth College, near Mena, Ark., in the mid-30's. Since its closing, Commonwealth as been officially branded "communistic."

The issue has been kept alive, publicly at least — not by Remmel but by a group known as the Citizens for Clean Elections, which is headed by Dr. George P. Branscum, a Little Rock dentist.

Branscum, who describes himself as a Democrat supporting Remmel, quoted Faubus as saying that the FBI had cleared him after an investigation of his connection with Commonwealth.

Branscum said the Department of Justice had advised him neither the FBI nor any other department agency had investigated Faubus.

Branscum has used newspaper advertisements addressed to Faubus offering to contribute $1,000 to the Democratic state committee on these conditions:

That he "make public the loyalty oath you executed as a major in the U.S. Army Reserve this year before announcing for governor."

Branscum said he had been forced to "deduce . . . that Mr. Faubus withheld from the Army, from the Post Office Department and from the Civil Service Commission vital data."

Faubus has not replied directly although a press release from his headquarters accused Remmel of sponsoring "further character assassination through the unreliable sources which have attempted to discredit me through the campaign."

The candidate said he would answer Branscum "at a time of my choosing."

So far he hasn't made that answer.

Campaign Is At Bell-Ring Stage

Demos Pinning Their Hopes On 'Shoe Leather'

'Ring Doorbells' Is Injunction To Their Partisans

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republicans and Democrats uncorked electioneering tactics without precedent Saturday in bell-ring campaigns to turn out the vote for Tuesday's crucial election.

The GOP resorted to telephone bells, the Democrats to door bells.

President Eisenhower got on the phone at the White House with calls to 10 people in 9 states across the nation, asking them to vote and pass the word to 10 othtrs—and so on.

The Republican National Committee, Republican governors and the Citizens for Eisenhower organization pitched into the attempt to set up a telephonic chain reaction. That was on the theory voiced by Eisenhower in a Friday speech at Wilmington, Del., that "if everybody votes, we're in."

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell promptly came through with a telegraphic appeal to all party leaders and candidates to start a similar sort of drive by walking up to 10 homes and punching door bells. He told them that "we are the party with the record and the candidates which can afford to meet the voters face to face."

"The time is short," he said. "Let's start now to stave off the desperate last minute assaults of the Republican smear bund."

Just what effect these novel maneuvers would have on the outcome of the party battle for control of Congress, nobody could say. In some spots — Delaware, for example — even Democrats applauded the Eisenhower get-out-the-vote project and said they would turn to the telephone to spur a big outpouring of ballots.

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall got out a statement saying Mitchell and Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, "are frantic at the big swing toward the Republicans in the past 10 days.

With nothing constructive to offer, he said, the "Democrat 'happiness boys' are frantically changing their gloom tune to a song of hate," in "close harmony on a low note."

Hall said Mitchell and Stevenson devote most of their efforts to vilifying Vice President Nixon and "now they are trying to do the same thing to the President."

Both Mitchell and Stevenson have jumped on Nixon and Eisen the Communists-in-government issue.

By Stevenson over the NBC television and radio networks.

Joe Cooper And 'Tippie' Leave LTI Together, For Stay In Private School

Joe Cooper and his dog "Tippie" left Louisiana Training Institute together Saturday after saying goodbye to a large number of new friends that he made since his commitment on Oct. 5.

"I'm glad to be going home, he said, but I'm sorry too." Thoughtfully he added "I've made a lot of good friends out here and I want to come back and visit."

Former Gov. James A. Noe late Friday opened a drive to raise funds to send Joe to a private boy's school in Tennessee and to finance his college education.

The fund is to be known as the Joe Cooper Educational Fund and the trustee will be the Central Savings Bank and Trust Co. of Monroe. Noe said that reports on the progress of the fund would be issued by the bank.

Through the mediums of his two radio stations and local television station Gov. Noe said the public would be asked to aid in raising the amount needed. "I urge newspapers throughout the country to join me in making the Joe Cooper Educational Fund a success," Noe said. Plans are to raise enough money to send the boy through college.

Joe was released Friday night after Judge Howell Heard decided in a third hearing to give his sister, Mrs. Linda Foy, custody under supervision of a juvenile officer.

London Dockers End Month-Old, Costly Walkout

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP)—The waterfront strike that crippled eight great ports of this island nation for almost a month is over.

The 44,000 strikers—most of them quit work in defiance of their union leaders—voted today to go back to the docks Monday and start moving more than 500 million dollars worth of imports and exports idling in ships and in warehouses.

The strike ended in a compromise on the squabble that started it—the principle of compulsory overtime. The strikers agreed to

Telephones 10 Citizens Urging Ballot Tuesday

Asks Each One To 'Phone 10 Others; Move Catches Fire

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—In an unprecedented political move, President Eisenhower telephoned 10 citizens around the country today and asked them to help set off a chain reaction of Republican votes Tuesday.

Prefacing each conversation with "this is the President," Eisenhower talked from his White House office with a sorority house cook in Illinois, an unemployed secretary in California, a farmer in North Carolina and a housewife in Texas among others.

He asked each of them to do him a favor by voting and asking 10 of their friends to vote in the elections that will decide whether Democrats or Republicans control the next Congress. Each of the 10 friends was to be asked to relay the request to 10 more friends, and so on.

The "telephone your neighbors" campaign was promptly taken up by Republican headquarters and other GOP leaders, including some state governors.

'Woman Of Year' Will Be Named By Club Action

The "Woman of the Year" will be honored at a big banquet to be held late next month. This project is in charge each year of the Council of Women's clubs which include the Altrusa, Pilot, Quota, Delta Rho Delta and Junior Charity League.

Letters will be mailed Monday to all clubs here inclusive of the garden clubs, giving details of the project. This annual affair originated with the naming of Mrs. C. E. Faulk, as "Woman of the Year" when it was first instituted here. After that, in successive years Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. Helen Hood and Miss Myrtle Rodgers were named in similar manner. The affair this year will comprise the fifth annual affair to be held.

There will be a speaker of note at the banquet and a brilliant affair is anticipated with the fact that the one to be honored will be held in complete secrecy until she is introduced to the assemblage.

In order to qualify the woman named must have shown leadership in civic clubs, community projects and in church work.

She must have exhibited community participation in altruistic, material and educational projects without any thought of self glorification. In order to qualify, the person selected should possess all these qualifications and must have attained them through successive years, covering all phases, and she must be active at the present time.

Arkansas Demos Worried Over Governor's Race

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct 30 (AP) —Arkansas will settle the strangest contest in its modern political history next Tuesday.

This "solid South" state has seen the amazing spectacle of the official Democratic organization concerned over the threat of a Republican candidate for governor.

Whether that threat has any real substance in the face of the state's 75-year tradition of Democratic domination will be decided at Tuesday's general election when voters choose between the Republican challenger, Mayor Pratt Remmel of Little Rock, and Democratic candidate Orval Faubus, a Huntsville weekly newspaper publisher.

The 45-year-old Faubus defeated Gov. Francis Cherry three months ago for renomination to a second term, and some of the issues which developed in the bitter primary campaign are still around to plague the Democratic nominee.

The chief one concerns Faubus' brief association with the long-defunct Commonwealth College, near Mena, Ark., in the mid-30's. Since its closing, Commonwealth as been officially branded "communistic."

The issue has been kept alive, publicly at least — not by Remmel but by a group known as the Citizens for Clean Elections, which is headed by Dr. George P. Branscum, a Little Rock dentist.

Branscum, who describes himself as a Democrat supporting Remmel, quoted Faubus as saying that the FBI had cleared him after an investigation of his connection with Commonwealth.

Branscum said the Department of Justice had advised him neither the FBI nor any other department agency had investigated Faubus.

Branscum has used newspaper advertisements addressed to Faubus offering to contribute $1,000 to the Democratic state committee on these conditions:

That he "make public the loyalty oath you executed as a major in the U.S. Army Reserve this year before announcing for governor."

Branscum said he had been forced to "deduce . . . that Mr. Faubus withheld from the Army, from the Post Office Department and from the Civil Service Commission vital data."

Faubus has not replied directly although a press release from his headquarters accused Remmel of sponsoring "further character assassination through the unreliable sources which have attempted to discredit me through the campaign."

The candidate said he would answer Branscum "at a time of my choosing."

So far he hasn't made that answer.

And no attempt has been made to collect the $1,000 "reward."

Communists gave the strike their enthusiastic support. The Daily Worker, the Communist newspaper, hailed the outcome as a great victory.

At 8 a.m. Monday the wharf gates will be thrown open and the dockmen will stream back to tackle the 350 ships that arrived during the walkout.

Port officials said it will be weeks before the giant London docks are working normally. Thousands of dollars worth of Christmas exports have been canceled. Shipping companies alone estimate their losses at over 5½ million dollars.

The London dockers who demanded an end to compulsory overtime are to get their own way. Provincial dockers who struck in sympathy have been promised new agreements to be worked out locally.

Union leaders urged the men to work as much overtime in the next few weeks as possible to clear the docks.

The back to work vote was made by cheering dockmen at a series of mass meetings up and down the country. The London men voted first. Once their decision was known other ports followed suit within minutes.

ther chain" of doorbell ringing. National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell wired party leaders and candidates urging them to match the "Republican talkathon with a Democratic walkathon." He said:

"We are the party with the record and the candidates which can afford to meet the voters face to face. The time is short. Let's start now to stave off the desperate last minute assaults of the Republican smear bund."

Under the plan Democratic leaders were urged to make calls on 10 persons each, urge them to ring the doorbells of 10 persons, etc.

At least one Democratic official, State Chairman Elbert N. Carvel of Delaware, endorsed Eisenhower's get-out-the-vote appeal, saying he was "solidly behind this noncontroversial but very important project which embodies the greatest right we have, the right to vote."

"Personally, I'm willing to call a hundred people," Carvel added.

James L. Murphy, chairman of the National Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee, said he expects the "10 times 10 phone drive" sparked by Eisenhower would result in a multiplication of votes that will give the President a clear majority of Republicans in Congress.

Eisenhower's phone technique was described by Mrs. Frances Tyahla, a Summit Hill, Pa. nurse who had written the President an encouraging letter.

"The President said he got the letter all right, that he liked the contents and was deeply moved by the wording and the sincerity of it," Mrs. Tyahla related.

"After saying that the President asked, 'Do you want to do something for me? Do I, indeed! What he wanted was for me to call 10 of my friends and neighbors in this get-out-the-vote campaign. I said of course I would.

"The President said it was impossible, because of the shortness of time, for him to speak to my husband and to his two fellow workers, but he asked me to give them his best regards."

Mrs. Tyahla said she had written the President telling him he was "doing a fine job," on behalf of her husband, Stephen, and two coworkers in the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

Eisenhower's phone calls, placed by White House switchboard operators, started going out around 11:30 a.m. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said those called were selected from thousands who had written the President recently expressing support of Eisenhower and his program.

"Representative individuals who had sent representative letters," was the way Hagerty described them. Hagerty said the bill for the calls would be paid by the Republican National Committee.

One of the "representative letters" told Eisenhower frankly that the Democrats were going to win "if you do not stir yourself" and take personal charge of the campaign.

This letter was written by Grover S. Slater, Eugene, Ore., clothing store manager who also suggested it would help the GOP cause if "some of 'your boys' would only keep still and quit making 'cracks' just before election."

The 69-year-old Slater said he was "thrilled" to get Eisenhower's phone call, which he had been expecting. Like all the others, Slater was notified in advance that it was coming. He was the last of those called.

After talking with the President a couple of minutes, and calling him "Ike" throughout, Slater immediately began stirring himself with some phone calls of his own, urging others to vote.

How the advance warnings went out was related by Miss Elaine Anderson, 69, a retired schoolteacher of El Monte, (Los Angeles County), Calif.

At about 7:30, Pacific time, "the operator called and said for me to please stand by as the President of the United States would like to talk to me in about an hour," she said, adding that the call came a little later.

Eisenhower, she said, was "very informal very sincere, and very gracious."

The White House said all of the President's 10 calls were completed in about half an hour. He sandwiched them in between a visit by a group of young farmers from India and Pakistan at 11:30 and a noon appointment with a State Department delegation headed by Secretary Dulles.

Before getting on the telephone to add a new chapter to the saga of American politics, Eisenhower carried on his usual morning round of conferences and greetings with official visitors.

Ironically, the first person Eisenhower got on the phone won't be able to vote this year because of a change in residence.

"But I didn't tell the President that," she confided later.

She is Mrs. Frederick Saye 62, a cook in the Pi Beta Phi sorority house near Bradley University, Peoria, Ill.

She moved to Peoria from Washington, D.C. only 10 months ago, and thus lacks the necessary 12-month residence requirement for Illinois voters. After her talk with the President, whom she had urged in a letter to "run again, or we are lost," Mrs. Saye said:

"I'm just walking around on air. I don't know what I'm doing. He talked six or seven minutes."

The others with whom the President talked were:

after labeling the set of laws "too long, too detailed, too cumbersome and too involved." But the 1954 Legislature didn't bother getting serious.

The segregation amendment, said Sen. Robert A. Ainsworth Jr. of New Orleans, Kennon floor leader, is drafted to borrow time for the state to work out its segregation problems.

With it, Louisiana hopes to dodge the expected final decree carrying out the Supreme Court's May 17 ruling against separation of the races in schools.

The proposal would continue segregation in elementary and secondary schools "in the exercise of the state police power to promote and protect public health, better education and the peace and good order of the state, and not because of race."

Also, the Legislature would have the power to call quick special elections, if necessary, to dream up a new sidestep if the Supreme Court knocks out existing barriers.

Sen. W. M. Rainach of Homer, head of a Joint Legislative Committee sponsoring the amendment, told Louisianians "by voting for the amendment, you join the Legislature and your sister states.

"By voting against it, you join the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and others who would disrupt our peace and bring bloodshed to our state."

The Tuesday vote, Rainach said, "will become a mighty straw in the national winds."

Rainach said as far as he can determine, Louisiana voters have never been asked to ballot on a segregation question since Reconstruction days.

In a recent Shreveport speech, Hodding Carter, Pulitzer prize-winning newspaper editor of Mississippi, praised the Louisiana approach in providing equal schools and education for both races.

Opposition has been voiced to the amendment by "Catholic Action," official publication of the archdiocese of New Orleans. It asked a vote against the amendment. New Orleans, which may cast half the state vote, is heavily Catholic.

Another amendment drawing opposition is No. 22, an administration package requiring all future state bond issues to be submitted to popular vote. Also, it would validate two bond issues totaling 92 million dollars for highways and institutions.

The board of governors of the Louisiana State Bar Association is against it. The Constitution stipulates citizens have the right to vote separately on issues.

Another amendment, No. 13, creating a 12-parish southwest Louisiana water conservation district, has stirred protests because of broad powers. The Wild Life and Fisheries Commission and several parish police juries have taken stands against it.

Precincts open at 6 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. Voters will have several state offices to fill without opposition. They include:

James D. Simon, St. Martinville, associate justice, Sixth Supreme Court District.

C. Raymond Heard, Ruston, State Board of Education, Third Public Service Commission District.

John J. McKeithen, Columbia, Public Service Commission, Third District.

Karen Mauk, was found in a graveyard yesterday.

Conemaugh is about 100 miles southeast of Beaver Falls. Police would make no comment on a possible link between the two cases, but said they will "certainly compare evidence."

Helen Jean was last seen when she left for school Monday. Strewn about the body were her school books and contents of a pencil box. All were covered with leaves.

Regan Yarnell, Hopewell auxiliary policeman with the search party discovered the body. It lay about 300 yards from the home of Helen Jean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bryant.

Yarnell said the body lay about 30 feet from the path. It was covered with dirt and a shoe was missing. State police said the body "apparently was dragged a great distance."

Mrs. Bryant reported her daughter missing Monday after she failed to return from school. Schoolmates said Helen wasn't on the morning bus.

Just two blocks from Karen's home, the body of a 4-year-old child was found in 1931 under the attic floor boards of a frame dwelling. Harry Starchock, who resided in the house, was convicted of murder and executed.

Near the scene where Helen Jean's body was found today, another vicious murder was unfolded in 1949. The body of Margaret Bankowski, 15, was found in an ash heap. The slaying has never been solved.

Mrs. Clark, when contacted Saturday morning, said that she had "no comment" on the matter.

Joe seemed enthusiastic over entering Webb School for Boys in Bell Buckle, Tenn. He will leave Wednesday and former Gov. Noe said that he would underwrite the tuition until the money had been raised by subscription.

Before leaving L.T.I. Saturday morning Joe shook hands with a number of school officials and his good-byes to the other boys ended with "I'll be seeing you."

Tippie was brought to L.T.I. before Joe departed by Dr. Ralph Einhorn, West Monroe veterinarian. En route to the school Tippie jumped out of the car on Louisville avenue and Dr. Einhorn remarked "I had a hard time catching him."

When Dr. Einhorn took Tippie from the car Saturday, Joe ran to the animal. Patting the dog on the head the boy kept saying, "Hi-Boy."

Joe's mother and two sisters came to the school to take him home.

Asked what he planned on doing his first day home Joe answered, "I'm going to visit a lot of my friends." His mother said early Saturday morning a large group of his classmates were at her home waiting for Joe.

Tuesday he suffered a burned right hand while removing a hot antique vase from a burning house in his city and Friday he reported to the police that he had lost his billfold.

The billfold contained among other articles and papers Shady's special agent fire marshal's badge and also his special agent state police badge.

A letter with valuable papers, incorrectly addressed to Ed Crowley, caused him no end of trouble for nearly a month's time. It was mailed in Jackson, Miss., but evidently had the wrong Monroe address. He was unable to run it down and it meant a lot of unnecessary effort to secure duplicate papers as a replacement.

As a last resort he had a mention of his trouble in Jes' Ramblin.' In 24 hours time, the missing letter turned up and now all is running in good form.

It is believed that housewives will also welcome the opportunity of taking the advantages of the 9 p.m. closing hours on Thursdays, in that, more time will be allowed for miscellaneous chores around their homes.

Chamber officials pointed out that the 12 o'clock noon opening hour on Thursdays during the month of November, will give local salespeople working in the downtown stores an opportunity to participate in a number of activities that in the past they haven't had the opportunity to accomplish.

It was pointed out that the Thursday "noon openings" would be observed only during the month of November, of course, with all stores being closed on Thanksgiving Day.

"We deeply appreciate the cooperation of the city council," Silverstein said, "in making it possible for shoppers to ride one-way "free" into the Thursday evening late openings downtown; and certainly we believe that large numbers of families will take advantage of this service."

The 9 p.m. late opening promotions will extend through the month of December, however, during the Christmas shopping season stores will observe 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. business hours.

This letter was written by Grover S. Slater, Eugene, Ore., clothing store manager who also suggested it would help the GOP cause if "some of 'your boys' would only keep still and quit making 'cracks' just before election."

The 69-year-old Slater said he was "thrilled" to get Eisenhower's phone call, which he had been expecting. Like all the others, Slater was notified in advance that it was coming. He was the last of those called.

After talking with the President a couple of minutes, and calling him "Ike" throughout, Slater immediately began stirring himself with some phone calls of his own, urging others to vote.

How the advance warnings went out was related by Miss Elaine Anderson, 69, a retired schoolteacher of El Monte, (Los Angeles County), Calif.

At about 7:30, Pacific time, "the operator called and said for me to please stand by as the President of the United States would like to talk to me in about an hour," she said, adding that the call came a little later.

Eisenhower, she said, was "very informal very sincere, and very gracious."

The White House said all of the President's 10 calls were completed in about half an hour. He sandwiched them in between a visit by a group of young farmers from India and Pakistan at 11:30 and a noon appointment with a State Department delegation headed by Secretary Dulles.

Before getting on the telephone to add a new chapter to the saga of American politics, Eisenhower carried on his usual morning round of conferences and greetings with official visitors.

Ironically, the first person Eisenhower got on the phone won't be able to vote this year because of a change in residence.

"But I didn't tell the President that," she confided later.

She is Mrs. Frederick Saye 62, a cook in the Pi Beta Phi sorority house near Bradley University, Peoria, Ill.

She moved to Peoria from Washington, D.C. only 10 months ago, and thus lacks the necessary 12-month residence requirement for Illinois voters. After her talk with the President, whom she had urged in a letter to "run again, or we are lost," Mrs. Saye said:

"I'm just walking around on air. I don't know what I'm doing. He talked six or seven minutes."

Louisianans

after labeling the set of laws "too long, too detailed, too cumbersome and too involved." But the 1954 Legislature didn't bother getting serious.

The segregation amendment, said Sen. Robert A. Ainsworth Jr. of New Orleans, Kennon floor leader, is drafted to borrow time for the state to work out its segregation problems.

With it, Louisiana hopes to dodge the expected final decree carrying out the Supreme Court's May 17 ruling against separation of the races in schools.

The proposal would continue segregation in elementary and secondary schools "in the exercise of the state police power to promote and protect public health, better education and the peace and good order of the state, and not because of race."

Also, the Legislature would have the power to call quick special elections, if necessary, to dream up a new sidestep if the Supreme Court knocks out existing barriers.

Sen. W. M. Rainach of Homer, head of a Joint Legislative Committee sponsoring the amendment, told Louisianians "by voting for the amendment, you join the Legislature and your sister states.

"By voting against it, you join the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and others who would disrupt our peace and bring bloodshed to our state."

The Tuesday vote, Rainach said, "will become a mighty straw in the national winds."

Rainach said as far as he can determine, Louisiana voters have never been asked to ballot on a segregation question since Reconstruction days.

In a recent Shreveport speech, Hodding Carter, Pulitzer prize-winning newspaper editor of Mississippi, praised the Louisiana approach in providing equal schools and education for both races.

Opposition has been voiced to the amendment by "Catholic Action," official publication of the archdiocese of New Orleans. It asked a vote against the amendment. New Orleans, which may cast half the state vote, is heavily Catholic.

Another amendment drawing opposition is No. 22, an administration package requiring all future state bond issues to be submitted to popular vote. Also, it would validate two bond issues totaling 92 million dollars for highways and institutions.

The board of governors of the Louisiana State Bar Association is against it. The Constitution stipulates citizens have the right to vote separately on issues.

Another amendment, No. 13, creating a 12-parish southwest Louisiana water conservation district, has stirred protests because of broad powers. The Wild Life and Fisheries Commission and several parish police juries have taken stands against it.

Precincts open at 6 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. Voters will have several state offices to fill without opposition. They include:

James D. Simon, St. Martinville, associate justice, Sixth Supreme Court District.

George T. Madison, Bastrop, member of State Board of Education, Fifth Congressional District.

Mrs. Eleanor H. Meade, Grammercy, State Board of Education, Second Congressional District.

C. Raymond Heard, Ruston, State Board of Education, Third Public Service Commission District.

John J. McKeithen, Columbia, Public Service Commission, Third District.

Karen Mauk, was found in a graveyard yesterday.

Conemaugh is about 100 miles southeast of Beaver Falls. Police would make no comment on a possible link between the two cases, but said they will "certainly compare evidence."

Helen Jean was last seen when she left for school Monday. Strewn about the body were her school books and contents of a pencil box. All were covered with leaves.

Regan Yarnell, Hopewell auxiliary policeman with the search party discovered the body. It lay about 300 yards from the home of Helen Jean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bryant.

The Bryant desidence is on a hillside high above the road where the girl caught her school bus each day. She had to walk down a narrow path through a heavily wooded area to the bus stop.

Yarnell said the body lay about 30 feet from the path. It was covered with dirt and a shoe was missing. State police said the body "apparently was dragged a great distance."

Mrs. Bryant reported her daughter missing Monday after she failed to return from school. Schoolmates said Helen wasn't on the morning bus.

Just two blocks from Karen's home, the body of a 4-year-old child was found in 1931 under the attic floor boards of a frame dwelling. Harry Starchock, who resided in the house, was convicted of murder and executed.

Near the scene where Helen Jean's body was found today, another vicious murder was unfolded in 1949. The body of Margaret Bankowski, 15, was found in an ash heap. The slaying has never been solved.

mitted to L.T.I. on Oct. 5 after he pointed a loaded 16 gauge shot gun at Ransom school principal, Mrs. Tina Clark, in an effort to free his dog, who had been locked up in a school closet because he was not vaccinated.

Mrs. Clark, when contacted Saturday morning, said that she had "no comment" on the matter.

Joe seemed enthusiastic over entering Webb School for Boys in Bell Buckle, Tenn. He will leave Wednesday and former Gov. Noe said that he would underwrite the tuition until the money had been raised by subscription.

Before leaving L.T.I. Saturday morning Joe shook hands with a number of school officials and his good-byes to the other boys ended with "I'll be seeing you."

Tippie was brought to L.T.I. before Joe departed by Dr. Ralph Einhorn, West Monroe veterinarian. En route to the school Tippie jumped out of the car on Louisville avenue and Dr. Einhorn remarked "I had a hard time catching him."

When Dr. Einhorn took Tippie from the car Saturday, Joe ran to the animal, Patting the dog on the head the boy kept saying, "Hi-Boy."

Joe's mother and two sisters came to the school to take him home.

Asked what he planned on doing his first day home Joe answered, "I'm going to visit a lot of my friends." His mother said early Saturday morning a large group of his classmates were at her home waiting for Joe.

Tuesday he suffered a burned right hand while removing a hot antique vase from a burning house in his city and Friday he reported to the police that he had lost his billfold.

The billfold contained among other articles and papers Shady's special agent fire marshal's badge and also his special agent state police badge.

A letter with valuable papers, incorrectly addressed to Ed Crowley, caused him no end of trouble for nearly a month's time. It was mailed in Jackson, Miss., but evidently had the wrong Monroe address. He was unable to run it down and it meant a lot of unnecessary effort to secure duplicate papers as a replacement.

As a last resort he had a mention of his trouble in Jes' Ramblin.' In 24 hours time, the missing letter turned up and now all is running in good form.

Stores Putting

ing hour of 9 p.m.

"It was felt," Silverstein said, "that entire families just aren't having the spare time to come downtown together as a family group; so, with one night a week late openings this will make it possible for them to do their shopping without worrying about parking snarls or time scarcity."

It is believed that housewives will also welcome the opportunity of taking the advantages of the 9 p.m. closing hours on Thursdays, in that, more time will be allowed for miscellaneous chores around their homes.

Chamber officials pointed out that the 12 o'clock noon opening hour on Thursdays during the month of November, will give local salespeople working in the downtown stores an opportunity to participate in a number of activities that in the past they haven't had the opportunity to accomplish.

It was pointed out that the Thursday "noon openings" would be observed only during the month of November, of course, with all stores being closed on Thanksgiving Day.

"We deeply appreciate the cooperation of the city council," Silverstein said, "in making it possible for shoppers to ride one-way "free" into the Thursday evening late openings downtown; and certainly we believe that large numbers of families will take advantage of this service."

The 9 p.m. late opening promotions will extend through the month of December, however, during the Christmas shopping season stores will observe 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. business hours.

Anti-Strike Writ Against Atomic Workers Quashed

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Oct. 30—UP—A federal judge Saturday dissolved a Taft-Hartley injunction binding 4,500 atomic production workers not to strike but a union spokesman said no early walkout is planned.

Elwood Swisher, president of the CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers Union said he told the men to stay on the job pending further talks "until I am convinced that efforts now being put forth have failed."

Swisher came here from Washington to withdraw union authorization of an immediate walkout as the 80-day injunction expired. Previously, a strike had been tentatively set for this midnight.

Judge Robert Taylor formally lifted the injunction, making it legal for the workers to walk out here and at Paducah, Ky., the only places in the nation where uranium 235 is refined for atomic weapons.

President Eisenhower had originally asked for the injunction, holding that a strike in the atomic production program "could not be tolerated" in the national interest.

The union and the Carbide and Carbon Chemical Corp., which operates the uranium plants for the government, have been deadlocked for six months on pay issues. The union demanded 15 cents an hour raises from current scales ranging from $1.58 to $2.40. This demand later was reduced to 10 cents an hour but the company stood on a six cents raise offer, an amount recommended by a presidential fact-finding board.

Proposed Power Contract Rapped By Gordon Clapp

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 —UP— Gordon Clapp, former chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, said Saturday that President Eisenhower got "exceedingly misleading" advice on the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract and may not have understood "what he was getting into" when he approved it.

He voiced hope that "when the facts are smoked out!" about the still-secret contract, "the revulsion of informed citizens may somehow get through to the President and have this deal squashed."

Clapp blamed Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes for giving Mr. Eisenhower a "slanted" picture of the contract, and said Hughes was guilty of "something approaching dereliction of duty."

The former TVA chairman testified for the second day before a Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee which is investigating the 25-year power purchase contract which has been approved by the White House and the Atomic Energy Commission, but has not yet been formally signed.

The contract calls for the Dixon-Yates private utility combine to build a $107 million generating plant at West Memphis, Ark., to feed 600,000 kilowatts of power into the TVA system, to replace a like amount of TVA power used by the AEC.

Subcommittee Chairman William Langer said before Saturday's hearing that Mr. Eisenhower is "the only person" who can prevail on the AEC to reconsider the deal. He urged the President to do so.

There was no indication the Chief Executive would respond. He told his news conference last Wednesday that he has great confidence in AEC chairman Lewis L. Strauss, who negotiated the contract, and feels sure it protects the public interests splendidly and completely.

Langer also said he has concluded that the AEC's approval of the contract was legal. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), a member of the subcommittee, raised a question about this Friday after the AEC disclosed that only two members of the commission — Strauss and Joseph Campbell — voted for the contract when it was approved Oct. 5. A third member abstained, another absented himself from the meeting because he had just been appointed, and the fifth place on the five-man commission was then vacant.

GOP Spends More Than Democrats In Current Campaign

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 —AP— The Republican National Committee headed into the home stretch of the congressional election tests out in front of its Democratic counterpart in officially reported spending.

The GOP committee, in a report to the House, said today that up to Oct. 15 it had spent $1,214,763. The Democratic group said its expenditures amounted to $1,031,659.

The reports, required by the corrupt practices law of 1925, also showed that the Republicans were ahead in money-raising. Contributions to the GOP: $1,356,216; to the Democratic organization: $960,134—a deficit.

The National Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee reported receipts of $718,404 and expenditures of $483,974.

Some of the other organizations and their reports, with receipts listed first followed by expenditures:

Americans for Democratic Action—$88,628 and $95,825.

United Auto Workers-CIO Political Action Committee—$298,259 and $329,900.

AFL-League for Political Education—$333,599 and $429,250.

Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee—$172,889 and $252,351.

Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee—no receipts or expenditures.

The law, under which the reports are required, calls on each congressional candidate to make an accounting, along with all political organizations that are interstate in character or are branches of national organizations.

But strictly local organizations are free to support their favorites on a local basis without being called on for an accounting. And indiviluals may contribute similarly.

The Amendments

NO. 19: LEASE-PURCHASE CONTRACTS

The federal Congress recently enacted a law whereby the federal government would lease buildings and land for federal office purposes from local communities if the latter could supply them. Under this system local communities construct a needed federal building, such as a post office, and lease it to the government for a long term of years, with the lease money applying to purchase.

Thus communities are enabled to get needed new federal buildings which Congress might not otherwise provide, the federal government is able to obtain such buildings for quick use and eventual ownership without too great investment of federal funds, and the whole deal is liquidated for both the federal government and the local communities over a period of years.

This system has been hailed as one of the most progressive steps in federal construction established by Congress in many years.

But, for Louisiana communities—cities and parishes—to participate in this plan, constitutional authority is necessary. Amendment No. 19 grants that authority and is strongly supported by various independent organizations which have studied its provisions. The World urges approval of No. 19.

NO. 10: A GOOD AMENDMENT

This amendment requiring the Governor to give five days advance notice when calling a special session of the Legislature is somewhat of a companion to Amendment No. 26, with certain restrictions. The Governor is not required to give any advance notice in calling a special session. He simply calls it and it is up to the Legislators to jump on their hobbyhorses or whatever means of transportation is available and get to Baton Rouge at the hour set. The result is not only confusion in the Legislature itself, but deprives the public as well as the Legislators any interim period in which to look into matters contained in the Governor's call. Eleven of the 25 special sessions called by various governors convened on the day of the call, and three-fourths of the special sessions were called on less than two days notice.

The five-day period provided in this amendment is not a cure-all for the evils of hastily convened sessions, but it is a step in the right direction. In addition to its value to the public, it gives legislators an opportunity to get their affairs in shape before departing for Baton Rouge.

The World believes that this amendment should have the support of the voters.

Miscellaneous Amendments

NO. 3: BAIL PROVISIONS

This is intended to liberalize bail provisions in the case of felonies by making it easy to obtain bail between actual conviction of a felony and the verdict. No one seems to have made any especial fight either for or against this amendment. It does follow the national trend to liberalize bail provisions after conviction for crimes calling for less than capital punishment. On that ground we see no particular objection to it and offer no argument in favor of it.

NO. 7: SCHOOL LAND FUNDS

Intended to give Parish School Boards greater revenue from sixteenth section lands, analysts of this amendment hold that it is confusing and would create many inequities. It is too complicated a proposition for simple pro and con discussion and our own opinion is that its sponsors should come forth with something much clearer before asking approval of the state's electorate. Probably the best course, at this time, is to vote "No."

NO. 9: BRIDGE AUTHORITIES

This amendment would prevent the Legislature from changing the present method of appointing various bridge and ferry Authorities which would operate toll bridges and ferries. In its practical effect, it applies only to the Mississippi River Bridge Authority which was organized by Orleans and Jefferson parishes, under constitutional authority, to build a toll bridge across the Mississippi River at New Orleans. As a safeguard to administration of that bridge, the amendment seems to face no particular objection and our own assumption is that the best vote is "Yes."

NO. 11: AGE TO ENTER SCHOOL

This is a good proposal, intended to clarify some present confusion concerning the age at which children may enter public schools. The Constitution now provides that children who reach the age of six years within the first four months of the beginning of the school term may be enrolled. But the "beginning of the school term" varies throughout the state and thus provides variance in the constitutional provision. Without going into complicated details, the amendment would simply carry out the spirit of the present constitutional provision better than is the case now, and for that reason we support it.

NO. 25: RETIREMENT SYSTEMS

The State of Louisiana, as an employer, contributes about $31,000,000 per biennium to retirement systems. There are nine state boards responsible for the operations of these various retirement plans. The systems vary widely as to eligibility requirements, coverage and benefits, employer and employe contributions, and methods of financing. This amendment simply provides that if any change is contemplated in these systems, a certain advance notice must be given those directly affected, and the public, to determine what the effect would be on state finances as a whole, and on operation of other retirement systems. It seems to us to be a sound proposal.

NO. 27: JEFFERSON ZONING

This is another case of a single parish having to go before the entire state to get permission to do something about its own affairs—in this instant, Jefferson parish is asking permission of the state to zone land in Jefferson parish. Actually such authority should be granted to all parishes by the Constitution, without the necessity of individual amendments for each parish any time an individual parish seeks such authority. The amendment seems to have some weak spots in its wording, but the home rule principle involved is sound and we believe Jefferson should have the support of the people of the other parishes on this amendment.

NO. 28: ROYALTY ROAD FUND

This is another complicated proposition dealing with royalty revenues in parishes for the benefit of such functions as schools and road building. The amendment does not seem to have any particularly active support or any particularly active opposition. The Public Affairs Research Council believes that better methods could be found to obtain the objectives of this amendment. Since the whole thing is so dubious, probably the best step is opposition.

NO. 5: BOGALUSA SCHOOL SYSTEM

At present city schools of Bogalusa are operated by the Bogalusa School Board while schools in Washington parish, outside the city, are under a separate Washington Parish School Board. The result has been much confusion in operation and also needless spending by one Board in behalf of activities of the other. Amendment No. 5 simply gives the people of the City of Bogalusa and of Washington parish the right to hold an election of their own and decide for themselves whether they want their school system under a single parish-wide board. Certainly that privilege should be granted them. The ultimate effect of single Board control, according to the Public Affairs Research Institute, probably would be a reduction in school millage in both the city and the parish. This amendment, in behalf of Bogalusa and Washington parish, certainly deserves the support of the electorate.

NO. 2: A BATON ROUGE NEED

This amendment would create a family court for East Baton Rouge parish. The National Probation and Parole Association has recommended creation of a separate juvenile court for East Baton Rouge parish and abandonment of the present system of assigning all juvenile, divorce and separation cases to one judge. Not only is this bad judicial practice but the large volume of divorce and separation cases prevents the judge from giving the proper amount of time and consideration to the all-important juvenile problems. We know of no opposition to this amendment and consequently give it our support.

What Friends We Have

Fellow Americans, these are indeed hard times in which to live. On nearly every side, the amazed people see turmoil and despair. They see insidious enemies sneaking into the very citadels of a free America and they see treachery as a commonplace affair in all dealings with foreign nations sometimes called "our friends."

The American people are such good people. Their hearts are open to the troubles of one little boy and his dog, they are open to the old and those unable to help themselves and to the afflicted. In their goodness, they are targets for those who would destroy them.

On the other hand, many of them are forgetful of themselves and their unique position on this earth. Is the earth not a period of time and trial for all humans? Did God not place each and every one of us on this earth as a period of examination for the afterlife? In the heart of most souls is known the truth. Yet, what kind of examination grades will be recorded by Americans?

The "intelligentsia" shuns God. The Marxists, and there are tragically too many of them in the nation today, say of God that He is a "narcotic," a "bourgeoise weapon against the people." May the lies of these people strike them into the halls of hell as their reward. Yet, you'd be amazed to see how many apparently feel the way of these leaders of destruction.

Today, is the business house, not the church; the cash register, not an altar; the bank teller's window, not the stained glass?

Is "security" not heaven to far too many Americans.

Fellow citizens, there is only one security and you'll not have that on this earth.

Look at the nation and its people. Modernism and the slick bound trash magazine sets the present standard. The information media of the nation demonstrate the decline of the present degenerating civilization. Women, little better than those of the streets, would seem to set the style. Their wretched actions are praised far and wide.

The more sordid and despicable they can become, the wider it seems that they are praised by far too many people.

The cocktail and the all-night party have replaced the Sermon on the Mount. Physical lust and the use of narcotics have helped defame the love of men and women and God's holy ordinance, marriage, to a banal sham. Men have taken it upon themselves to throw God's book out of the classrooms of the nation so that even the young children are hard put to learn of Jesus and His Love.

What chance has God against Captain Video, or Superman when God isn't even given a chance?

What chance has God against the god Bacchus when Bacchus receives far greater attention? The Bible clearly delivers and pictures the future, just as history books have recorded the past. If the past is to be taken as a picture of the future, America and the Western civilization are on the way out as certain as does the sun rise.

Has man not taken it upon his own self to ordain his own heavens? To manufacture his own false deities? To make his own laws and mores?

Did God give His permission for the ending of a marriage ordained by His Holy Word? Did God give his permission for His children to numb their minds with the narcotics of lust and degeneracy? Did God give His permission for a person to attend church one hour during the week and to live a heinous existence the rest of the time?

Did God give His permission to build an altar of glass wherein it is declared that men can settle their own problems without asking His advice and living His Word?

Did God give His permission for parents to give life, to forget that life, turning it and its upbringing over to others not perhaps as well prepared while the parents are elsewhere defiling themselves in celebration and rapid living?

You know He didn't.

Yet, are these things not happening every day? Have the people of this great Christian nation not forgotten themselves and their duty on this earth? Have the American people not forgotten that there is a living God and Christ who is here on the earth, a shining and glorious example for all citizens?

God gave His only son, Jesus Christ, to save the earth and its people. How many people would today be willing to do the same? How many people actually live a life in Christ? That does not refer to those who attend church on Sunday, praise all the fine dresses, hats and suits, praise the minister's sermon and then walk out and forget. How many live God all week?

Fellow Americans, do you not realize what a friend you have in Jesus? On so many occasions, this newspaper has called for an awakened patriotism, a fiery march to victory over the forces of evil and despotism. So many people have written as to how they should individually go about such a crusade.

The United States of America was founded as a nation under God.

Under God it grew.

Under God it progressed. Under God it will see its future.

Without God, it will fail.

The first and most important premise of being a good American is to follow God's commandments not on merely one hour, one day each week, but all hours of all days of all weeks. In order to survive the perils of the evils presently presenting themselves, one must fortify himself and his loved ones with a love of God and Christ and to live by His laws all the hours of the days of the years.

Laxity in such teachings is presently demonstrating terrible effects among many Americans who are wandering through the halls of despair, who are traitors to their nation and whose lives would be better off not lived.

The youth of the land, its hope for the future, is presently beset with a curious term entitled "juvenile delinquency." Is the delinquency all juvenile?

Americans, this land is the hope of the world. If it fails, the earth will fall into ages so dark as to make the "middle ages" seem as shining beacons of hope and progress. The nation's position, though precarious, is not hopeless. There are some signs of awakening. You ask what you can do to save the nation, to do your patriotic duty as Americans?

The answer is readily available. From this day on, live like the believers in God Americans are supposed to be. Open your hearts and bare your souls to God. Get on your knees and pray. Learn to be humble and forget that you are perfect. Remember who it is that is responsible for your safe and most desirable position as free men on this earth.

Fellow Americans, the call is out. What a friend you have in Jesus and in God. Standing together as Christain soldiers wielding the sword of the Lord, as we a nation just can't lose.

God help us all to form this unity.

Public Forum—Voice Of All The People

'A. L. Hopkins Answer To Mr. Maroney'

Dunn, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I have just finished reading Mr. Maroney's letter in "Public Forum" on October 24, in which he made a very feeble attempt to answer my letter which was printed October 10, 1954 in "Public Forum."

I will just have to answer Mr. Maroney just this once. I wish to begin first by saying this.

I am as God made me "a red-blooded American and white" also, I intend to stay that way as long as I live and keep my children that way and I thank God that I have that kind of blood flowing in my body.

Now speaking of God, Mr. Maroney, it's very plain to see by your letter that you know very little about the Bible, as to why some of us are white and some are colored. Did you know that God made them colored? God intended it to be that way for a reason and I don't think you or the Supreme Court is smart enough to change God's plans.

Next Mr. Maroney, you state the Supreme Court keeps us from long work hours with hardly any pay. I don't remember the Supreme Court doing anything about this. I have worked long hours with hardly any pay and I feel sure many who read this can say the same. Do you know who did keep us from doing this? A "Union" was formed and we joined and then and only then did we receive a fair pay for our work.

You speak in your letter as if it were not for the government functions that we would have no schools or churches, etc. With this, I agree, but did you ever stop to think Mr. Maroney, how the government makes this possible. I can tell you—by the taxes paid by us. Yes, the people, yet the court tells us we have no choice in saying who our children go to school with. Why don't they leave this to the vote of the taxpayers if it is so fair and just. I'll tell you why — it would never be voted in by the people. Yet, a few men are allowed to sit back and tell us what we have to do, and think they should not allow the people to vote on this. I say it is unfair.

Now, Mr. Maroney, just how do we mistreat the Negro in the south? You state they only want to live and secure a home for themselves. That is what we all want to do, yet, many, many white people don't have a home as well as the colored. Are we, the white, mistreated because we don't have a home? If so, then, we, too, are mistreated. You have a very weak point or do you really know what you are talking about? I don't think you do and from the letters I have received, I find about all feel as I do. We, in Louisiana, have just as fine of public schools for the colored as we have for the white, yet we have a few who want to mix our schools, or it seems.

Well, Mr. Maroney, I believe in being on the right side, raising my children right. I don't believe in "taking up" (if you please) I believe in marrying before living together, unmarried, yet bringing a lot of children into the world while living together and wait until a war to run and get married.

I don't think the colored want to mix, would have never, had it not been for a class who tried to mix with them, even now, and for the class who tried to mix with them, who forced them to before the Civil War. I'd like to say it was not the south who took them out of their country and put them over here.

If you think we should mix, well, we don't think so and don't intend to do so in Louisiana.

A. L. HOPKINS

P. S. I wish to state I am for equal schools for both the white and colored.

Opposes Minority Rule

West Monroe, La.

Editor,
Monroe Morning World:

I have a little son six years old and in the first grade at Highland Elementary School, Sunshine Heights Addition, one of the subdivisions which the city council of West Monroe proposes to take into the city over the protests of the majority of the residents.

Soon my little son will take up the study of American history and learn about democracy and how it works. One day he will read the last lines of Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" where the President of the United States spoke these lines: . . "that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Perhaps then he will ask me how it happened that the state of Louisiana permitted to be on its statute books a law which gives a 25 per cent minority group power to make decisions contrary to the wishes of a 75 per cent majority. He may even ask if such is democracy. How shall I answer him?

"Son," I can only begin sadly, "when America was young, this land was the home of a proud, free people, a God-fearing people who preferred the praise of God rather than the praise of men. Then as the years passed, different isms began to sweep across the country and America became as an old woman who proud of her past accomplishments believed herself capable from the seats of her government to direct not only the financial affairs of her citizens, but the political and economic affairs of citizens of other countries. She robbed her citizens of unborn generations of their birthright as free men to scatter abroad. Under the guise of political expediency her citizens permitted these things to be.

"The time came, my son," I shall continue, "when the few that were courageous enough to speak out against political abuse stood alone. Their fellow-citizens as a whole had forgotten what our founding fathers termed 'our sacred honor.' They chose 'collective security' rather than 'individual integrity.' Once, my son, they said it couldn't happen in America. But you see now, with your own eyes, it has."

Very truly yours,
ALVIN ARLEDGE.

'United States Day—Thanks'

Greenwich, Conn.

Editor, Morning World,

Walter Steele of the National Republic in Washington has forwarded to me a copy of your magnificent editorial concerning United States Day published in your paper of October 10th.

On behalf of the United States Day committee, may I thank you sincerely and warmly for this magnificent expression on your part.

We have been fairly successful in winning the support of a number of patriotic governors and mayors throughout the United States. We have proclamations in our possession from twelve governors. Unfortunately, the governor of Louisiana is not among them. We also have proclamations from many mayors, and I am happy to say that the mayor of Baton Rouge has proclaimed the day. Do you know if the mayor of Monroe has issued a proclamation? We requested one, but have heard nothing from him.

Again, my thanks for your very clear delineation of the problem that confronts us in the matter of loyalty to the United States.

Let's Keep Segregation And Avoid Miscegenation

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World,

Recent letter in your public forum from Edward W. Maroney, criticizing A. L. Hopkins' stand on segregation, seems to follow the usual line of propaganda used by other youngsters who evidently have made contact or have been tutored by Communist stooges. We have deep respect and admiration for our boys who went through any of the wars but when one of them comes home with a mind in conformity with our worst enemy it really hurts us.

As I have stated before, Russia for several years has been trying with her "Divide-and-conquer" to start a revolution in this country. The FBI estimates that she has 250-thousand stooges working in our schools, churches, war plants, armed services, carrying out her plans. Although Russia has more slaves than the U. S. has Negroes, she has continuously used the segregation issue to spit in our faces. With the mingling of the races Russia was positive that internecine warfare — race riots — would follow. Ruling of the U. S. supreme was in Russia's favor and now Communist agitators have a green light.

In his letter Mr. Maroney stated that while he was away he learned how the south was persecuting the colored people. If the colored people have ever been persecuted, God Almighty and not the south is to blame. The Negroes were in a deplorable state of affairs when the south first met them. The south has helped them to improve their race. The south is trying to avoid a mongrel race. This, the Communists claim, is persecution.

Mr. Maroney comes up with that old political phrase, "All men were born equal." Ever since this nation was born, political sharks have taken advantage of it. The Soviets, workers to break down segregation and mingle the races, have worn it to a frazzle. United Secularists of America (Box 27, Clifton, N. J.), enlightens us to the fact that this phrase was first used by representatives of Massachusetts. But it was Thomas Jefferson that gave it such publicity. Ironically, Thomas Jefferson as a slave owner but he was a great man and a shrewd politician. This phrase, "All men were born equal," appealed to the masses in those days, as well as today. His explanation for some men being superior to others was that they acquired talents and virtues. This, I don't believe. The credit for superior men, or women, belongs to the mothers. A savage is not born the equal of such a man as Thomas Edison because the mother of Mr. Edison had bred the powers of intelligence in her baby before it was born. The mother of the savage baby is found wanting, or lacking, in this respect.

The Bible teaches us to "Hold fast that which is good." Retain segregation. Let's stay as God made us.

THOMAS A. HILTON

The information media of the nation demonstrate the decline of the present degenerating civilization. Women, little better than those of the streets, would seem to set the style. Their wretched actions are praised far and wide.

The more sordid and despicable they can become, the wider it seems that they are praised by far too many people.

The cocktail and the all-night party have replaced the Sermon on the Mount. Physical lust and the use of narcotics have helped defame the love of men and women and God's holy ordinance, marriage, to a banal sham. Men have taken it upon themselves to throw God's book out of the classrooms of the nation so that even the young children are hard put to learn of Jesus and His Love.

What chance has God against Captain Video, or Superman when God isn't even given a chance?

What chance has God against the god Bacchus when Bacchus receives far greater attention? The Bible clearly delivers and pictures the future, just as history books have recorded the past. If the past is to be taken as a picture of the future, America and the Western civilization are on the way out as certain as does the sun rise.

Has man not taken it upon his own self to ordain his own heavens? To manufacture his own false deities? To make his own laws and mores?

Did God give His permission for the ending of a marriage ordained by His Holy Word? Did God give his permission for His children to numb their minds with the narcotics of lust and degeneracy? Did God give His permission for a person to attend church one hour during the week and to live a heinous existence the rest of the time?

Did God give His permission to build an altar of glass wherein it is declared that men can settle their own problems without asking His advice and living His Word?

Did God give His permission for parents to give life, to forget that life, turning it and its upbringing over to others not perhaps as well prepared while the parents are elsewhere defiling themselves in celebration and rapid living?

You know He didn't.

Yet, are these things not happening every day? Have the people of this great Christian nation not forgotten themselves and their duty on this earth? Have the American people not forgotten that there is a living God and Christ who is here on the earth, a shining and glorious example for all citizens?

God gave His only son, Jesus Christ, to save the earth and its people. How many people would today be willing to do the same? How many people actually live a life in Christ? That does not refer to those who attend church on Sunday, praise all the fine dresses, hats and suits, praise the minister's sermon and then walk out and forget. How many live God all week?

Fellow Americans, do you not realize what a friend you have in Jesus? On so many occasions, this newspaper has called for an awakened patriotism, a fiery march to victory over the forces of evil and despotism. So many people have written as to how they should individually go about such a crusade.

The United States of America was founded as a nation under God.

Under God it grew.

Under God it progressed. Under God it will see its future.

Without God, it will fail.

The first and most important premise of being a good American is to follow God's commandments not on merely one hour, one day each week, but all hours of all days of all weeks. In order to survive the perils of the evils presently presenting themselves, one must fortify himself and his loved ones with a love of God and Christ and to live by His laws all the hours of the days of the years.

Laxity in such teachings is presently demonstrating terrible effects among many Americans who are wandering through the halls of despair, who are traitors to their nation and whose lives would be better off not lived.

The youth of the land, its hope for the future, is presently beset with a curious term entitled "juvenile delinquency." Is the delinquency all juvenile?

Americans, this land is the hope of the world. If it fails, the earth will fall into ages so dark as to make the "middle ages" seem as shining beacons of hope and progress. The nation's position, though precarious, is not hopeless. There are some signs of awakening. You ask what you can do to save the nation, to do your patriotic duty as Americans?

The answer is readily available. From this day on, live like the believers in God Americans are supposed to be. Open your hearts and bare your souls to God. Get on your knees and pray. Learn to be humble and forget that you are perfect. Remember who it is that is responsible for your safe and most desirable position as free men on this earth.

Fellow Americans, the call is out. What a friend you have in Jesus and in God. Standing together as Christain soldiers wielding the sword of the Lord, as we a nation just can't lose.

God help us all to form this unity.

Sunday Halloween

THIS year today is Sunday and . . . Tonight is Halloween . . . So let us give our hearts to God . . . And our domestic scene . . . Let us remember Him as we . . . Attend our church today . . . And thank Him for his love and help . . . And blessings on our way . . . And then tonight let us be kind . . . To all our children small . . . As they go out to celebrate . . . This funny night in fall . . . The clowns and ghosts and witches and . . . The grinning pumpkin-heads . . . And shower them with "treats" before . . . They crawl into their beds . . . And then let us return to God . . . And on our bended knees . . . Give thanks to Him for children and . . . For childhood memories.

'A. L. Hopkins Answer To Mr. Maroney'

Dunn, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I have just finished reading Mr. Maroney's letter in "Public Forum" on October 24, in which he made a very feeble attempt to answer my letter which was printed October 10, 1954 in "Public Forum."

I will just have to answer Mr. Maroney just this once. I wish to begin first by saying this.

I am as God made me "a red-blooded American and white" also, I intend to stay that way as long as I live and keep my children that way and I thank God that I have that kind of blood flowing in my body.

Now speaking of God, Mr. Maroney, it's very plain to see by your letter that you know very little about the Bible, as to why some of us are white and some are colored. Did you know that God made them colored? God intended it to be that way for a reason and I don't think you or the Supreme Court is smart enough to change God's plans.

Next Mr. Maroney, you state the Supreme Court keeps us from long work hours with hardly any pay. I don't remember the Supreme Court doing anything about this. I have worked long hours with hardly any pay and I feel sure many who read this can say the same. Do you know who did keep us from doing this? A "Union" was formed and we joined and then and only then did we receive a fair pay for our work.

You speak in your letter as if it were not for the government functions that we would have no schools or churches, etc. With this, I agree, but did you ever stop to think Mr. Maroney, how the government makes this possible. I can tell you—by the taxes paid by us. Yes, the people, yet the court tells us we have no choice in saying who our children go to school with. Why don't they leave this to the vote of the taxpayers if it is so fair and just. I'll tell you why — it would never be voted in by the people. Yet, a few men are allowed to sit back and tell us what we have to do, and think they should not allow the people to vote on this. I say it is unfair.

Now, Mr. Maroney, just how do we mistreat the Negro in the south? You state they only want to live and secure a home for themselves. That is what we all want to do, yet, many, many white people don't have a home as well as the colored. Are we, the white, mistreated because we don't have a home? If so, then, we, too, are mistreated. You have a very weak point or do you really know what you are talking about? I don't think you do and from the letters I have received, I find about all feel as I do. We, in Louisiana, have just as fine of public schools for the colored as we have for the white, yet we have a few who want to mix our schools, or it seems.

Well, Mr. Maroney, I believe in being on the right side, raising my children right. I don't believe in "taking up" (if you please.) I believe in marrying before living together, unmarried, yet bringing a lot of children into the world while living together and wait until a war to run and get married.

I don't think the colored want to mix, would have never, had it not been for a class who tried to mix with them, even now, and for the class who tried to mix with them, who forced them to before the Civil War. I'd like to say it was not the south who took them out of their country and put them over here.

If you think we should mix, well, we don't think so and don't intend to do so in Louisiana.

A. L. HOPKINS

P. S. I wish to state I am for equal schools for both the white and colored.

Opposes Minority Rule

West Monroe, La.

Editor,
Monroe Morning World:

I have a little son six years old and in the first grade at Highland Elementary School, Sunshine Heights Addition, one of the subdivisions which the city council of West Monroe proposes to take into the city over the protests of the majority of the residents.

Soon my little son will take up the study of American history and learn about democracy and how it works. One day he will read the last lines of Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" where the President of the United States spoke these lines: . . "that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Perhaps then he will ask me how it happened that the state of Louisiana permitted to be on its statute books a law which gives a 25 per cent minority group power to make decisions contrary to the wishes of a 75 per cent majority. He may even ask if such is democracy. How shall I answer him?

"Son," I can only begin sadly, "when America was young, this land was the home of a proud, free people, a God-fearing people who preferred the praise of God rather than the praise of men. Then as the years passed, different isms began to sweep across the country and America became as an old woman who proud of her past accomplishments believed herself capable from the seats of her government to direct not only the financial affairs of her citizens, but the political and economic affairs of citizens of other countries. She robbed her citizens of unborn generations of their birthright as free men to scatter abroad. Under the guise of political expediency her citizens permitted these things to be.

"The time came, my son," I shall continue, "when the few that were courageous enough to speak out against political abuse stood alone. Their fellow-citizens as a whole had forgotten what our founding fathers termed 'our sacred honor.' They chose 'collective security' rather than 'individual integrity.' Once, my son, they said it couldn't happen in America. But you see now, with your own eyes, it has."

Very truly yours,

'United States Day—Thanks'

Greenwich, Conn.

Editor, Morning World,

Walter Steele of the National Republic in Washington has forwarded to me a copy of your magnificent editorial concerning United States Day published in your paper of October 10th.

On behalf of the United States Day committee, may I thank you sincerely and warmly for this magnificent expression on your part.

We have been fairly successful in winning the support of a number of patriotic governors and mayors throughout the United States. We have proclamations in our possession from twelve governors. Unfortunately, the governor of Louisiana is not among them. We also have proclamations from many mayors, and I am happy to say that the mayor of Baton Rouge has proclaimed the day. Do you know if the mayor of Monroe has issued a proclamation? We requested one, but have heard nothing from him.

Again, my thanks for your very clear delineation of the problem that confronts us in the matter of loyalty to the United States.

ROBERT LEFEVRE
Executive Director

Let's Keep Segregation And Avoid Miscegenation

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World,

Recent letter in your public forum from Edward W. Maroney, criticizing A. L. Hopkins' stand on segregation, seems to follow the usual line of propaganda used by other youngsters who evidently have made contact or have been tutored by Communist stooges. We have deep respect and admiration for our boys who went through any of the wars but when one of them comes home with a mind in conformity with our worst enemy it really hurts us.

As I have stated before, Russia for several years has been trying with her "Divide-and-conquer" to start a revolution in this country. The FBI estimates that she has 250-thousand stooges working in our schools, churches, war plants, armed services, carrying out her plans. Although Russia has more slaves than the U. S. has Negroes, she has continuously used the segregation issue to spit in our faces. With the mingling of the races Russia was positive that internecine warfare — race riots — would follow. Ruling of the U. S. supreme was in Russia's favor and now Communist agitators have a green light.

In his letter Mr. Maroney stated that while he was away he learned how the south was persecuting the colored people. If the colored people have ever been persecuted, God Almighty and not the south is to blame. The Negroes were in a deplorable state of affairs when the south first met them. The south has helped them to improve their race. The south is trying to avoid a mongrel race. This, the Communists claim, is persecution.

Mr. Maroney comes up with that old political phrase, "All men were born equal." Ever since this nation was born, political sharks have taken advantage of it. The Soviets, working to break down segregation and mingle the races, have worn it to a frazzle. United Secularists of America (Box 27, Clifton, N. J), enlightens us to the fact that this phrase was first used by representatives of Massachusetts. But it was Thomas Jefferson that gave it such publicity. Ironically, Thomas Jefferson as a slave owner but he was a great man and a shrewd politician. This phrase, "All men were born equal," appealed to the masses in those days, as well as today. His explanation for some men being superior to others was that they acquired talents and virtues. This, I don't believe. The credit for superior men, or women, belongs to the mothers. A savage is not born the equal of such a man as Thomas Edison because the mother of Mr. Edison had bred the powers of intelligence in her baby before it was born. The mother of the savage baby is found wanting, or lacking, in this respect.

The Bible teaches us to "Hold fast that which is good." Retain segregation. Let's stay as God made us.

Kusins Observe 45th Anniversary Of Bedding Firm

Forty - five years ago Joseph Kusin, then a young Russian immigrant, ventured his small capital and what funds he could borrow in a new mattress and bedding manufacturing plant in a town of 8,000 people, Monroe. His friends shook their heads and forecast failure as the town was too small to support such a business.

Today, that same firm, the Dixie Bedding and Furniture Co., is celebrating its 45th anniversary and has become one of the largest furniture firms in Louisiana.

Joseph Kusin is still active in the firm although its management has been turned to his son Louis.

In 1913 there was one warehouse and one horse and wagon for delivery. Now the firm uses seven warehouses in addition to the store and needs seven trucks to make their deliveries in a radius of 200 miles. The store has 30,000 square feet of display space and the entire operation covers three city blocks on Washington street.

Twenty-five years ago the firm added furniture to its wholesale business and started retailing furniture after three years. Five years ago when their retail business had grown to an unexpected volume they dropped the manufacture of bedding and changed to nationally advertised brands.

Northeast Show To Feature Big Array Of Talent

High school talent throughout North Louisiana will be combined with numbers featuring Northeast State students when the college chapter of Future Teachers of America presents a talent show in Brown Auditorium on November 11 at 8 p.m.

The Teen-Aires, a jazz band from Rayville High School, a musical group from LTI, and dances by Miss Mary Lou Young's classes are scheduled to make appearances on the program. Other specialties will include adagio numbers, tap routines and musical features.

Northeast's newly organized dance orchestra will make its initial appearance at the show. Albert Ellis, freshman geology major, will direct the group. The orchestra also will form the basic musical section on the stage throughout the show.

Featured in the program will be a bona fide fire eater, Bill Salter. Salter, a journalism major now living in Eros, has played in both eastern and western show circuits. His experience includes about 12 years of show business.

Listed among specialties is Tommy Armitage, a teen-age magician from Bastrop who has been enthusiastic about his hobby for several years, despite his limited age. "I am constantly trying to improve my acts," he said.

Winners of the best and most original performances will be awarded gold loving cups. These will go to first, second and third places.

Tickets for the event are on sale in the office of Dean William M. Smith in Brown Hall, Program Chairman Willard Beaver announced. They also may be purchased from FTA members. Cost of the tickets will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for persons under twelve years of age.

Shelby Hill In Explanation Of How Loans Made

E. Shelby Hill has just returned from New Orleans, where a meeting was held by the national voluntary mortgage credit extension committee, of which he is now a member. Purpose of the committee is to locate areas where there is an inadequate supply of funds for investment in home mortgages.

President W. G. Gehr, chairman, of New Orleans, explains:

"The program we are about to undertake in this region was provided for by congress in the housing act of 1954 to make it easier for people who want to buy or build homes to obtain FHA-insured or veterans administration-guaranteed mortgages.

"In parts of this region, especially in the smaller communities and more remote areas, it is often difficult for the prospective home buyer or builder to obtain financing on terms compatible with his needs and with sound financing. The reason, of course, is not that such local lenders don't want to make such loans but that often they simply don't have the money to make them.

"That's where the voluntary home mortgage credit program comes in. It is predicated on the belief that private lending institutions in general can do the job if organized for the purpose. It is the function of our regional subcomfittee to help obtain funds for FHA - insured or VA - guaranteed loans in this area.

"A major goal of this nationwide program is to make it unnecessary in the future for the government to make or buy home loans.

"One of our committee's first tasks will be to designate the areas in region 12 that will be eligible for this aid. We will designate areas which are not known to have adequate current lending activity in FHA - insured and VA - guaranteed mortgages. The designation of these cities will be tentative and subject to change. Since the only reason for the designation of an area will be the inadequacy of local funds for home mortgages, an area will be removed if and when the subcommittee finds that no such shortage exists. Other areas may be added if circumstances justify."

Fish Poisoners Given 30 Days

Five men were sentenced last week to 30 days each in prison in Bienville Parish, when they were convicted of attempting to take fish by means of poison. Judge Percy Brown, at Arcadia, passed sentence on the offenders, who were as follows: Johnny Shepard, Heflin; Sevell Mingo, Gibsland; John Ed Lofton, Heflin; Henry James Myles, Heflin; and R. B. Mingo, Gibsland. Alert wildlife rangers Louis Conlay and Thurman Shell and Ranger Capt. Jack Stanfield made the arrests.

Also at Arcadia, nine persons were convicted before Judge Brown of taking fish with illegal tackle. They were: Lewis E. Giddings, Hall Summit; Stanley R. Huckaby and Denson Huckaby, both of Shreveport; Richard Womack, Melvin Leon Sanders, James Phennill, and Kenneth McCoy, all of Ringgold; Raymond Bates, Bossier City; and John Kitchens, Coushatta. Kitchens forfeited a $35 cash bond. The others were fined $25 each plus $10 court costs (fines suspended).

At St. Martinville, Justice of the Peace David Duchamp fined six men $12.50 each and costs when they were convicted of taking fish with illegal tackle. They were Dunard Simond, Alvin Aguillard, Sidney Aguillard, LeRoy Cormier, Julian Cormier, and Harris Cormier, all of Breaux Bridge. Rangers led by Ranger Capt. Charles Ventrella made the arrests.

Violators of the state's game and fish laws convicted in Louisiana courts this past week totaled 81, 16 of whom were turned over to federal agents, according to the report of John L. McGee, acting chief of the enforcement division of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries commission. Other cases reported in north Louisiana, listed by parish, are:

Claiborne: At Homer, Justice of the Peace A. Clyde Brown fined Mrs. S. V. Rogers, Gibsland, and A. J. Butler, Homer, $12.50 and $25, respectively, for wilfully setting fire to the feeding and breeding grounds of wild birds and quadrupeds. Agent John Thompson Thompson made the arrests.

Grant: Israel Harvey, Colfax, was fined $25 and costs (all suspended) at Colfax, by Judge Harwell Allen, for hunting and killing squirrels in closed season. Rangers Earl Nugent, Wesley Slay, and Edgar Shipp made the arrest.

Jackson: John L. Martin, Saline, was fined $12.50 at Jonesboro, by Justice W. W. Ford, for wilfully setting fire to the feeding and breeding grounds of wild birds and quadrupeds. Agent John Thompson made the arrest.

Natchitoches: Earl Clark, Campti, was fined $12.50 at Campti, by Justice Earl Perot, for fishing commercially with proper license. Ranger Percy Brassett made the arrest.

If hogs are hot and uncomfortable it takes more feed to fatten them. The University of Illinois college of agriculture says it may take up to three times as much feed to put a pound of weight on a hot, uncomfortable hog as on one that is kept cool and comfortable.

2 Mothers Given Wrong Babies By Hospital But Balk At Swapping Them

BASIC—Pvt. Joseph Loyd Miers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benford Miers, Delhi, Route 3, is taking basic training at the Antiaircraft Artillery Replacement Center at Fort Bliss, Tex. Pvt. Miers attended Central High School in Franklin Parish before enlisting in the Army.

LONDON, Oct. 30—UP—A London hospital admitted Friday it "unfortunately" gave two babies to the wrong mothers who now refuse to exchange them.

The Forest Gate hospital in the suburb of West Ham reported that "beyond a doubt" Mrs. Shelia Read, 24, and Mrs. Vera Bowers, 22, have the wrong five-week-old blue-eyed dark-haired boys.

The mixup was caused by the babies being put in the wrong cribs after they were born. Three weeks ago the error was discovered through the babies wrist tags.

But, the mothers, despite "conclusive" blood tests and the pleadings of their husbands, refused to give up the babies they had been nursing as their own.

"This is my baby and no one will take him away," Mrs. Bowers said, hugging the boy the hospital claims is Kenneth Read.

Mrs. Read said she felt the same way about the infant the authorities say is John Bowers.

"We'll keep our babies, right or wrong," said Mrs. Read.

Dr. L. Coyns, chairman of the hospital, said that the correct wrist tags were placed on the babies, but they were placed in the wrong cribs.

When time for their first feeding came the wrong babies were taken to the mothers. When it came time for Mrs. Read to be discharged it was discovered that the baby in the crib marked Read, had a tag marked "Baby Bowers."

The mothers were given their own babies for the first time. The infants set up a howl. The mothers exchanged them and the babies stopped crying.

Now the firm uses seven warehouses in addition to the store and needs seven trucks to make their deliveries in a radius of 200 miles. The store has 30,000 square feet of display space and the entire operation covers three city blocks on Washington street.

Twenty-five years ago the firm added furniture to its wholesale business and started retailing furniture after three years. Five years ago when their retail business had grown to an unexpected volume they dropped the manufacture of bedding and changed to nationally advertised brands.

Northeast Show To Feature Big Array Of Talent

High school talent throughout North Louisiana will be combined with numbers featuring Northeast State students when the college chapter of Future Teachers of America presents a talent show in Brown Auditorium on November 11 at 8 p.m.

The Teen-Aires, a jazz band from Rayville High School, a musical group from LTI, and dances by Miss Mary Lou Young's classes are scheduled to make appearances on the program. Other specialties will include adagio numbers, tap routines and musical features.

Northeast's newly organized dance orchestra will make its initial appearance at the show. Albert Ellis, freshman geology major, will direct the group. The orchestra also will form the basic musical section on the stage throughout the show.

Featured in the program will be a bona fide fire eater, Bill Salter. Salter, a journalism major now living in Eros, has played in both eastern and western show circuits. His experience includes about 12 years of show business.

Listed among specialties is Tommy Armitage, a teen-age magician from Bastrop who has been enthusiastic about his hobby for several years, despite his limited age. "I am constantly trying to improve my acts," he said.

Winners of the best and most original performances will be awarded gold loving cups. These will go to first, second and third places.

Tickets for the event are on sale in the office of Dean William M. Smith in Brown Hall, Program Chairman Willard Beaver announced. They also may be purchased from FTA members. Cost of the tickets will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for persons under twelve years of age.

Shelby Hill In Explanation Of How Loans Made

E. Shelby Hill has just returned from New Orleans, where a meeting was held by the national voluntary mortgage credit extension committee, of which he is now a member. Purpose of the committee is to locate areas where there is an inadequate supply of funds for investment in home mortgages.

President W. G. Gehr, chairman, of New Orleans, explains:

"The program we are about to undertake in this region was provided for by congress in the housing act of 1954 to make it easier for people who want to buy or build homes to obtain FHA-insured or veterans administration-guaranteed mortgages.

"In parts of this region, especially in the smaller communities and more remote areas, it is often difficult for the prospective home buyer or builder to obtain financing on terms compatible with his needs and with sound financing. The reason, of course, is not that such local lenders don't want to make such loans but that often they simply don't have the money to make them.

"That's where the voluntary home mortgage credit program comes in. It is predicated on the belief that private lending institutions in general can do the job if organized for the purpose. It is the function of our regional subcomfittee to help obtain funds for FHA - insured or VA - guaranteed loans in this area.

"A major goal of this nationwide program is to make it unnecessary in the future for the government to make or buy home loans.

"One of our committee's first tasks will be to designate the areas in region 12 that will be eligible for this aid. We will designate areas which are not known to have adequate current lending activity in FHA - insured and VA - guaranteed mortgages. The designation of these cities will be tentative and subject to change. Since the only reason for the designation of an area will be the inadequacy of local funds for home mortgages, an area will be removed if and when the subcommittee finds that no such shortage exists. Other areas may be added if circumstances justify."

Fish Poisoners Given 30 Days

Five men were sentenced last week to 30 days each in prison in Bienville Parish, when they were convicted of attempting to take fish by means of poison. Judge Percy Brown, at Arcadia, passed sentence on the offenders, who were as follows: Johnny Shepard, Heflin; Sevell Mingo, Gibsland; John Ed Lofton, Heflin; Henry James Myles, Heflin; and R. B. Mingo, Gibsland. Alert wildlife rangers Louis Conlay and Thurman Shell and Ranger Capt. Jack Stanfield made the arrests.

Also at Arcadia, nine persons were convicted before Judge Brown of taking fish with illegal tackle. They were: Lewis E. Giddings, Hall Summit; Stanley R. Huckaby and Denson Huckaby, both of Shreveport; Richard Womack, Melvin Leon Sanders, James Phennill, and Kenneth McCoy, all of Ringgold; Raymond Bates, Bossier City; and John Kitchens, Coushatta. Kitchens forfeited a $35 cash bond. The others were fined $25 each plus $10 court costs (fines suspended).

At St. Martinville, Justice of the Peace David Duchamp fined six men $12.50 each and costs when they were convicted of taking fish with illegal tackle. They were Dunard Simond, Alvin Aguillard, Sidney Aguillard, LeRoy Cormier, Julian Cormier, and Harris Cormier, all of Breaux Bridge. Rangers led by Ranger Capt. Charles Ventrella made the arrests.

Violators of the state's game and fish laws convicted in Louisiana courts this past week totaled 81, 16 of whom were turned over to federal agents, according to the report of John L. McGee, acting chief of the enforcement division of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries commission. Other cases reported in north Louisiana, listed by parish, are:

Claiborne: At Homer, Justice of the Peace A. Clyde Brown fined Mrs. S. V. Rogers, Gibsland, and A. J. Butler, Homer, $12.50 and $25, respectively, for wilfully setting fire to the feeding and breeding grounds of wild birds and quadrupeds. Agent John Thompson Thompson made the arrests.

Grant: Israel Harvey, Colfax, was fined $25 and costs (all suspended) at Colfax, by Judge Harwell Allen, for hunting and killing squirrels in closed season. Rangers Earl Nugent, Wesley Slay, and Edgar Shipp made the arrest.

Jackson: John L. Martin, Saline, was fined $12.50 at Jonesboro, by Justice W. W. Ford, for wilfully setting fire to the feeding and breeding grounds of wild birds and quadrupeds. Agent John Thompson made the arrest.

Natchitoches: Earl Clark, Campti, was fined $12.50 at Campti, by Justice Earl Perot, for fishing commercially with proper license. Ranger Percy Brassett made the arrest.

If hogs are hot and uncomfortable it takes more feed to fatten them. The University of Illinois college of agriculture says it may take up to three times as much feed to put a pound of weight on a hot, uncomfortable hog as on one that is kept cool and comfortable.

2 Mothers Given Wrong Babies By Hospital But Balk At Swapping Them

BASIC—Pvt. Joseph Loyd Miers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benford Miers, Delhi, Route 3, is taking basic training at the Antiaircraft Artillery Replacement Center at Fort Bliss, Tex. Pvt. Miers attended Central High School in Franklin Parish before enlisting in the Army.

LONDON, Oct. 30—UP—A Loudon hospital admitted Friday it "unfortunately" gave two babies to the wrong mothers who now refuse to exchange them.

The Forest Gate hospital in the suburb of West Ham reported that "beyond a doubt" Mrs. Shelia Read, 24, and Mrs. Vera Bowers, 22, have the wrong five-week-old blue-eyed dark-haired boys.

The mixup was caused by the babies being put in the wrong cribs after they were born. Three weeks ago the error was discovered through the babies wrist tags.

But, the mothers, despite "conclusive" blood tests and the pleadings of their husbands, refused to give up the babies they had been nursing as their own.

"This is my baby and no one will take him away," Mrs. Bowers said, hugging the boy the hospital claims is Kenneth Read.

Mrs. Read said she felt the same way about the infant the authorities say is John Bowers.

"We'll keep our babies, right or wrong," said Mrs. Read.

Dr. L. Coyns, chairman of the hospital, said that the correct wrist tags were placed on the babies, but they were placed in the wrong cribs.

When time for their first feeding came the wrong babies were taken to the mothers. When it came time for Mrs. Read to be discharged it was discovered that the baby in the crib marked Read, had a tag marked "Baby Bowers."

The mothers were given their own babies for the first time. The infants set up a howl. The mothers exchanged them and the babies stopped crying.

Analysis Made On 31 Proposed Amendments

By PAUL JASPER
Staff Writer

Some 26,482 registered voters in Ouachita parish will have a chance Tuesday to cast their ballots for or against 31 amendments to the state constitution in the 1954 general election.

The amendments will be the primary consideration in the election, since there was no Republican or independent opposition to any of the Democratic nominees for any of the state, parish, and district offices open this year.

So that voters may set down their intended "yes" and "no" votes before going to the polls, a blank form is being run elsewhere in this newspaper today, giving a one-line digest of each amendment.

Voting in the election is expected to be light, as it generally is when no elective offices are open, but much controversial legislation will be decided upon by the voters.

The 31 amendments, if all pass, will add another massive list to a state constitution which already has more amendments than any other in the nation.

Among things to be decided upon in the election is Louisiana's reaction to the U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in public schools.

The 16th proposal on the ballot, if passed, would continue racial segregation in public schools operated by the state under police powers of the state.

The proposal would also give authority to include all matters regarding the terms and qualifications for admission to the schools under police powers and separate schools for white and Negro children would be maintained.

Many of the amendments in question apply to local conditions in various parts of the state and others have a statewide application. All of them are to be voted on statewide, however.

Some of the amendments have drawn fire from various groups, others have received staunch support, and virtually nothing has been said about some of them.

The Louisiana Bar Association has come out in opposition to the passage of proposal number 22, stating it "deprives voters of their constitutional right" to vote separately on three important issues."

According to Thomas W. Leigh of Monroe, president of the association, the members of the association's board of directors object to the "package proposal" idea more than to the contents of the proposal itself.

The issues in the bill include the requiring of voter approval of all future bond issues authorized by the legislature, the validation of a $50,000,000 highway and $41,950,000 institutions bond issues, and the repeal of constitutional prohibition against the sale of state - owned mineral rights.

Harvey G. Fields, former public service commissioner, also openly opposed amendment number 22, and amendments 15 and 20, which are to vote additional taxes and to shift money from the levee board to the school board in New Orleans.

The 20th proposal would not become effective unless the 15th proposal was also approved.

Other amendments causing statewide interest are number 12, which provides for a bonus for Louisiana veterans of the Korean war, and number 31, which provides for the absentee registration of citizens of the state who are in the armed services.

The League of Women Voters here has taken a strong stand against the passage of the latter proposal, citing the possibility of voting frauds inherent in the plan.

An analysis of all of the amendments has been printed in the News-Star — World editorial columns, and voters are urged to form an opinion on the bills before entering the voting booth, since only three minutes are allowed inside the booth.

Several persons have stated their intentions of voting "yes" only on those bills which they are specifically in favor of and "no" on all other proposals.

No. 1 — Authorize East Baton Rouge parish to zone outside incorporated municipalities. The governing body could create, with taxpayers approval, residential, commercial and industrial districts and prohibit establishment of places of business in residential districts. The governing body could set up a zoning commission to prescribe the zones.

Create Family Court.

No. 2 — Creation of a family court in East Baton Rouge parish to have jurisdiction over cases of delinquent and neglected children, minors, desertion, non - support and criminal neglect of minors, non - support, adoptions and divorce and separation problems growing out of these.

No. 3 — Liberalization of bail provisions in felony cases. Persons convicted of felonies would be allowed bail pending sentence or appeal, except where the death penalty or life imprisonment is imposed. Bail is presently allowed on felony convictions pending final judgment when the sentence is less than five years.

No. 4 — Authorize police juries to create recreation districts within one or more parishes. The districts would be permitted to levy taxes not to exceed five mills, upon taxpayers' approval, and to incur debt for recreation facilities. If the district extended within the boundaries of a municipality consents.

Highway Construction.

No. 5 — Expand the jurisdiction of the Bogalusa school board to include all of Ward 4 of Washington parish. The board would have responsibility for all public schools of Ward 4 of the parish and would be elected from all of Ward 4.

No. 6 — Construction of a four-lane U. S. Highway 51, to be financed with revenue from Highway fund No. 2. The proposed highway would extend from the Louisiana - Mississippi line at Osyka, Miss., to a point north of the Bonnet Carre spillway bridge at the intersection with Highway 61.

No. 7 — Revise distribution of proceeds from the 16th section lands. These would be credited to the parish school boards in which such townships are situated in proportion to the percentage of the townships lying in each parish.

New Orleans Bonds.

No. 8 — Authorize New Orleans to issue $3,000,000 in revenue bonds for airport development. The bonds would be issued through the aviation board or other such agency created by law. The bonds would be payable solely by revenues of the airport facilities and secured by a mortgage on airport properties.

No. 9 — Prohibit the state legislature from changing the method of appointing members of bridge or ferry authorities without the consent of the parish governing bodies which participated in the organization of such authorites.

No. 10 — Require the governor to give legislators at least five days advance written notice before calling a special session of the legislature. The date for convening could not be less than five days after the date on which the notices were mailed. The governor's proclamation would have to contain the date of the session.

School Age Restrictions.

No. 11 — Authorize school boards to permit only those children whose birthdays will fall on or before Dec. 31 to enter public schools at the beginning of a session, restrict kindergarten to children reaching five on or before Dec. 31 of the school year in which they enter.

No. 12 — Authorize a 10 million dollar bond issue to provide a bonus for residents of the state who served in the armed forces during the Korean conflict. The bonds would be financed from the state beer tax. Applications to be made before Dec. 31, 1956.

No. 13 — Create the Southwest Louisiana Water Conservation District, composed of 11 parishes and part of a twelfth. The district would be empowered to govern the use of fresh water in the area for irrigation, navigation, industrial development and municipal use, and it could obtain water from sources outside the district.

Continue School Segregation.

No. 14 — Require bond of the secretary-treasurer of each community center and playground district in Calcasieu parish. The secretary - treasurer of each of three centers would be required to post a $5,000 bond.

No. 15 — Authorize the Orleans parsih school board to levy an additional 1.5 mills for 1955 through 1959 and additional millage thereafter up to 3 mills. Bonds up to 10 million dollars for capital improvements would be issued.

No. 16 — Continue racial segregation in the public schools and other "institutions of learning" operated by the state under the police powers of the state. The legislation would give authority to include all matters regarding the terms and qualifications for admission to the public schools. Separate public elementary and secondary schools would be operated for white and Negro children "in the exercise of the state police power to promote and protect public health, morals, better education and the peace and good order in the state and not because of race."

Filling New Judgeships. . . . . .

No. 17 — Authorize the Lake Charles Commission Council to incur debt and levy taxes for the development of a portion of the lake front. Bonds, secured by a special property tax, would be voted to establish a system of public parks, beaches and streets along the eatern shore from Broad Street to the river bridge.

No. 18 — Require the governor to call special elections for filling new district judgeships created by the Legislature. The amendment also would require that district judges be members in good standing of the Louisiana State Bar Assn.

No. 19 — Authorize the state and its political subdivisions to donate property to, and to contract with, the federal government for the construction of postal and other governmental buildings under lease-purchase arrangements. The state or local governments could purchase lands and construct the buildings for lease to the federal government or its agencies for reasonable rents.

New Orleans Water Rates.

No. 20 — Authorize the Orleans Levee Board to reduce taxes from 5 to 3.5 mills for the years 1955 through 1959 and to 2 mills thereafter. The amendment would not become effective unless amendment No. 15 is also approved.

No. 21 — Shift authority for fixing water rates for New Orleans from the Legislature to the New Orleans Sewerage and Water Board. The rates fixed by the board would be subject to approval by the board of liquidation of the city debt.

No. 22 — Propose voter approval of all future bond issues authorized by the Legislature and voter validation of the highway and institutions bond issues authorized by the 1954 Legislature. The Legislature would be prohibited from authorizing bond issues on behalf of the state or its agencies without a subsequent approval of the voters of the state.

No. 23 — —Revise the taxation system of forests and forest lands. Assessments would be based on the increaed value of the land but not on the increased value of the uncut timber. Severance tax rates would be based upon the average stumpage market value.

Legislative Sessions.

No. 24 — —Require that at least one of the five members of the Board of Commissioners of the Port of New Orleans reside and have his principal place of business on the west side of the Mississippi River.

No. 25 — Phohibit the Legislature from changing statutory or constitutional provisions pertaining to retirement systems unless advance notice is given. Notice would have to be published in the official state journal on three separate days and at least 30 days prior to a regular legislative session.

No. 26 — Proposes annual sessions of the state Legislature, with 30-day sessions in odd-numbered years, beginning in May, next year, limited to financial matters. Regular 60-day sessions would continue in even-numbered years. The 30-day sessions would be restricted to budgetary or fiscal matters; however, no measures levying new taxes or increasing existing taxes shall be enacted. Any proposal to extend the budget session to other matters will require the consent of three-fourths of the elected members in each house.

No. 27 — Change the zoning authority of Jefferson Parish to eliminate the requirement for taxpayer approval in the creation of zoning districts.

Absentee Registration.

No. 28 — Exempt bonds secured by revenues of the Royalty Road Fund from the 10 per cent debt limit for parishwide and special school districts, except Orleans, from 20 to 25 per cent of the assessed valuation of property in the district.

No. 29 — Create an additional judgeship for the 24 judicial district (Jefferson Parish). The term of the new judge would expire at the end of present terms of the other two district judges.

No. 30—Prohibit the registrar of voters in Orleans Parish from making changes of address between a first and second primary.

No. 31—Provide for the absentee registration of citizens of the state who are subject to duty in the armed forces, or who have received orders or been inducted or enlisted, including persons who are under voting but not less than 18 years of age and who have all other qualifications for registration, and providing that, when registered, persons under the voting age at the time of the registration shall be entitled to vote upon attaining the voting age, and extending this amendment to the spouse of any person included.

Young Negro Woman Accused Of Forgery

A 21-year-old West Monroe Negro woman was returned here from Savannah, Ga., Saturday morning on warrants charging her with two counts of forgery, and a man has been arrested in Arcadia on two charges of theft by check here, the sheriff's department said.

The woman is Louise Jackson, alias Beatrice Underwood, of West Monroe. She was arrested in Savannah by police there, and returned here by a Ouachita parish deputy sheriff and a city police officer.

She was being held in the Ouachita parish jail under bond of $750 on each of two counts, the sheriff's department said. The alleged forged checks were reported passed at two local stores.

In Arcadia, the sheriff's department there arrested Terrell Crawly on a warrant from here charging him with two counts of theft by check, one for $25 and the other for $12. He posted bond of $500 on each count, according to the sheriff's department.

Former Queen Of Egypt To Divorce 7-Months Groom

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Oct. 30—UP—Former Queen Narriman of Egypt announced Saturday night that she and the young Egyptian doctor she married seven months ago have agreed to get a divorce "as quickly as possible."

Narriman and Dr. Adham El Nakeeb were married last May, three months after she had been granted a divorce from former King Farouk.

Narriman made the announcement of her divorce plans to the press via her mother, Mrs. Assila Sadek. She said the marriage did not work because "our characters did not match."

"We have been quarreling and talking of divorce for months," Mrs. Sadek quoted Narriman. "We have now agreed to separate and get a divorce as quickly as possible."

In Alexandria, however, Nakeeb said he did "not receive any message" from Narriman asking him for a divorce.

Narriman said divorce proceedings will take place in Egypt as soon as she has recovered from the operation which her doctor said will enable her to bear children safely again.

Narriman reiterated her earlier statements that she is "yearning" to see her son Fuad who is with his father in exile in Italy. But she added there was no question of entering into any kind of relationship with Farouk again.

Army Official On Inspection Of Big River

NEW ORLEANS —UP— Assistant Secretary of the Army George H. Roderick was due to arrive here tomorrow aboard the USS John E. Newton after an inspection tour of the Mississippi river flood control works.

Roderick, accompanied by Maj. Gen. S. D. Sturgis Jr., chief of U.S. Army Engineers, denied at a Red river stopover that the U.S. Bureau of the Budget had adopted a policy of "no new starts" for the coming year.

Such a policy, Roderick said, was in effect in 1952 and 1953 but there has been no indication that such would be the case in 1955. He said the engineers began 23 new projects in 1954, and that 21 were civilian works programs.

Army engineers are ready to begin work on the Old river control structure, which will prevent diversion of the Mississippi into the Atchafalaya river, as soon as funds are made available.

The secretary said he was impressed on his tour by the "extent of the area that is being protected" under the control program. He also commented on the "very large volume of commerce on the river.

"Because of the magnitude and importance of the project, I felt it was desirable to make a personal visit to the area and study it from the budgetary angle," Roderick said.

Engineers hope for an appropriation soon that will enable them to begin construction next year on the project. The threatened diversion would, in time, leave the river cities of Baton Rouge and New Orleans high and dry.

Catholic Bazaar Promises Personal Attention To All

Two spacious dining rooms, under supervision of Mrs. R. L. Wood, Sr., Mrs. Joseph Haddad, Mrs. Ted Mahr and Mrs. John Williamson, with a large staff of assistants, will assure everyone of personal attention at the Catholic Bazaar when turkey dinners with all the trimmings and French gumbo will be served on November 9 and 10 at 311 Grammont street.

Group table reservations are coming in and a special corps has been assigned to serve this area.

All day long dripped coffee and a variety of home made cakes and pies fresh from the ovens of these expert pastry makers will be available, with Mrs. Lawrence McCarthy, Mrs. Eugene Galligan, Mrs. Francis Scalia and Mrs. Edward Lohan serving this booth.

Hamburgers, the very last word in these appetizing "hunger fillers" for snack time, will be served piping hot by Mrs. T. Canizaro and a coterie of members of St. Anne Circle. At a well stocked candy bar, such home made goodies will be dispensed by Mrs. A. Embanato and her assistants, members of the C. D. A., who will preside over this section of a wide variety of "sho nuff" sweet concoctions.

Private Assessed 2 Year Term For Traffic Deaths

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 30—UP—PFC Charley E. Howard, 22, of Roswell, N. M., was sentenced to two years imprisonment and a dishonorable discharge for fatally injuring two 16-year-old German girls in a jeep accident Oct. 1, the U. S. Army announced Saturday.

An army court-martial convicted Howard of involuntary manslaughter Friday night in the deaths of Erika Neeb and Ingrid Ape at Stenheim. The soldier, a Korean war veteran, was driving two other soldiers in a jeep when it skidded on a curve and hit the girls who were on their way to school.

Testimony during the trial said Howard and the two other soldiers had drunk a fifth of whisky and several beers before the accident. Howard is married but has no children.

Southwesterners' Real Income Up 27 Per Cent From '46, Survey Shows

DALLAS, Oct. 30—UP—The real income of Southwesterners increased 27 per cent from 1946 to 1953, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas said Saturday

In analysis of the "Survey of Current Business" of the Department of Commerce, the bank said the increase in Southwestern income was the greatest of any part of the nation and well above the national average.

The national average income was up 15 per cent for the same period.

The Commerce Department's survey showed dollar income in the Southwest increased 75 per cent in the post war period. The bank said this, when taking account of inflation as reported by the consumer price index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, showed a real increase of 27 per cent.

"Despite the importance of the monetary factor in the growth of income payments, the expansion in real income in the Southwest in the postwar years has been very impressive" the bank's review said.

The national average increase in dollar income was 58 per cent. The Southwest increased 75 per cent, and its nearest ranking region, the central states, showed only a 63 per cent increase. The only other regions above the national average were the far west and the southwest.

"The rapid growth of income payments to individuals in the southwest in the postwar period is indicative, at least in part, of the rapid growth of the economy of the Southwest," the bank said.

In 1953, income payments to individuals in the Southwest totaled $21,258,000,000, about 8 per cent of the national total, the analysis said.

Texas had income payments of $12,279,000,000, amost three-fifths of the Southwest's total. Behind Texas in total income payments, in order of rank, were Louisiana, with 16.9 per cent of the region's total; Oklahoma, 14.0 per cent; Arizona 6.4 per cent, and New Mexico, 4.8 per cent.

But it pointed out that the postwar percentage increase was the greatest in both Arizona and New Mexico, where income payments more than doubled from 1946 through 1953. Louisiana and Texas both showed a greater increase than the nation as a whole. Only Oklahoma lagged behind the national increase.

The bank also noted that per capita income increased more in the Southwest than any other region of the nation — 53 per cent, compared to the national average of 41 per cent. Every Southwestern state showed a greater increase in per capita income than the national income.

In 1953, per capita income in the Southwest amounted to $1,406, compared with $1,709 for the nation as a whole. The figure for Texas was $1,480; Arizona $1,473; New Mexico $1,347; Oklahoma $1,327, and Louisiana $1,249.

'Shop 'N Gas' New Method Of Fueling Cars

By BILL SANSING

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 30 (AP)—Petroleum potpourri:

A method of dispensing gasoline that could possibly reduce sharply the number of retail service stations has been reported.

It's a gasoline sales outlet in conjunction with grocery supermarkets. The Oil and Gas Journal described it as Deep Rock Oil Corp.'s idea called "Shop 'N Gas."

When the housewife drives into the store's parking lot, an attendant rolls up on a scooter and, if she wants gas or oil, services the auto while the driver shops.

The scooter carries a fuel line which attaches to scattered underground storage connections. Gas going into the fuel tank is automatically metered.

Carter Oil Co., Tulsa, for what is believed the first time in the history of the petroleum industry, is getting substantial crude oil through directional drilling from under a large river.

Carter has seven wells producing 250 to 300 barrels of oil daily from beneath the bed of the Ohio River about 15 miles southwest of Evansville, Ind.

Four of the wells are on the river's Diamond Island between Kentucky and Indiana and the others are on the Kentucky shore. The 35 to 36-gravity oil is from the Cypress Sand at about 2,500 feet.

Carter estimated the directional well on the Kentucky shore cost $16,000 more to drill than the straight hole well adjacent to it. A total of 14 whipstocks—a metal shoe placed inside the hole at intervals to force the drill to cut at an angle—were used and a whipstocking expert was on duty 24 hours a day during operations.

The family home of President Dwight D. Eisenhower in Abilene, Kan. is being turned into a museum.

Chicago Cop Killer Slain In Trap Baited By Police

CHICAGO, Oct. 30—UP—Police got their revenge Friday night when they fired 19 bullets into "cop killer" Gus Amedeo and watched bystanders soak handkerchiefs in his blood for souvenirs.

Amedeo, 26-year-old slayer of policeman Charles Annerino, was slain in a police trap to end one of the greatest manhunts in Chicago crime annals.

Like John Dillinger, he was trapped with the aid of a woman, and like Dillinger he died in a gutter.

Detective Lt. Frank Pape, the most feared officer on the force, led a detail of 17 policemen who cut down Amedeo at a busy intersection.

It was the ninth slaying of a hoodlum in which Pape has had a hand.

Pape, wearing a duck hunter's cap, a knee-length jacket and carrying a .30 caliber rifle, deployed his men in parked cars, along the sidewalks and in second-story windows.

They waited for Amedeo to show up on a tip from Mrs. Dolly Del Genio, who told them Amedeo had telephoned her and asked her to bring his car to the intersection.

Then he walked out into the street to pick up his car, looking ahead to make sure the coast was clear. It wasn't.

"Hey, Gus. Don't move. Stay where you are."

Irvin and his partner, Frank Schultz, returned the fire. So did Pape, watching from the window of a bowling alley.

Amedo fell, lay still or two seconds, then got to his feet and ran. Police on all sides opened fire. Amedeo staggered and fell into the gutter.

Thus ended a manhunt which began last June when Amedeo escaped from the criminal court building with a pistol smuggled to him by his part-time sweetheart, Mrs. Dolores Del Genio Marcus, sister-in-law of the woman who helped trap him.

The search was intensified nine days ago when Amedeo, trapped in a tavern, shot and killed Annerino.

Annerino's wife, a mother of two, said when notified that Amedeo had been killed:

"I'm sorry. But he deserved it."

"Because of the magnitude and importance of the project, I felt it was desirable to make a personal visit to the area and study it from the budgetary angle," Roderick said.

Engineers hope for an appropriation soon that will enable them to begin construction next year on the project. The threatened diversion would, in time, leave the river cities of Baton Rouge and New Orleans high and dry.

Private Assessed 2 Year Term For Traffic Deaths

FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 30—UP—PFC Charley E. Howard, 22, of Roswell, N. M., was sentenced to two years imprisonment and a dishonorable discharge for fatally injuring two 16-year-old German girls in a jeep accident Oct. 1, the U. S. Army announced Saturday.

An army court-martial convicted Howard of involuntary manslaughter Friday night in the deaths of Erika Neeb and Ingrid Ape at Stenheim. The soldier, a Korean war veteran, was driving two other soldiers in a jeep when it skidded on a curve and hit the girls who were on their way to school.

Testimony during the trial said Howard and the two other soldiers had drunk a fifth of whisky and several beers before the accident. Howard is married but has no children.

Southwesterners' Real Income Up 27 Per Cent From '46, Survey Shows

DALLAS, Oct. 30—UP—The real income of Southwesterners increased 27 per cent from 1946 to 1953, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas said Saturday

In analysis of the "Survey of Current Business" of the Department of Commerce, the bank said the increase in Southwestern income was the greatest of any part of the nation and well above the national average.

The national average income was up 15 per cent for the same period.

The Commerce Department's survey showed dollar income in the Southwest increased 75 per cent in the post war period. The bank said this, when taking account of inflation as reported by the consumer price index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, showed a real increase of 27 per cent.

"Despite the importance of the monetary factor in the growth of income payments, the expansion in real income in the Southwest in the postwar years has been very impressive" the bank's review said.

The national average increase in dollar income was 58 per cent. The Southwest increased 75 per cent, and its nearest ranking region, the central states, showed only a 63 per cent increase. The only other regions above the national average were the far west and the southwest.

"The rapid growth of income payments to individuals in the southwest in the postwar period is indicative, at least in part, of the rapid growth of the economy of the Southwest," the bank said.

In 1953, income payments to individuals in the Southwest totaled $21,258,000,000, about 8 per cent of the national total, the analysis said.

Texas had income payments of $12,279,000,000, amost three-fifths of the Southwest's total. Behind Texas in total income payments, in order of rank, were Louisiana, with 16.9 per cent of the region's total; Oklahoma, 14.0 per cent; Arizona 6.4 per cent, and New Mexico, 4.8 per cent.

But it pointed out that the postwar percentage increase was the greatest in both Arizona and New Mexico, where income payments more than doubled from 1946 through 1953. Louisiana and Texas both showed a greater increase than the nation as a whole. Only Oklahoma lagged behind the national increase.

The bank also noted that per capita income increased more in the Southwest than any other region of the nation — 53 per cent, compared to the national average of 41 per cent. Every Southwestern state showed a greater increase in per capita income than the national income.

In 1953, per capita income in the Southwest amounted to $1,406, compared with $1,709 for the nation as a whole. The figure for Texas was $1,480; Arizona $1,473; New Mexico $1,347; Oklahoma $1,327, and Louisiana $1,249.

'Shop 'N Gas' New Method Of Fueling Cars

By BILL SANSING

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 30 (AP)—Petroleum potpourri:

A method of dispensing gasoline that could possibly reduce sharply the number of retail service stations has been reported.

It's a gasoline sales outlet in conjunction with grocery supermarkets. The Oil and Gas Journal described it as Deep Rock Oil Corp.'s idea called "Shop 'N Gas."

When the housewife drives into the store's parking lot, an attendant rolls up on a scooter and, if she wants gas or oil, services the auto while the driver shops.

The scooter carries a fuel line which attaches to scattered underground storage connections. Gas going into the fuel tank is automatically metered.

Carter Oil Co., Tulsa, for what is believed the first time in the history of the petroleum industry, is getting substantial crude oil through directional drilling from under a large river.

Carter has seven wells producing 250 to 300 barrels of oil daily from beneath the bed of the Ohio River about 15 miles southwest of Evansville, Ind.

Four of the wells are on the river's Diamond Island between Kentucky and Indiana and the others are on the Kentucky shore. The 35 to 36-gravity oil is from the Cypress Sand at about 2,500 feet.

Carter estimated the directional well on the Kentucky shore cost $16,000 more to drill than the straight hole well adjacent to it. A total of 14 whipstocks—a metal shoe placed inside the hole at intervals to force the drill to cut at an angle—were used and a whipstocking expert was on duty 24 hours a day during operations.

Chicago Cop Killer Slain In Trap Baited By Police

CHICAGO, Oct. 30—UP—Police got their revenge Friday night when they fired 19 bullets into "cop killer" Gus Amedeo and watched bystanders soak handkerchiefs in his blood for souvenirs.

Like John Dillinger, he was trapped with the aid of a woman, and like Dillinger he died in a gutter.

Detective Lt. Frank Pape, the most feared officer on the force, led a detail of 17 policemen who cut down Amedeo at a busy intersection.

It was the ninth slaying of a hoodlum in which Pape has had a hand.

Pape, wearing a duck hunter's cap, a knee-length jacket and carrying a .30 caliber rifle, deployed his men in parked cars, along the sidewalks and in second-story windows.

They waited for Amedeo to show up on a tip from Mrs. Dolly Del Genio, who told them Amedeo had telephoned her and asked her to bring his car to the intersection.

Then he walked out into the street to pick up his car, looking ahead to make sure the coast was clear. It wasn't.

"Hey, Gus. Don't move. Stay where you are."

Irvin and his partner, Frank Schultz, returned the fire. So did Pape, watching from the window of a bowling alley.

Amedo fell, lay still or two seconds, then got to his feet and ran. Police on all sides opened fire. Amedeo staggered and fell into the gutter.

Thus ended a manhunt which began last June when Amedeo escaped from the criminal court building with a pistol smuggled to him by his part-time sweetheart, Mrs. Dolores Del Genio Marcus, sister-in-law of the woman who helped trap him.

The search was intensified nine days ago when Amedeo, trapped in a tavern, shot and killed Annerino.

Annerino's wife, a mother of two, said when notified that Amedeo had been killed:

Charred Dynamite Bomb Found In Solon's Car

CHAGRIN FALLS, Ohio, Oct. 30—UP—Cong. George H. Bender Saturday blamed "stupid, ruthless racketeers" for the attempted bombing of his automobile.

Bender is the Republican candidate for the Senate seat now held by Thomas A. Burke, one-time Democratic mayor of Cleveland. Chagrin Falls is located 15 miles southeast of Cleveland.

"I got home a little after midnight," Bender said, "and was still in ny pajamas when my wife returned. She came in the house and asked, "what's the funny smell in the car, and that stuff on the front seat?' "

Bender said he dressed and found two sticks of dynamite on the back seat of the automobile. The odor was from burned powder. The charred remains of a six-foot fuse trailed across the floor, and the interior was speckled with white pieces of the exploded dynamite cap.

"They must have been placed there after I got home last night," he said. "I would have noticed them when I took some things out of the back seat after I parked the car in the driveway."

The two sticks of dynamite, however, had not exploded. They were charred on the ends.

Bender blamed the attack on "labor racketeers." He is chairman of a House subcommittee that held hearings into labor racketeering in Cleveland last month.

"How could even the most hardened person do anything like that?" he asked. "I attribute it to some stupid fellow or a screwball. It must have been some stupid, ruthless racketeers."

Bender said he ruled out political connection with the attempted bombing. "I can't conceive of any political implication at all," he said. "I don't see eye-to-eye with the Democrats on a lot of things, and I know they don't see eye-to-eye with me, but it's out of the question that politics had anything to do with it."

Cotton Future Prices Lag In Week's Trade

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—Cotton futures prices continued their downward drift this week, but there was plenty of evidence of strength in the market.

Loses were pretty well held in check. Active futures contracts traded on the New York Cotton Exchange finished out the period at prices only 51 to 70 cents a bale lower than at the close of the previous week.

There was some hedge selling. Light liquidation was encouraged by belief in a considerable segment of the trade that the current pick-up in textile sales was not quite up to expectations.

Some selling was also prompted by likelihood that the government's November crop report would almost certainly show an increase over the October forecast.

Exports, it was pointed out, are now 8 per cent ahead of last year, whereas shortly after the start of the 1954-55 season they were running 59 per cent behind.

For the week ended Tuesday, the Service Bureau estimated exports at 67,000 bales, as compared to 56,000 the week before and 38,000 in the same week last year.

This raised the total for the season to 615,000 bales, as against 568,000 bales at approximately the same time last year.

Cotton Future Prices Lag In Week's Trade

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—Cotton futures prices continued their downward drift this week, but there was plenty of evidence of strength in the market.

Loses were pretty well held in check. Active futures contracts traded on the New York Cotton Exchange finished out the period at prices only 51 to 70 cents a bale lower than at the close of the previous week.

There was some hedge selling. Light liquidation was encouraged by belief in a considerable segment of the trade that the current pick-up in textile sales was not quite up to expectations.

Some selling was also prompted by likelihood that the government's November crop report would almost certainly show an increase over the October forecast.

Exports, it was pointed out, are now 8 per cent ahead of last year, whereas shortly after the start of the 1954-55 season they were running 59 per cent behind.

For the week ended Tuesday, the Service Bureau estimated exports at 67,000 bales, as compared to 56,000 the week before and 38,000 in the same week last year.

This raised the total for the season to 615,000 bales, as against 568,000 bales at approximately the same time last year.

WASHINGTON — (Special) What is a reasonable price for natural gas at the production level in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and other gas producing states?

That is a question with which the five members of the Federal Power Commission are now wrestling. It will probably be two or three months, at least, before the Commission finally reaches a decision on what yard-stick it will use in fixing natural gas prices as a result of the United States Supreme Court's decision in the Phillips Petroleum Company case.

A majority of the members of the commission, it was learned this week, are opposed to applying the "public utility" method of price regulation on the natural gas at the production level. This means that no attempt will be made to fix the cost of producing the gas, and then allow a producer a set margin of profit, such as six per cent, which is the method normally used in establishing rates for natural gas and electric power at the consumer level.

Not only would such a method prove extremely impractible from a standpoint of enforcement, since there are more than 4,000 independent gas producers ruled subject to regulation by the Commission, but there is a realization on the part of the Commissioners that the so-called "public utility" method of price regulation would not be equitable if applied to natural gas at the production level.

A great bulk of the gas produced for intertate shipment is produced along with crude petroleum. As a result the Commissioners explain, it would be extremely difficult to determine what part of the cost should be attributed to oil production and what part to gas.

Moreover, gas producers are involved in a risk regarding their future ability to produce which does not occur in the case of natural gas distributors at the consumer level.

While the Commissioners have reached an answer on this part of their problem, they apparently have not decided yet just what regulatory yard-stick they will be apply when they finally begin fixing the prices under the mamate of the Supreme Court.

Under existing contracts between producers and the pipeline companies which move the gas to the industrial areas of the midwest and east, prices range from as low as six to as high as eighteen cents a thousand cubic feet. It appears unlikely that the Commission will even attempt to impose a uniform price on all gas produced in the southwest, but it does have the problem of deciding whether prices should be uniform, and at what level, in general producing areas.

The Commission must also decide what policy it will adopt with respect to escalation, most-favored nation classes and other provisions in existing contracts which would mean higher prices for the gas in the future.

The Commission, when it issued order 174-A in July, freezing gas prices as of June 7, the date of the Supreme Court decision in the Phillips case, in effect ruled that escalation provisions in contracts in operation at that time, cannot be inforced without the commission's approval.

That this is still the position of the FPC has been indicated by its action on a number of smaller contracts submitted for approval under terms of the July order. A number, without escalation or favored-nation provisions, have already been approved, though the deadline is not until December 1. In every instance, however, where the contract included provisions which would lead to higher prices for the gas later, the commission has refused to approve the contracts pending subsequent hearings.

A general ruling on escalation provisions is expected to come sometime after a series of hearings scheduled to start November 4 are completed.

FPC Is Wrestling With 'Reasonable' Gas Price

By EDWARD JANIESON

WASHINGTON —(Special) What is a reasonable price for natural gas at the production level in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and other gas producing states?

That is a question with which the five members of the Federal Power Commission are now wrestling. It will probably be two or three months, at least, before the Commission finally reaches a decision on what yard-stick it will use in fixing natural gas prices as a result of the United States Supreme Court's decision in the Phillips Petroleum Company case.

A majority of the members of the commission, it was learned this week, are opposed to applying the "public utility" method of price regulation on the natural gas at the production level. This means that no attempt will be made to fix the cost of producing the gas, and then allow a producer a set margin of profit, such as six per cent, which is the method normally used in establishing rates for natural gas and electric power at the consumer level.

Not only would such a method prove extremely impractible from a standpoint of enforcement, since there are more than 4,000 independent gas producers ruled subject to regulation by the Commission, but there is a realization on the part of the Commissioners that the so-called "public utility" method of price regulation would not be equitable if applied to natural gas at the production level.

A great bulk of the gas produced for intertate shipment is produced along with crude petroleum. As a result, the Commissioners explain, it would be extremely difficult to determine what part of the cost should be attributed to oil production and what part to gas.

Moreover, gas producers are involved in a risk regarding their future ability to produce which does not occur in the case of natural gas distributors at the consumer level.

While the Commissioners have reached an answer on this part of their problem, they apparently have not decided yet just what regulatory yard-stick they will be apply when they finally begin fixing the prices under the maniate of the Supreme Court.

Under existing contracts between producers and the pipeline companies which move the gas to the industrial areas of the midwest and east, prices range from as low as six to as high as eighteen cents a thousand cubic feet. It appears unlikely that the Commission will even attempt to impose a uniform price on all gas produced in the southwest, but it does have the problem of deciding whether prices should be uniform, and at what level, in general producing areas.

The Commission must also decide what policy it will adopt with respect to escalation, most-favored nation classes and other provisions in existing contracts which would mean higher prices for the gas in the future.

The Commission, when it issued order 174-A in July, freezing gas prices as of June 7, the date of the Supreme Court decision in the Phillips case, in effect ruled that escalation provisions in contracts in operation at that time, cannot be inforced without the commission's approval.

That this is still the position of the FPC has been indicated by its action on a number of smaller contracts submitted for approval under terms of the July order. A number, without escalation or favored-nation provisions, have already been approved, though the deadline is not until December 1. In every instance, however, where the contract included provisions which would lead to higher prices for the gas later, the commission has refused to approve the contracts pending subsequent hearings.

A general ruling on escalation provisions is expected to come sometime after a series of hearings scheduled to start November 4 are complated.

Mistrial Likely In Sheppard Case, Observors Say

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 30 — UP—The trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard ground to a halt in legal confusion Saturday, but the man about whom the confusion raged theoretically did not know its cause.

The issue will be decided Monday, when the hearing resumes after a weekend recess. If a mistrial is ordred—as many observers expect — it would mean the wrangling of the previous two weeks would have to be repeated all over again, sometime near the middle of November.

Subject of the controversy was James R. Manning, 38, a real estate salesman and father of three sons. Records showed that Manning was arrested 11 years ago on a charge of "occupying an automobile for the purpose of lewdness" involving a 16-year-old boy. Manning pleaded guilty to the charge and received a suspended six-month sentence, with the stipulation that he receive psychiatric treatment.

Because the crime was a misdemeanor, it would not prevent his serving on the jury that decides whether Sheppard murdered his wife early Independence Day morning. "A misdemeanor's a minor sort of thing," one court official explained. "On the books, what he did is no worse than spitting on a sidewalk.

"It's the nature of his crime that makes it so tough," he said.

Manning, like the other 11 members of the sworn jury, spent the weekend at home. He and the others received specific instructions from Judge Edward Blythin not to read newspapers or in any way discuss or listen to details of the crime.

Discovery of the incident has not been mentioned in open court.

In theory, Manning was ignorant of the battle that raged. Direct questioning about the incident 11 years ago would be regarded as jury-tampering.

Army Officer Accused Of Torturing Trainees

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 30 (AP)—A young Camp Gordon lieutenant has been accused of "harrassing and humiliating" treatment — ranging from hanging a trainee by the feet from a tree limb to ordering recruits to shout an obscene phrase.

The officer, identified as 2nd Lt. Charles C. Anderson, 24, commanding officer of Co. A, 1st Infantry Training Regiment, allegedly used the Prussian-like tactics against members of his unit.

Lt. Anderson, commissioned at Ft. Benning, Ga., Aug. 14, has been relieved of his command and placed under arrest pending completion of the pre-trial investigation, Bolling said.

1. Anderson allegedly ordered a trainee to be bound by his ankles with a rope and suspended from a tree limb. Other trainees were forced to pull on the rope "thus suspending the trainee upside down." The officer then instructed the recruit to "beat the trunk of the tree if (you) want to beat anything."

2. Anderson forced two trainees to take "sand baths" to "emphasize the necessity of frequent bathing." The recruits were forced to strip down to their shorts and socks and then were ordered to scrub themselves with a wash cloth dipped in water and sand. They were later ordered to climb a tree and repeatedly shout an obscene phrase.

3. Anderson ordered a trainee to do "push-ups and squat-jumps until he lay apparently exhausted on the ground." While the recruit lay prostrate, other trainees were forced to throw dirt over him.

Gen. Bolling said the alleged incidents occurred during bivouac in the final weeks of training.

The general said when the allegations reached headquarters, Camp Gordon, an immediate investigation was ordered. He added that members of Co. A. were on leave—but nine were recalled to give testimony.

Bolling said Lt. Anderson will be given a general court-martial if warranted by the pre-trial investigation.

The 3rd Army commander, who sent two inspectors-general here to conduct the investigation, stressed that no injuries were suffered by the trainees.

Brig. Gen. Francis E. Howard, commander of Camp Gordon, earlier had termed the alleged incident as "isolated." He said the tactics of the young officer if true, were by no means a "normal Army practice."

He labeled the alleged incident as "abhorrent" to the Army.

Lt. Anderson was graduated from the Ft. Benning officer candidate school on Aug. 14 and later reported to Camp Gordon for his first command assignment.

He served as a master sergeant in Korea and wears two battle stars.

The lieutenant was not available for comment.

Pioneers on the Atlantic islands of Bermuda were delighted to find enormous flocks of the plump edible cahow, a member of the petrel family. These "silly wilde birds," as the hunters called them, "would fall downe . . . offering themselves to be caught faster than they could be killed." Large numbers were destroyed, and for a time the bird was believed to be extinct. The cahow, however, has become wiser. Survivors now avoid man.

Speedway Official Killed

DECATUR, Ind., Oct. 30 (AP)—Wilbur Shaw, 52, president of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and three-time winner of the 500-mile race, and two companions were killed in a plane crash near here late today.

---

The light plane exploded and crashed in a field as a farmer watched nearby. State police and Sheriff Robert W. Shraluka said the bodies were ground to bits in the wreckage.

Shaw was identified by a credit card and a private pilot's license. The pilot of the plane was identified as Ray Grimes, 40, Greenfield, Ind.

The third occupant of the plane was not identified immediately.

State police said the plane exploded on striking the ground on a farm near Peterson, five miles southwest of Decatur.

Homer Ginter, owner of the farm, who was working on his tractor, said he heard a roar, looked up and saw the plane in pieces, 20 to 30 feet from the ground.

The plane, a Cessna, was owned by the Muncie Aviation Corp. Gordon Lackey, manager of Sky Harbor Airport at Indianapolis, said the plane with three men left Indianapolis at 9:05 a.m. for Detroit. It presumably was returning to Indianapolis at the time of the crash.

Peterson is 20 miles south of Fort Wayne, in Adams County.

McCarthy Again Asks Brownell To Indict Peress

By HERBERT FOSTER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 —UP— Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy Saturday asked Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., for the second time to seek indictment of former Maj. Irving Peress.

He made a similar request last March 8. James N. Juliana, staff director of McCarthy's Senate Ivestigating subcommiteee, said the Justice Department had not replied.

McCarthy, who faces a Senate censure vote for his treatment of Peress' commanding officer, made public a new letter to Brownell again requesting that the Justice Department ask a grand jury to indict the former Army dentist for alleged violation of the federal false statements act or any other law.

This act provides penalties up to $10,000 fine and five years in prison for making "false, fictitious or fradulent statements" to a federal agency.

McCarthy said Peress stated, in applying for an Army commission, that he was not a member of any group advocating subversion or overthrow of the government.

But he said Peress took refuge in the Fifth Amendment when testifying before the subcommittee last year on whether he, "or the Communist unit to which he belonged, advocated overthrow of the United States government by force and violence."

McCarthy said that Ruth Eagle, former under-cover agent in the Communist Party for the New York city police department, testified last year that Peress was a Communist Party organizer and had attended a party leadership training course.

"If he (Peress) were a member of the Communist Party and knew its objectives, as the evidence seems clearly to indicate," McCarthy wrote to Brownell, "then his signing of form DD-390 on May 26, 1952, would constitute a violation of this section of the criminal code." McCarthy said "it would seem imperative" to submit Peress' case to the grand jury.

"I would appreciate receiving your thoughts on this matter at your earliest convenience," he wrote to the attorney general.

The letter was the latest move in McCarthy's campaign to hammer away at the Peress case in his defense against censure charges.

Port Authorities Name Houstonian As New President

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30 (AP) — The American Association of Port Authorities ended their annual convention yesterday with the election of Warren D. Lamport, director of the port of Houston, as president.

At their closing business session, the port official passed resolutions recommending that reciprocal trade agreement be resumed to stimulate the flow of international trade and that Congress appropriate enough money to restore and maintain the nation's ports and waterways sufficiently to meet the needs of shipping.

The association also recommended and the government encourage merchant marine ship construction and, if necessary, provide funds to develop American flag shipping; that Panama Canal tolls be reduced to aid intercoastal shipping; and that through bills of lading be developed for joint water-land shipments.

Vice-presidents named by the association were Jerry P. Turner, general manager of the port at Mobile, Ala.; A. Lyle King, director of marine terminals for the port of New York, and Peter J. McCulloch, member of the Hamilton, Oct., harbor commission.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

All those ducks taking life so placidly on the lakes, marshes and bayous hereabouts on their winter tour of the southland become fair game for hunters at noon tomorrow when the shotgun sportsmen tee off in quest of their bag of mallards. Although goose hunting isn't particularly popular in this area since the big birds usually go further south or linger along the Mississippi sand bars, there's always a few scattered about to tease the duck hunters.

Flights began moving in early this month, but Wednesday night's movements by the Canadian visitors were the heaviest in our memory, although we grant the oldtimers had better. The "low ceiling" Wednesday night had ducks and geese flying low, and there were many reports Thursday morning of flights of ducks seen winging through below the street-light levels. Farmers found many geese in their pastures, and the big honkers settled for rest during the day in Black Bayou and Cheniere Lake, moving on the next night.

The section of the season opening Monday at noon runs through November 25 for the first half of the split season. The second half runs from noon December 17 through January 10.

Hunters should brush up on their waterfowl hunting regulations before taking to their favorite lake or marsh. Remember, wood ducks are on the protected list once more and can't be included in the bag. Other ducks, in the aggregate (to include no more than one hooded merganser), are limited to four a day or eight in possession. Possession the first day is four.

If you know where the wily goose can be taken, the limit is five a day, or in possession, including not more than two Canadas or white-fronted, or one of each.

After the opening day, shooting on legal days can begin at half an hour before sunrise. All shooting on any day ceases at sunset for the sportsman.

The duck populations that became so critically low during the 1930s are rebuilding, principally through the efforts of sportsmen to save one of their best forms of hunting. Work in the Canadian provinces by "Ducks Unlimited," with the aid of the Canadian government, in restoration of duck breeding grounds is responsible to a great degree for the increase.

Yearly we hear hunters crying for longer seasons, bigger bag limits. Sometimes it does look like four ducks is a mighty skimpy bag for the expense that might go into taking them, but we know a lot of hunters who will be happy to get the four, yours truly included. And it's really not too expensive, unless you're one of those hunters who can afford long trips to places where the ducks are sure to be thickest and a bag just about guaranteed.

Sportsmen count it a duty to guard their hunting heritage. Any time it may be threatened by over-shooting, then's the time to make restrictions stricter. We hope the waterfowl population never again reaches those lows of the '30s.

The waste through loss of cripples is also bad, but some game loads make surer kills than others, making a hit a bird in the bag and not a cripple to escape and perish without benefit to the hunter. Winchester has a new standard 12-gauge two and three-quarter inch Magnum shell on the market that's supposed to be the very thing for ending loss by cripples. The new standard length Magnum was developed as a conservation measure, and is put out only in sizes of No. 2 and 4 shot.

Designed for maximum power to give effective kills and minimize crippling losses, the new Magnums are suitable for all well-made American guns, but should never be fired in a poorly constructed arm or one of foreign make not proof-tested to American standards.

Since sunrise and sunset has so much to do with the waterfowl season, here's the half-hour before sunrise to sunset schedule as listed by the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission:

Northeast Crushes Livingston, 44 To 28

Indians Overcome 8-Point Halftime Deficit For Win

By TED HECKATHORN

The gala Northeast homecoming crowd that nearly filled Brown Stadium to capacity last night were thrilled at halftime by the colorful fireworks display, but were more thrilled by the five-touchdown fireworks display that their gridders put on after intermission, to overcome a seven-point deficit and trounce the Livingston State Teachers eleven, 44-28.

It was the Tribe's one-two punch of quarterback Pete Chambless and halfback Jimmy Bradley that broke the Livingston Tigers' backs with a pair of third quarter tallies to put their team in front, 25-21. The support of a hard-driving forward wall from end to end, and a blocked Livingston kick by end Dalton Smith, were features of the period.

The Indians scored first for the only first - quarter touchdown less than three minutes after the game started. Recovering a Tiger fumble on the visitors' 35, the Indians drove to the 15 from where Tommy Leos burst through center for the TD. End Dan Andrews, a terror on defense all evening, booted the extra point.

Livingston tied it in the second period, on a 33-yard run after a pass interception by quarterback Verner Booth, and Larry Boswell's placement kick. They added two more tallies in the same stanza on passess from George Hagler to Bowell, and Don Finlayson to Joel Griswold. Boswell kicked both points.

Northeast's second-period touchdown came with only a minute to play in the half, when Danny Hoak electrified the throng by returning a Livingston kickoff 90 yards to the Tiger four, from where he plunged over on the next play.

To start the third quarter,Northeast took the Tiger kickoff on the 23, and went 77 yards to paydirt. Nine and 14 yard passes from Chambliss to Andrews and Bradley were the feature of the drive, capped by Chambliss' one-yard sneak to make the score read, 21-19.

Before the Teachers had a chance to worry about their dwindling lead, the Indians had scored again. Smith blocked a Tiger punt on their 21, and on the next play, Bradley took a wide lateral from Chambless and scooted over for the go-ahead marker. His kick for point was short, but it was now 25-21, with the home team leading.

Late in the third, the Tribe took over on the Livingston 35, and on the second play of the fourth period, Chambless passed to Bradley for the score. This time Jimmy's kick split the uprights, and now it was 32-21.

Northeast scored twice more in the fourth, with guard Jimmy Berry setting up both tallies by fumble recoveries. Chambliss plunged over for one from two yards out; and halfback Bob Scogin dashed 17 yards for the final six-pointer.

The Tigers scored once more before the game ended, when Booth threw a 34-yard aerial to fullback Pervy Thames that carried to the Northeast 15; and the same lad hit Boswell in the end zone with a touchdown heave. Boswell added his fourth extra point via placement.

Mack Powell and Leos, from their linebacking posts; and end Ed Lee, guard C. J. Melancon, center Charles Calhoun, and "Red" Yocum were defensive standouts all evening for the Indians, along with Smith, Berry and Andrews.

Missouri Tumbles Before Nebraska By 25-19 Margin

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 30 (AP)—Nebraska cut down Missouri with a crashing ground attack today and moved into a good position for a possible Orange Bowl bid with a 25-19 victory.

The win gave Nebraska a 3-1 record in the Big Seven.

Nebraska went 76 and 65 yards for first half touchdowns that cut the ground out from under Missouri. The Huskers never threw a pass in either of the marches.

The first was launched with four successive smashes by fullback Bob Smith, who picked up 34 yards to the Missouri 42. Six plays later Dennis Korinek scored on a 16-yard run that completely fooled Missouri.

Missouri had a 7-6 lead a few moments later when Jim Hunter scored and Jack Fox converted. Nebraska punched right back with the 65-yard march, Dan Brown scoring from the one and Smith converting for a 13-7 lead.

Wisconsin Loses Bowl Dreams As Iowa Wins, 13-7

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Oct. 30 (AP)—Iowa shook Wisconsin in a 13-7 Big Ten football surprise today to deal a fatal blow to the Badgers' Rose Bowl hopes.

Iowa rapped the Badgers with two first half touchdowns and then fought off a powerful challenge to get its first victory over Wisconsin in six years.

Alan (The Horse) Ameche, plus some dazzling passing by Jim Haluska, almost hauled Wisconsin to at least a tie but a fumbled handoff-play by the Badger pair dashed their hopes when it seemed a second touchdown was a certainty.

The misplay came on Iowa's five-yard line and Earl Smith snapped up the ball for the Hawks and that was the dismal end for Wisconsin. Iowa kept possession in the final frantic five minutes as a Dad's Day crowd of 52,185 saluted its favorite sons.

Ole Miss Socks LSU, 21-6

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 30 (AP) —Mississippi shook off first quarter fumbleitis tonight and made a bid to return to national recognition with an impressive and relentless 21-6 victory over a determined Louisiana State University.

Mississippi, cashing in on the penetrating passes of quarterback Eagle Day and some mighty alert pass defense, cast a gloom over L. S. U.'s homecoming festivities by erupting in the second, third and final quarters.

L.S.U. saved itself from a shutout in the last 41 seconds when substitute quarterback Matthew Burns heaved a 16-yard scoring pass to left end Sammy Murphy, his bench companion. First string quarterback Al Doggett came in for two chances at the conversion but failed on both.

Spoilers two weeks in a row with upsets over Texas Tech and Florida, L.S.U.'s plans of staging another were smashed by a Mississippi team on a rebound from a 6-0 loss to Arkansas last week.

Score by quarters:

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Mississippi | 0 | 7 | 7 | 7—21 |
| L.S.U. | 0 | 0 | 0 | 6— 6 |

Ohio State Barely Gets Past Threat By Northwestern

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 30 (AP)—Spunky Northwestern's pass defense, steel-like for three quarters, suddenly collapsed in the fourth period today and Dave Leggett lofted a 24-yard touchdown pitch to Bob Watkins to give No. 1 ranked Ohio State a hard won 14-7 triumph.

The Wildcats, playing before 41,650 homecoming patrons, threw a scare into 14-point favored Ohio State by holding the Associated Press' top-rated team to a 7-7 standstill until the decisive Leggett pass.

Ellis' three successive pass completions in the second period touched off a 54-yard Northwestern surge in six plays that fullback Bob Lauter capped with an 8-yard scoring smash.

Texas Slugs Back To Earn 13 To 13 Tie With S. M. U.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 30 (AP)— A fiery fighting Texas University football team — fresh from a spanking by its coaches — came from behind to tie favored Southern Methodist 13 to 13 before a Dad's Day crowd of 52,000 at Memorial Stadium here today.

Twice Texas had the ball so deep in Mustang territory that a winning score seemed certain. One, a 76-yard touchdown gallop by halfback Billy Quinn, was called back and in the final seconds Texas was once again threatening the Mustangs with their first defeat of the season in conference play.

Score by quarters:

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Texas | 0 | 0 | 7 | 6—13 |

Texas scoring: Touchdowns, Tatum, Quinn. Conversion Lansford.

NATIONALS TRIUMPH

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30 (AP)—Frank Selvy, the Furman University flash who broke just about all the collegiate scoring records last year, tallied 25 points in his professional debut tonight, but his Baltimore Bullets' teammates fell before the Syracuse Nationals 69-67 in the season opener for the National Basketball Association teams.

West Monroe Defeated, 31-0, By Haynesville

HAYNESVILLE, La., Oct. 30 (Special)—The Haynesville Golden Tornado trounced the Rebels of West Monroe High School, 31 to 0, here tonight in a triple-A conference football game that had been postponed from Friday night.

It was Haynesville's third conference win against a lone league loss, and it was West Monroe's third conference defeat.

Georgia Battles Favored Alabama To Scoreless Tie

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 30 (AP)—Georgia fullback Bobby Garrard intercepted a fourth quarter Alabama pass in the end zone here today to give the Georgians an upset 0-0 tie with the heavily favored Crimson Tide.

Garrard took the pass out of the hands of 'Bama's Corky Tharp, and raced back up the field to the 11. That ended the last of several Alabama threats, mostly engineered on the sharp passing of Bart Starr.

Starr, injured all season, was Alabama's chief threat. He had run and passed for most of the yardage to get 'Bama down to the Georgia 7 before the key pass interception.

Alabama had other scoring chances, getting to the Georgia 8 in the second quarter, but the alert Georgia defense stopped the tide each time.

Georgia's best chance ended when Joe Graff tried a long-range field goal from the Alabama 40 in the third period. It was short.

Trojans Nearer Rose Bowl With Win Over Oregon

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30 (AP) — Southern California moved a stride on toward the Rose Bowl today, overpowering an Oregon State team that had more fight than talent, 34-0.

Ringing up their fourth Pacific Conference triumph without a loss, the Trojans worked laboriously for a two-touchdown lead at the half.

Then the Trojans grabbed two Oregon State fumbles inside the Beaver 30 and cracked the game open with two more touchdowns in the first five minutes of the second half.

Southern Cal was unable to score again until just before the half ended. Halfback Jim Clayton popped loose for 40 yards to ignite a 75-yard thrust. Two passes from Frank Hall, to Gordon Duvall for 14 and to Chuck Griffith for 16, put U.S.C. on the enemy five, and Ron Calabria swept left end for the tally.

Ed Fouch, giant Trojan tackle, fell on two Beaver fumbles as the second half got under way, on the O.S.C. 23 and 28.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

All those ducks taking life so placidly on the lakes, marshes and bayous hereabouts on their winter tour of the southland become fair game for hunters at noon tomorrow when the shotgun sportsmen tee off in quest of their bag of mallards. Although goose hunting isn't particularly popular in this area since the big birds usually go further south or linger along the Mississippi sand bars, there's always a few scattered about to tease the duck hunters.

Flights began moving in early this month, but Wednesday night's movements by the Canadian visitors were the heaviest in our memory, although we grant the oldtimers had better. The "low ceiling" Wednesday night had ducks and geese flying low, and there were many reports Thursday morning of flights of ducks seen winging through below the street-light levels. Farmers found many geese in their pastures, and the big honkers settled for rest during the day in Black Bayou and Cheniere Lake, moving on the next night.

The section of the season opening Monday at noon runs through November 25 for the first half of the split season. The second half runs from noon December 17 through January 10.

Hunters should brush up on their waterfowl hunting regulations before taking to their favorite lake or marsh. Remember, wood ducks are on the protected list once more and can't be included in the bag. Other ducks, in the aggregate (to include no more than one hooded merganser), are limited to four a day or eight in possession. Possession the first day is four.

If you know where the wily goose can be taken, the limit is five a day, or in possession, including not more than two Canadas or white-fronted, or one of each.

After the opening day, shooting on legal days can begin at half an hour before sunrise. All shooting on any day ceases at sunset for the sportsman.

The duck populations that became so critically low during the 1930s are rebuilding, principally through the efforts of sportsmen to save one of their best forms of hunting. Work in the Canadian provinces by "Ducks Unlimited," with the aid of the Canadian government, in restoration of duck breeding grounds is responsible to a great degree for the increase.

Yearly we hear hunters crying for longer seasons, bigger bag limits. Sometimes it does look like four ducks is a mighty skimpy bag for the expense that might go into taking them, but we know a lot of hunters who will be happy to get the four, yours truly included. And it's really not too expensive, unless you're one of those hunters who can afford long trips to places where the ducks are sure to be thickest and a bag just about guaranteed.

Sportsmen count it a duty to guard their hunting heritage. Any time it may be threatened by over-shooting, then's the time to make restrictions stricter. We hope the waterfowl population never again reaches those lows of the '30s.

The waste through loss of cripples is also bad, but some game loads make surer kills than others, making a hit a bird in the bag and not a cripple to escape and perish without benefit to the hunter. Winchester has a new standard 12-gauge two and three-quarter inch Magnum shell on the market that's supposed to be the very thing for ending loss by cripples. The new standard length Magnum was developed as a conservation measure, and is put out only in sizes of No. 2 and 4 shot.

Designed for maximum power to give effective kills and minimize crippling losses, the new Magnums are suitable for all well-made American guns, but should never be fired in a poorly constructed arm or one of foreign make not proof-tested to American standards.

Since sunrise and sunset has so much to do with the waterfowl season, here's the half-hour before sunrise to sunset schedule as listed by the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission:

Northeast Crushes Livingston, 44 To 28

Indians Overcome 8-Point Halftime Deficit For Win

By TED HECKATHORN

The gala Northeast homecoming crowd that nearly filled Brown Stadium to capacity last night were thrilled at halftime by the colorful fireworks display, but were more thrilled by the five-touchdown fireworks display that their gridders put on after intermission, to overcome a seven-point deficit and trounce the Livington State Teachers eleven, 44-28.

It was the Tribe's one-two punch of quarterback Pete Chambless and halfback Jimmy Bradley that broke the Livingston Tigers' backs with a pair of third quarter tallies to put their team in front, 25-21. The support of a hard-driving forward wall from end to end, and a blocked Livingston kick by end Dalton Smith, were features of the period.

The Indians scored first for the only first - quarter touchdown less than three minutes after the game started. Recovering a Tiger fumble on the visitors' 35, the Indians drove to the 15 from where Tommy Leos burst through center for the TD. End Dan Andrews, a terror on defense all evening, booted the extra point.

Livingston tied it in the second period, on a 33-yard run after a pass interception by quarterback Verner Booth, and Larry Boswell's placement kick. They added two more tallies in the same stanza on passess from George Hagler to Bowell, and Don Finlayson to Joel Griswold. Boswell kicked both points.

Northeast's second-period touchdown came with only a minute to play in the half, when Danny Hoak electrified the throng by returning a Livingston kickoff 90 yards to the Tiger four, from where he plunged over on the next play.

To start the third quarter,Northeast took the Tiger kickoff on the 23, and went 77 yards to paydirt. Nine and 14 yard passes from Chambliss to Andrews and Bradley were the feature of the drive, capped by Chambliss' one-yard sneak to make the score read, 21-19.

Before the Teachers had a chance to worry about their dwindling lead, the Indians had scored again. Smith blocked a Tiger punt on their 21, and on the next play, Bradley took a wide lateral from Chambless and scooted over for the go-ahead marker. His kick for point was short, but it was now 25-21, with the home team leading.

Late in the third, the Tribe took over on the Livingston 35, and on the second play of the fourth period, Chambless passed to Bradley for the score. This time Jimmy's kick split the uprights, and now it was 32-21.

Northeast scored twice more in the fourth, with guard Jimmy Berry setting up both tallies by fumble recoveries. Chambliss plunged over for one from two yards out; and halfback Bob Scogin dashed 17 yards for the final six-pointer.

The Tigers scored once more before the game ended, when Booth threw a 34-yard aerial to fullback Pervy Thames that carried to the Northeast 15; and the same lad hit Boswell in the end zone with a touchdown heave. Boswell added his fourth extra point via placement.

Mack Powell and Leos, from their linebacking posts; and end Ed Lee, guard C. J. Melancon, center Charles Calhoun, and "Red" Yocum were defensive standouts all evening for the Indians, along with Smith, Berry and Andrews.

Missouri Tumbles Before Nebraska By 25-19 Margin

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 30 (AP)—Nebraska cut down Missouri with a crashing ground attack today and moved into a good position for a possible Orange Bowl bid with a 25-19 victory.

The win gave Nebraska a 3-1 record in the Big Seven.

Nebraska went 76 and 65 yards for first half touchdowns that cut the ground out from under Missouri. The Huskers never threw a pass in either of the marches.

The first was launched with four successive smashes by fullback Bob Smith, who picked up 34 yards to the Missouri 42. Six plays later Dennis Korinek scored on a 16-yard run that completely fooled Missouri.

Missouri had a 7-6 lead a few moments later when Jim Hunter scored and Jack Fox converted. Nebraska punched right back with the 65-yard march, Dan Brown scoring from the one and Smith converting for a 13-7 lead.

Wisconsin Loses Bowl Dreams As Iowa Wins, 13-7

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Oct. 30 (AP)—Iowa shook Wisconsin in a 13-7 Big Ten football surprise today to deal a fatal blow to the Badgers' Rose Bowl hopes.

Iowa rapped the Badgers with two first half touchdowns and then fought off a powerful challenge to get its first victory over Wisconsin in six years.

Alan (The Horse) Ameche, plus some dazzling passing by Jim Haluska, almost hauled Wisconsin to at least a tie but a fumbled handoff-play by the Badger pair dashed their hopes when it seemed a second touchdown was a certainty.

The misplay came on Iowa's five-yard line and Earl Smith snapped up the ball for the Hawks and that was the dismal end for Wisconsin. Iowa kept possession in the final frantic five minutes as a Dad's Day crowd of 52,185 saluted its favorite sons.

Ole Miss Socks LSU, 21-6

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 30 (AP) —Mississippi shook off first quarter fumbleitis tonight and made a bid to return to national recognition with an impressive and relentless 21-6 victory over a determined Louisiana State University.

Mississippi, cashing in on the penetrating passes of quarterback Eagle Day and some mighty alert pass defense, cast a gloom over L. S. U.'s homecoming festivities by erupting in the second, third and final quarters.

L.S.U. saved itself from a shutout in the last 41 seconds when substitute quarterback Matthew Burns heaved a 16-yard scoring pass to left end Sammy Murphy, his bench companion. First string quarterback Al Doggett came in for two chances at the conversion but failed on both.

Spoilers two weeks in a row with upsets over Texas Tech and Florida, L.S.U.'s plans of staging another were smashed by a Mississippi team on a rebound from a 6-0 loss to Arkansas last week.

Ohio State Barely Gets Past Threat By Northwestern

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 30 (AP)— Spunky Northwestern's pass defense, steel-like for three quarters, suddenly collapsed in the fourth period today and Dave Leggett lofted a 24-yard touchdown pitch to Bob Watkins to give No. 1 ranked Ohio State a hard won 14-7 triumph.

The Wildcats, playing before 41,650 homecoming patrons, threw a scare into 14-point favored Ohio State by holding the Associated Press' top-rated team to a 7-7 standstill until the decisive Leggett pass.

Ellis' three successive pass completions in the second period touched off a 54-yard Northwestern surge in six plays that fullback Bob Lauter capped with an 8-yard scoring smash.

Twice Texas had the ball so deep in Mustang territory that a winning score seemed certain. One, a 78-yard touchdown gallop by halfback Billy Quinn, was called back and in the final seconds Texas was once again threatening the Mustangs with their first defeat of the season in conference play.

Georgia Battles Favored Alabama To Scoreless Tie

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 30 (AP)— Georgia fullback Bobby Garrard intercepted a fourth quarter Alabama pass in the end zone here today to give the Georgians an upset 0-0 tie with the heavily favored Crimson Tide.

Garrard took the pass out of the hands of 'Bama's Corky Tharp, and raced back up the field to the 11. That ended the last of several Alabama threats, mostly engineered on the sharp passing of Bart Starr.

Starr, injured all season, was Alabama's chief threat. He had run and passed for most of the yardage to get 'Bama down to the Georgia 7 before the key pass interception.

Alabama had other scoring chances, getting to the Georgia 8 in the second quarter, but the alert Georgia defense stopped the tide each time.

Georgia's best chance ended when Joe Graff tried a long-range field goal from the Alabama 40 in the third period. It was short.

Trojans Nearer Rose Bowl With Win Over Oregon

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30 (AP) — Southern California moved a stride on toward the Rose Bowl today, overpowering an Oregon State team that had more fight than talent, 34-0.

Ringing up their fourth Pacific Conference triumph without a loss, the Trojans worked laboriously for a two-touchdown lead at the half.

Then the Trojans grabbed two Oregon State fumbles inside the Beaver 30 and cracked the game open with two more touchdowns in the first five minutes of the second half.

Southern Cal was unable to score again until just before the half ended. Halfback Jim Clayton popped loose for 40 yards to ignite a 75-yard thrust. Two passes from Frank Hall, to Gordon Duvall for 14 and to Chuck Griffith for 16, put U.S.C. on the enemy five, and Ron Calabria swept left end for the tally.

Ed Fouch, giant Trojan tackle, fell on two Beaver fumbles as the second half got under way, on the O.S.C. 23 and 28.

Stanford's Bowl Hopes Shattered By 30-26 Defeat

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif. Oct. 30 (AP) — The Washington State Cougars, blanked by Idaho last week, rode back with a vengeance today and squelched Stanford's Rose Bowl hopes under a shower of four touchdowns and a field goal, good for 30-26 Pacific Coast Conference victory.

All the scoring was packed into the first three periods with the lead tied or changing hands nine times.

The Cougars played the last three periods without fullback Duke Washington, the conference's leading ground gainer. Washington was carried off the field in a stretcher after the first play of the second quarter. By that time, he had carried the ball three times for 44 yards and set up one Cougar touchdown.

Stanford scored two of its touchdowns on quarterback bootlegs and two on passes. The Cougars scored twice on passes, once on the runback of an intercepted pass, and one on a quarterback sneak. Frank Sarno's field goal and three out of four Cougar conversions gave the northerners their winning margin.

Mat Midgets; Curtis Vs. Steddum Features

A double mat main at Kallio's Arena Tuesday brings together midgets Tom Thumb and Tito Infante in the first half; and last week's ferocious rivals, Jack Curtis and "Wild Bill" Steddum in the other.

Little Thumb was born in England, came to Canada at the age of nine, and has worked at truck-driving, swimming, weight lifting, and carnival roller skating. Not permitted in the army or navy because of his size, Tom became a merchant seaman. After the war, he tried professional wrestling, liked it, and is now considered a tough mat man. Called the "Hercules of the midget grapplers," Thumb weighs 105, and stands 46 inches tall.

Infante is a Mexican, and naturally apired to be a matador. Since his size prevented this, he became one of the better midget wrestlers, and since has been in great demand by promoters throughout the United States. Tito is a scientific wrestler but is able to mete out plenty of punishment.

Curtis and Steddum were on opposite tag teams last week, and their bloody slugfests brought the police into action, after the brawls and the main event were continued out of the ring.

Curtis outslugged the Waco husky in every melee, and won the match, along with his partner, "Big Boy" Cronin, from Steddum and Rube Wright.

A return match between the two is certain to be another rip-roaring tussle, for Steddum always resorts to villainy, and Jack will only put up with it for a short while.

Villanueva Leads Uclans Over California, 27 To 6

By RUSS NEWLAND

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 30 (AP)— Primo Villanueva, shifty left halfback, raced to two touchdowns and engineered two more to give the U. C. L. A. Bruins a 27-6 victory over the California Bears today in their annual coast conference football clash.

While 64,000 fans looked on, Villanueva galloped 40 yards and then went over from the three-yard marker for U. C. L. A.'s first period touchdown. It concluded a 75-yard drive on eight ground plays.

In the second quarter, Villanueva thrilled the crowd with a 26-yard broken field run for the Bruins' next score. The entire scoring drive was good for 59 yards in seven plays.

Line-cracking fullback Bob Davenport dived over center for a fourth period score, ending a 64-yard thrust in seven plays. Villanueva completed two long passes in the march.

Army Gets Scare Before Squeezing Through Virginia

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)— Army's reputation as a national power suffered a rude shock today when the Cadets had to fight for their very lives to a come-from-behind 21-20 victory over an inspired Virginia team that wasn't supposed to come close.

Virginia rocked Army back on its heels with Herbie Hartwell, a workhorse back, leading the surge, but the gallant southerners didn't have quite enough to win. As the game ended lefty Whitey Clarke's 25-yard pass fell in the end zone in a tingling last gasp effort.

It was a close, hard-fought struggle all the way, with a missed conversion try by Stan Knowles after the first Virginia touchdown in the second period proving to be the margin of defeat. Ralph Chesnauskas' three conversions saved the day for the Cadets who had been fifth ranked in the nation in last week's Associated Press poll.

Kentucky Warms Late To Wallop Villanova, 28-3

LEXINGTON Ky. Oct. 30 (AP)— Kentucky, cold as the finger-numbing 37 degree weather for a half, struck with two lightning thrusts to cement a 28-3 football victory over winless Villanova today.

A four-touchdown favorite, Kentucky saw fumbles by fullback Dick Rushing stop two advances and then spotted Villanova a 3-0 lead before it burst out with two touchdowns in the last minute and a half before intermission.

But, it was the same Rushing who threw the key block that sprang little Dick Mitchell for a 24-yard gallop around right end for Kentucky's first marker.

And, in the third period Rushing atoned for his errors as he flattened two Villanova defenders as Mitchell rambled 16 yards for Kentucky's third touchdown.

Kentucky got its other touchdown on a two-yard plunge by Delmar Hughes seconds before the half and in a 26-yard sprint by Billy Mitchell in the final.

Notre Dame Ekes Out 6 To 0 Win Over Navy Rivals

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30 (AP) —A penalty-plagued Notre Dame team cashed in on a perfect pass play and the traditional luck of the Irish to bury determined Navy 6-0 in the mud of Baltimore Memorial Stadium today.

The payoff pass, a 46-yard toss from Ralph Guglielmi to speedster Jim Morse came after five minutes of play in the second quarter. The luck which had been going against Notre Dame's Irish, turned in their favor at a crucial moment in the third period and prevented a Navy score.

The Midshipmen refusing to waver although they took somewhat of a manhandling in the first half, came back with a brilliant passing attack with George Welsh throwing the muddy ball. Eventually, after a series of mishaps and fumbles, that gave Navy a first down on the Notre Dame one.

On the second play Bob Craig pounded across the goal line but he fumbled as a horde of Notre Dame tacklers hit him and Guglielmi came up with the ball for a touchback. Navy never got another real chance.

Louisiana Tech Stumbles Before S. L. I., 25 To 0

LAFAYETTE, La., Oct. 30 (AP) — Southwestern Louisiana Institute, with halfback Louis Roth scoring three touchdowns, upset favored Louisiana Tech 25-0 in a Gulf States Conference game here today.

The loss was Tech's first in conference play. SLI, which opened the season by dropping three games, has now won three straight.

SLI scored the first two times it got the ball and was never threatened. After a Tech fumble, Roth scored on a 22-yard run. Frank Foreman converted. In the second quarter, Roth pulled down a 32-yard pass from quarterback Sid White for another score.

White, deep in his territory, tossed another long second quarter pass to Roth, raced to the end zone, completing a 76-yard play.

Homecoming Stirs NLSC

Memories ran rife in Monroe yesterday as hundreds of former graduates flooded back to the campus of Northeast State amidst festivities that marked Homecoming Day officially and brought life and gaiety in its wake. Monroe was embraced in the happy affair with townspeople being treated to a 24-unit parade and the annual homecoming football game, played in Brown Stadium last night against the Livingston (Ala.) State Teachers College Tigers. Reigning as queen of the day - long celebration was Nell Rogers, West Monroe co-ed in her second year of home economics study.

Queen Nell, Maid of Honor Jo Ann McDonald, of Monroe, and their court smiled beautifully, with the refreshing charm peculiar to pretty young girls, on a day packed with festivity from morning to night. Monroe saw a parade, gaily dressed co-eds and important looking college men, freshmen in kiddie costumes and the football game, together with pre-game and halftime special shows.

In the middle of it all were the alumni, coming back to renew friendships in the happy surroundings of festival. They had their business meeting at 6 p.m. and for the rest it was fun. From parade time at 2 p.m. until "Goodnight Sweetheart" at the homecoming dance, it was memories of college days passed by for the grads of other years. The Class of 1934, who attended Northeast State when it was still called Ouachita Parish Junior College, were special guests.

The honors were centered in the big pre-game and halftime shows during the football game. Pre-game ceremonies began when at 7:40 p.m. the Northeast State band, under the baton of Bill Harrington, captain and drum major, struck up the beat that brought themselves, the Gold Jackets, and the entire Northeast State ROTC battalion to the field. The band and Gold Jackets, student marching and pep squad composed entirely of co-eds took positions on the west side of the field while the battalion, under Maj. Derwood Cann, Jr., professor of military science and tactics, marched to the east side. With all at attention, the colors of the United States were brought forward by a special ROTC color guard, composed of Leonard L. Shlenker, Jr., and James W. Saxon, color bearers; James A. Richard and Billy M. Gregory, color guards. The color guard presented arms before the crowd and the Northeast band played the National Anthem. The field was cleared and Perry Elder, president of the Northeast State student body, welcomed the alumni back to their alma mater. Mrs. Jason H. Johnson, Sr., responded on behalf of the alumni, saying it was grand to be back.

At halftime, Queen Nell and her court were presented. Having watched the game from their especially constructed throne on the west side of the playing field, the court went to the east side just before halftime. The band and Gold Jackets marched onto the field and formed a royal aisle stretching from west to east down which the court could be escorted. Band twirlers Faye Davis and Glenda Wright then led the way as the four maids and their escorts walked across the field to the musical accompaniment of "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise." They were introduced to the crowd by Joe Barry Mullins, director of the Northeast State band who was in charge of the pre-game and halftime shows.

The maids and their escorts were Frances Hooper, Winnsboro, escorted by Bill Bradley, Bismarck, Mo.; Joan McPherson, Oak Grove, escorted by Ed Lee Oak Grove; Martha Jane Oden Monroe, escorted by her brother, Bobby Joe Oden, Monroe. Barbara Rogers, twin sister of Queen Nell Rogers, escorted by Jim Knox, Winnsboro.

While the band played "I'll See You In My Dreams," the twirlers brought Maid of Honor Jo Ann McDonald and her escort, Joe Milner of Monroe, to the crowd to be introduced. The queen, escorted by Ted Jones of Baton Rouge, was then presented while the band played "With Sword and Lance."

Miss Rogers was crowned Queen of 1954 Homecoming by James L. Ewing, III. After the ceremony, all stood at attention for the Northeast State Alma Mater.

The band and Gold Jackets performed drill exercises after the coronation, forming a block "I" for Indians; a diamond in salute of the queen and her court; and an arrowhead, to spur the Indian grid squad to second half power. During these formations Northeast State twirlers gave a special exhibition. The girls, Miss Davis and Miss Wright, did unison routines on one side of the formations, while two men twirlers, Charles Swanson and David Tschabold, did acrobatic twirling on the other.

The Gold Jackets were under the field leadership of Grace Glass, with squad leaders being Betty Craig, Pat Patterson, Charlene Miller, Mary Jane Dreasler, Beatrice Varino, Sally Ann Hayes, and Carolyn McKay

After the band and Gold Jackets left the field, the lights were turned off for a fireworks display featuring aerial patterns. The fireworks were under the direction of W. B. Rickerson assistant professor of engineering.

The parade, held in the afternoon, wound through the business district of the Twin Cities. It was composed of the Northeast State band, in the lead, followed by the Gold Jackets, then four convertibles carrying the queen and her court. Freshmen dressed as children, with the boys looking like little girls and the girls like boys, added the comic touch. They were followed by floats entered by campus organizations who vied for the trophy offered by the Student Council to the one rated most attractive by judges not affiliated with the college. Sigma Alpha Chi fraternity's "Wedding Ring" was the prize winner, with honorable mention going to the float sponsored by Demeter, national agricultural honor society.

Stanford's Bowl Hopes Shattered By 30-26 Defeat

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif. Oct. 30 (AP) — The Washington State Cougars, blanked by Idaho last week, rode back with a vengeance today and squelched Stanford's Rose Bowl hopes under a shower of four touchdowns and a field goal, good for 30-26 Pacific Coast Conference victory.

All the scoring was packed into the first three periods with the lead tied or changing hands nine times.

The Cougars played the last three periods without fullback Duke Washington, the conference's leading ground gainer. Washington was carried off the field in a stretcher after the first play of the second quarter. By that time, he had carried the ball three times for 44 yards and set up one Cougar touchdown.

Stanford scored two of its touchdowns on quarterback bootlegs and two on passes. The Cougars scored twice on passes, once on the runback of an intercepted pass, and one on a quarterback sneak. Frank Sarno's field goal and three out of four Cougar conversions gave the northerners their winning margin.

Mat Midgets; Curtis Vs. Steddum Features

A double mat main at Kallio's Arena Tuesday brings together midgets Tom Thumb and Tito Infante in the first half; and last week's ferocious rivals, Jack Curtis and "Wild Bill" Steddum in the other.

Little Thumb was born in England, came to Canada at the age of nine, and has worked at truck-driving, swimming, weight lifting, and carnival roller skating. Not permitted in the army or navy because of his size, Tom became a merchant seaman. After the war, he tried professional wrestling, liked it, and is now considered a tough mat man. Called the "Hercules of the midget grapplers," Thumb weighs 105, and stands 46 inches tall.

Infante is a Mexican, and naturally apired to be a matador. Since his size prevented this, he became one of the better midget wrestlers, and since has been in great demand by promoters throughout the United States. Tito is a scientific wrestler but is able to mete out plenty of punishment.

Curtis and Steddum were on opposite tag teams last week, and their bloody slugfests brought the police into action, after the brawls and the main event were continued out of the ring.

Curtis outslugged the Waco husky in every melee, and won the match, along with his partner, "Big Boy" Cronin, from Steddum and Rube Wright.

A return match between the two is certain to be another rip-roaring tussle, for Steddum always resorts to villainy, and Jack will only put up with it for a short while.

Army Gets Scare Before Squeezing Through Virginia

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)— Army's reputation as a national power suffered a rude shock today when the Cadets had to fight for their very lives to a come-from-behind 21-20 victory over an inspired Virginia team that wasn't supposed to come close.

Virginia rocked Army back on its heels with Herbie Hartwell, a workhorse back, leading the surge, but the gallant southerners didn't have quite enough to win. As the game ended lefty Whitey Clarke's 25-yard pass fell in the end zone in a tingling last gasp effort.

It was a close, hard-fought struggle all the way, with a missed conversion try by Stan Knowles after the first Virginia touchdown in the second period proving to be the margin of defeat. Ralph Chesnauskas' three conversions saved the day for the Cadets who had been fifth ranked in the nation in last week's Associated Press poll.

LEXINGTON Ky., Oct. 30 (AP)— Kentucky, cold as the finger-numbing 37 degree weather for a half, struck with two lightning thrusts to cement a 28-3 football victory over winless Villanova today.

A four - touchdown favorite, Kentucky saw fumbles by fullback Dick Rushing stop two advances and then spotted Villanova a 3-0 lead before it burst out with two touchdowns in the last minute and a half before intermission.

And, in the third period Rushing atoned for his errors as he flattened two Villanova defenders as Mitchell rambled 10 yards for Kentucky's third touchdown.

Kentucky got its other touchdown on a two-yard plunge by Delmar Hughes seconds before the half and in a 26-yard sprint by Billy Mitchell in the final.

Notre Dame Ekes Out 6 To 0 Win Over Navy Rivals

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30 (AP) —A penalty-plagued Notre Dame team cashed in on a perfect pass play and the traditional luck of the Irish to bury determined Navy 6-0 in the mud of Baltimore Memorial Stadium today.

The payoff pass, a 46-yard toss from Ralph Guglielmi to speedster Jim Morse came after five minutes of play in the second quarter. The luck which had been going against Notre Dame's Irish, turned in their favor at a crucial moment in the third period and prevented a Navy score.

The Midshipmen refusing to waver although they took somewhat of a manhandling in the first half, came back with a brilliant passing attack with George Welsh throwing the muddy ball. Eventually, after a series of mishaps and fumbles, that gave Navy a first down on the Notre Dame one.

On the second play Bob Craig pounded across the goal line but he fumbled as a horde of Notre Dame tacklers hit him and Guglielmi came up with the ball for a touchback. Navy never got another real chance.

West Virginia Machine Upset By Pitt, 13 To 10

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct 30 (AP)—Two arrow-straight passes by sophomore Corny Salvaterra in the final half punctured West Virginia's perfect season and bowl hopes today as resurging Pittsburgh scored a 13-10 upset victory at Mountaineer Field.

The 190-pound sharpshooter hit his sophomore battery mate, Ambrose Bagamery, from nine yards out late in the third period and then connected with towering end Fred Glatz on a four-yard bullet pass into the end zone to clinch the game with two minutes and 22 seconds to play.

Both touchdown strokes wiped out leads by the West Virginians, who scored a 19-yard field goal by center Chick Donaldson with a second to play in the opening half and who added a touchdown midway in the fourth period on a four-yard sweep by fullback Joe Marconi.

The Mountaineers had a 10-7 lead until Salvaterra, a brilliant field general who is a double threat as passer and runner, marshalled the winning 65-yard drive from the kickout.

It was the third straight victory for the Panthers, rallying to a fine season under interim coach Tom Hamilton after losing the first three games.

Gators Nose Out Maroons On TD By Big Lineman

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Oct. 30 (AP) —Sophomore tackle Buster Hill grabbed a teammate's fumble in the end zone for a touchdown and a 7-0 Florida victory over Mississippi State today that kept Florida in the running for the Southeastern Conference football title.

Florida's Gators have won four SEC games — the first season they ever have done so well — and lost one.

The scoring fumble started with a wide sweep by halfback Jackie Simpson from the State 9 just before halftime. Simpson dropped the ball just as he was about to cross the goal, and Hill — who was down to help block — was in position to snuggle it in his arms.

Ed Bass kicked the conversion, and that was all the scoring, but the Gators had to make two goal line stands inside their 10 in the late minutes to keep Mississippi State from making the same kind of comeback it did in upsetting Alabama a week ago.

Florida's line play was at its best of the season. Steve Delatorre, the Gator center, more than held his own with Mississippi State's Hal Easterwood, who was last week's Associated Press lineman of the week.

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 30 (AP)—Duke, behind 20 points in the third period, climaxed a whirlwind rally by scoring in the last 30 seconds to defeat Georgia Tech, 21-20, today before a cheering crowd of 33,000.

Guard Jimmy Nelson's three conversions proved the difference.

The Blue Devils, on the defensive most of the first half, saw Georgia Tech score twice in the second period after the Yellow Jackets had twice been stopped inches short of the Duke goal.

Georgia Tech scored with four minutes remaining in the second period when reserve quarterback Bill Brigman passed 43 yards to halfback Paul Rotenberry.

In the last minute of the second period Georgia Tech scored again when Dickie Mattison went over from the one. An 18-yard-pass play from quarterback Wade Mitchell to end Bill Sennett accounted for the last Tech touchdown in the third quarter.

Duke roared to life by taking the next kickoff and rolled 66 yards with quarterback Jerry Barger passing to Jerry Kocourek from the 11 for the tally.

Mitchell fumbled a few minutes later and Duke reserve fullback Sam Ebert recovered on the Tech 35. Aided by a 15-yard penalty for roughing the kicker, Duke rolled to the Tech three from where fullback Bryant Aldridge crashed over.

The Sooners added an insurance touchdown on a 51-yard drive in six plays featured by fullback Bob Burris' 39-yard run to the one after taking a pass from halfback Tommy McDonald.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Oct. 30 (AP)—Sophomore tackle Buster Hill grabbed a teammate's fumble in the end zone for a touchdown and a 7-0 Florida victory over Mississippi State today that kept Florida in the running for the Southeastern Conference football title.

Florida's Gators have won four SEC games — the first season they ever have done so well — and lost one.

The scoring fumble started with a wide sweep by halfback Jackie Simpson from the State 9 just before halftime. Simpson dropped the ball just as he was about to cross the goal, and Hill — who was down to help block — was in position to snuggle it in his arms.

Ed Bass kicked the conversion, and that was all the scoring, but the Gators had to make two goal line stands inside their 10 in the late minutes to keep Mississippi State from making the same kind of comeback it did in upsetting Alabama a week ago.

Florida's line play was at its best of the season. Steve Delatorre, the Gator center, more than held his own with Mississippi State's Hal Easterwood, who was last week's Associated Press lineman of the week.

Christensen was fouled in the act of shooting by Boston's Ed MacCauley as the final buzzer sounded. He also made a technical foul to provide the Royals with their final three point margin.

Penn State Mauls Quakers, 35-13, In Television Battle

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30 (AP)—A Penn State football team that had too much of everything overpowered hapless Pennsylvania today 35-13 before 33,126 in Franklin Field and the national television audience.

The Nittany Lions, bidding again for top ranking in the east after two losses, powered their way to two touchdowns after handing Penn an early score, led 14-7 at the half and added to that margin in the final two periods.

Fleet Lenny Moore, Penn State's Negro halfback, was the sharpshooting ace of the Penn State scoring squad, racking up three touchdowns, one of them a 61-yard scramble down the sidelines and another a 57-yard sprint with an intercepted pass. But it was Bill Kane, a reserve halfback, who got the Lions on the victory road after Penn had scored first.

Kane began in the second period chopping out substantial gains through the line and broke loose for 53 yards to the Penn seven to set up the tying score. After that there was no doubt of the Lions' superiority.

Unbeaten U. S. Quint Wins 4th In Tourney

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 30 (AP) -The United States, represented by the sharpshooting Peoria Caterpillars, produced a high scoring and tight defensive display today to defeat Canada 84-50 in the second World Basketball Tournament.

The Peoria team, somewhat tired after yesterday's gruelling played a man-to-man defense which kept the Canadians from driving in under the boards.

Meanwhile, Ed Solomon, with 19 points, sparked the United States' attack which piled up a 47-30 halftime bulge was even stronger in the second half. Bert Born tallied 15 points for the winners.

The triumph was the fourth straight without a loss for the United States in the finals. Brazil, idle today, is only other unbeaten team in the eight entry competition. It has a 3-0 record.

Sooners Forced To Fight From Behind To Triumph

By FRANK PITMAN

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 30 (AP)—Trailing for three quarters, Oklahoma's No. 2 ranked Sooners struck for two touchdowns behind savage line play today to win their 15th straight victory by jarring Colorado 13-6.

Left halfback Buddy Leake ran 11 yards for Oklahoma's tying touchdown and kicked the extra point to put the Sooners in front with 13 minutes to play. The Sooners added an insurance touchdown on a 51-yard drive in six plays featured by fullback Bob Burris' 39-yard run to the one after taking a pass from halfback Tommy McDonald.

Colorado, a two-touchdown underdog, rolled to a 6-0 lead with 6:35 minutes to play in the second quarter on tailback Cardoll Hardy's screen pass to wingback Frank Bernardi on a 19-yard scoring play. Colorado got its chance when Oklahoma lost the ball on its 42 because they had 12 players on the field on a fourth down running play with two yards to go.

Oklahoma struck back with the ensuing kickoff on a 14-play drive down to Colorado's two where the half ended. Leake was stopped on the scrimmage line on the final play of the period.

The teams fought savagely through a scoreless third quarter with Colorado driving to Oklahoma's 12 for the deepest penetration by either team.

The Sooners moved ahead 7-6 early in the fourth on Leake's placement kick after Oklahoma drove 88 yards in 14 ground plays for a touchdown on Leake's 11-yard right end run.

Oklahoma ran the margin to 13-6 on a 51-yadd march in six plays, featured by a 39-yard pass and run play from McDonald to Burris to the one. Quarterback Pat O'Neal sneaked over with 4:06 minutes of play left.

Use Of Ballot To End Segregation Is NAACP Recipe

FERRIDAY, October 30 (Special) -Louisiana Negro leaders who wound up a two-day session here Saturday were told that the best way to break down segregation and end discrimination is through use of the ballot.

Behind that advice was Rev. A. L. Davis of New Orleans, president of the Orleans Progressive Voters' League, and one of the principal speakers at the state conference of the Louisiana division of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which met in the new Sevier-Rosenwald colored high school.

His recommendation that the state conference place high on its 1954-55 program a drive to reach a goal of 200,000 Negro registered voters, brought enthusiastic applause from the some 300 delegates at the session.

In other action the conference passed a resolution opposing a proposed state constitutional amendment to keep public school segregation, which it said "deals with the placing of schools under the police power of the state."

A report read to delegates said that one reason for the fact that some persons had not supported segregation was fear of being socially ostracized. Some Negro opponents of integration were described as persons with "vested interests" in segregation.

The state NAACP meeting which wound up Saturday morning with the election of Doretha Combre, Lake Charles, as president of the conference, succeeding Dr. E. A. Johnson, who resigned, because of ill health, was the first session since the U. S. Supreme Court handed down its historic ruling ending public school segregation.

Legislators hope to get around the Supreme Court ruling with the proposed amendment, No. 16, on the ballot next Tuesday.

It would try to assure separate classes by putting education under the inherent police or sovereign power of the state.

Among resolutions passed at the meetings presided over by Leonard P. Avery, Baton Rouge attorney and executive secretary of the state conference were:

Transportation: "Conference went on record as condemning all types of racial segregation in public transportation: Education: Called on State Board of Education to immediately make plans to establish policies to implement the decision of the Supreme conference of N. A. A. C. P. to work increasingly with the public school officials at all levels to bring about full integration. Anti segregation: "Collectively and individually pledged ourselves to agressiveness, continue the fight against all forms of segreation in the state of Louisiana.

Unionism: "Resolved that Louisiana State Conference of Branches of N. A. A. C. P. calls upon all labor unions to negotiate strong anti-discrimination clauses into their contracts and to provide for vigorous enforcements of these non-discrimination provisions.

Anti communism: state conference of the NAACP, as believers in democratic system reaffirms our refection of communism as an anti-democratic way of life and again call upon our branches to be constantly on the alert for attempts of Communists and their sympathizers or supporters; or supporters of any totalitarian system to infiltrate and gain control of any units of our organization."

More than 300 delegates from throughout the state and guests attended the annual meeting and a public mass meeting Friday night drew approximately 750 parishes.

Officers elected Saturday were: Doretha Combre, Lake Charles, president; A. J. Chapital New Orleans, vice-presidents, attorney Leonard P. Avery, secretary, Baton Rouge; B. J. Stanley, treasurer, Baton Rouge and the following members of the executive board of the N. A. C. P. John G. Lewis, Baton Rouge; R. B. Millpaugh, Opelousas. A. D. Smith, Ruston, J. N. Blakenship, Saline; Marshall Johnson, Plaquemine; Lawrence H. Conley, Lake Charles, J. H. Scott.

The final day's session opened Saturday morning with a talk by Rev. T. J. Jemison, of Baton Rouge pastor of the Mount Zion Baptist Church and a Negro leader of the state, who spoke on action to be taken for N. A. A. C. P. and anti-segregation and integration on local levels.

Two national officers attended the meeting. They were Gloser Current of New York, director of branches, and U. Simpson Tate of Dallas, regional counsel.

WINNING FLOAT—Sigma Alpha Chi Fraternity captured highest honors yesterday in the Northeast State Homecoming parade which preceded the clash between the Northeast Indians and the Alabama State Teachers College Tigers. The Student Council awarded a gold loving cup to the fraternity whose float of blue and white depicted a ring with an inscription on the side, "With this ring we take the Tigers." The pretty college coed seen on the float is Miss Marianne Buce, Sigma Alpha Chi sponsor and last year's fraternity sweetheart. (Northeast State photo by Bobby Oden.)

Pranksters Go Easy On Trick Or Treat Night

It was not determined last night whether the cold wave that gripped the Twin Cities was responsible, or whether Halloweeners are showing a preference for the treat instead of the trick, but as the witching hour approached no reports had been received of serious damage inflicted by pranksters. (Due to October 31 falling on Sunday this year, city police authorities announced Friday that Halloween should be celebrated a day early.)

However, spooks, goblins, devils, and what have you, were said to be out in a goodly number, knocking on neighborhood doors and repeating the phrase "trick or treat," which has been handed down from previous generations. According to some of the small fry they received quite a variety of goodies, and enough of them to furnish a least one "tummy ache" apiece.

Guardsmen Watch While Night Spot Men Make Bonds

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Oct. 30 (AP)—Operators of three Forrest County night spots arrested last night in raids had to get past National Guardsmen today, standing guard to make sure the men weren't released without posting bond.

County Judge William Haralson ordered the guards after a wrangle which started last night when Hattiesburg attorney Earle Wingo obtained permission from Sheriff Abb Payne to have Vaden L. Loper released on $750 bond.

Guardsmen stopped Loper's release. They contended he was a prisoner of the National Guard and not of the sheriff. Loper was released later when Judge Haralson approved a $3,000 bond.

Monroe Man Named

Other council officers chosen were Percy A. Lemoine, Alexandria, first vice president, Walter H. Johnson, Monroe, second vice president.

Officers elected Saturday were: Doretha Combre, Lake Charles, president; A. J. Chapital New Orleans, vice-president, attorney Leonard P. Avery, secretary, Baton Rouge; B. J. Stanley, treasurer, Baton Rouge and the following members of the executive board of the N. A. C. P. John G. Lewis, Baton Rouge; R. B. Millpaugh, Opelousas. A. D. Smith, Ruston, J. N. Blakenship, Saline: Marshall Johnson, Plaquemine; Lawrence H. Conley, Lake Charles, J. H. Scott.

The final day's session opened Saturday morning with a talk by Rev. T. J. Jemison, of Baton Rouge pastor of the Mount Zion Baptist Church and a Negro leader of the state, who spoke on action to be taken for N. A. A. C. P. and anti-segregation and integration on local levels.

Two national officers attended the meeting. They were Gloser Current of New York, director of branches, and U. Simpson Tate of Dallas, regional counsel.

WINNING FLOAT—Sigma Alpha Chi Fraternity captured highest honors yesterday in the Northeast State Homecoming parade which preceded the clash between the Northeast Indians and the Alabama State Teachers College Tigers. The Student Council awarded a gold loving cup to the fraternity whose float of blue and white depicted a ring with an inscription on the side, "With this ring we take the Tigers." The pretty college coed seen on the float is Miss Marianne Buce, Sigma Alpha Chi sponsor and last year's fraternity sweetheart. (Northeast State photo by Bobby Oden.)

Two Banks Merge In Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 30 (AP) —Shreveport bank officials today said the U. S. comptroller of currency has approved the merger of the Commercial Bank and the Continental-American Bank and Trust Co.

Pranksters Go Easy On Trick Or Treat Night

It was not determined last night whether the cold wave that gripped the Twin Cities was responsible, or whether Halloweeners are showing a preference for the treat instead of the trick, but as the witching hour approached no reports had been received of serious damage inflicted by pranksters. (Due to October 31 falling on Sunday this year, city police authorities announced Friday that Halloween should be celebrated a day early.)

However, spooks, goblins, devils, and what have you, were said to be out in a goodly number, knocking on neighborhood doors and repeating the phrase "trick or treat," which has been handed down from previous generations. According to some of the small fry they received quite a variety of goodies, and enough of them to furnish a least one "tummy ache" apiece.

Guardsmen Watch While Night Spot Men Make Bonds

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Oct. 30 (AP)—Operators of three Forrest County night spots arrested last night in raids had to get past National Guardsmen today, standing guard to make sure the men weren't released without posting bond.

County Judge William Haralson ordered the guards after a wrangle which started last night when Hattiesburg attorney Earle Wingo obtained permission from Sheriff Abb Payne to have Vaden L. Loper released on $750 bond.

Guardsmen stopped Loper's release. They contended he was a prisoner of the National Guard and not of the sheriff. Loper was released later when Judge Haralson approved a $3,000 bond.

Monroe Man Named

WOW!

YOU AIN'T SEEN NOTHING YET!

Wait'll You See The '55 FORDS Coming Within The Next Few Days

Our sales staff saw the '55 Fords, the genuinely new cars, yesterday in New Orleans . . . and even the most conservative salesman was overwhelmed. Look at the rest, but wait for the best . . . the '55 Fords . . . longer, lower, roomier, more powerful than ever . . . made by the manufacturers who since 1932 have built 14 million V-8 motors . . . proven for your benefit. That figure is more V-8's by millions than all other manufacturers combined have made.

WOW!
YOU AIN'T SEEN NOTHING YET!
Wait'll You See The '55 FORDS
Coming Within The Next Few Days

Our sales staff saw the '55 Fords, the genuinely new cars, yesterday in New Orleans . . . and even the most conservative salesman was overwhelmed. Look at the rest, but wait for the best . . . the '55 Fords . . . longer, lower, roomier, more powerful than ever . . . made by the manufacturers who since 1932 have built 14 million V-8 motors . . . proven for your benefit. That figure is more V-8's by millions than all other manufacturers combined have made.

The Rev. H. C. Bennett, pastor, read the double-ring rites.

An autumn color scheme was used in the church decorations and the costumes of the bride's attendants. Centering the altar platform was a wedding arch entwined with autumn leaves and giant chrysanthemums in shades of bronze and yellow. On each side stood wedding baskets filled with large mums and pompon chrysanthemums in the same colors. Tall yellow tapers burned in the traditional seven-branched wedding candelabra on each side of the altar also. Completing the altar decorations were banks of palms and commodore greenery in the emerald and jade tones, combined with autumn foliage.

A Dutch cap held her veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet designed as a wedding ring formed of white praelanopis orchids and stephanotis. Her only jewelry was an heirloom necklace of dainty cameos.

Their full floor - length skirts were worn over hoops. Modified Juliet caps matched their gowns. The junior bridesmaids wore silk taffeta frocks in a lighter shade of gold, designed with bouffant skirts and shirred off - the - shoulder necklines and cap sleeves. They wore matching caps.

Bouquets of the senior bridesmaids were crescent shaped and were created of large mums and feathered mums in the autumn tones, combined with brown velvet leaves. Junior attendants carried ring basket bouquets of chrysanthemums in the same colors.

The bridegroom was attended by Lt. William Merrill Greenwell, Jr. of Houston as best man. Groomsmen were Lt. Roy F. Petersen of Ramsey, Ill.; Walter M. Johnson of Fort Worth; Lt. Donald M. Klemm of Youngstown, Ohio. Lt. Thomas L. Hosch of Chicago, Ill., was usher.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Boswell chose a frock of rose beige lace, worn with a lace-edged net stole of the same hue and long gloves in a deeper shade. Her corsage was of autumn-hued chrysanthemums. Mrs. Pettit, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a blue lace waltz - length gown enhanced by a corsage of mums in fall colors.

Reception Held

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Community House. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Roy G. Carter and members of the wedding party, with the couple and their parents, formed the receiving line.

In an Hawaiian setting that featured flower be-decked tables and leis for each guest present, the Altrusa club members met at the Rendezvous on Thursday evening for their regular dinner meeting and to hear Mrs. Irene Reid discuss the legendary beauty of the Hawaiian Islands. Mrs. Yvonne Herron, International Relations chairman, introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Reid told of her visit to the Royal Hawaiian Hotel on Waikiki Beach. She said the beach was lovely, and told of the lovely orchids growing wild on the beach. She also attended an "Aloha Going Native Hawaiian Party" which included Hula dancing.

"I hope," she said, "that my lei which I tossed overboard by custom, as we left Diamond Head, drifted back into shore—if it did, native superstition has it that I will return again to the island. Mrs. Reid used slides to illustrate her talk on the "Hawaiian Islands."

News From The Public Library

The output of colorful and exciting fall books is increasing each week as the publishers really get into the publishing season and this week's additions to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library offers a number of very worthwhile titles. Probably the most important piece of fiction is "The View from Pompey's Head" by Hamilton Basso. This novel encompasses a broad sweep of contemporary society and ranges from the worlds of law and publishing in Manhattan to a detailed examination of life in a small southern city. It is the story of Anson Page and the forces which shaped him. It is a mature and thoughtful book and will be rewarding reading. "Roanoke Renegade" by Don Tracy is a vivid fast paced tale, set in Elizabethan England and on the lost colony of Roanoke. Mr. Tracy uses the known facts of history and then creates an ending to suit himself. Another new historical novel is "Leopards and Lilies" by Alfred Duggan. This book has its setting in England at the time of the Baron's revolt against King John and the signing of the Magna Carta. Mr. Duggan believes that truth really is "Stranger Than Fiction" therefore he does not tamper with the facts of history, but writes his story as it actually happened to make a most exciting book.

A lovely little book which would make an excellent story for a club program is "No Tears for Christmas" by Helen Topping Miller. It is a tale of how the spirit of Christmas brotherhood came to an old plantation in Civil war days.

Among the new books of nonfiction are two biographies of General McArthur. One is called "MacArthur, 1949-1951". The author is Maj. General Charles A. Willoughby, who served as MacArthur's chief of intelligence during those years. It is a startling and enlightening book. The other book is called "The Untold Story of Douglas MacArthur" and was written by Frazier Hunt. The author has been a friend of General MacArthur since the days of World War I. He has painted an excellent portrait of the real MacArthur.

Sunday School teachers will be happy to know that we have a new copy of the Douglass Sunday School lessons for 1955 for each of the four branches. A book which should be very helpful for religious workers with young people is "Worship Services for Teenagers" by Alice A. Bays. This book contains thirty seven completely planned services for courageous living.

Foreign Woman To Study HD Work

Mrs. Angelita Garcia, a supervisor of the Home Demonstration work in the Philippines, will spend three days in Ouachita Parish observing home demonstration work.

She will see some of the work Mrs. Swift is doing with the women of the Twin Cities November 2. She will visit KNOE during the Mildred Swift show and will be interviewed on KNOE at 4 p.m.

Wednesday morning she will visit with me in some rural homes, seeing some of the work being done with individuals. In the afternoon, she will observe Lakeview Home Demonstration Club, seeing the work of the organized groups.

Thursday she will attend 4-H Club meetings with Mrs. Audrey Dawson and see the program being carried on with the girls and boys in Ouachita.

It's Record Time in Home Demonstration Clubs

At the Ouachita Parish Home Demonstration Council meeting November 20th, Mrs. George Tyner will make the award to the home demonstration club having carried on the best program of work in 1954.

Mr. Tyner's company is the donor of the prize for the best club—a silver coffee service. The score sheet committee composed of home demonstration members from the various sections of the parish will meet November 9th at 9:00 a.m. to check and compile the records sent in by each club.

Remember — one hundred points is given for getting the records in on or before November 1st. (Sterlington club's records are in). Before bringing the records to the agent's office, be sure you have all required records. A list of the required items is at the bottom of page 1 of the score sheet.

Send In 1955 Officers, Leaders, And Members

Since next month (November) completes the 1954 club program, it is very necessary that the names and correct addresses of officers, leaders, and members be sent to the agent as soon as club is reorganized. The correct address of each person is very important when using the franking privilege to mail information. Let's give accurate addresses.

Our first leaders training meeting in the new year's program will be December 1st. Mrs. Irene M. Turner, nutrition and food preparation specialist of L. S. U. Extension Service, will give this training to the leaders. The demonstration will be saving time by one dish dinners.

New Buys in Clothing

The trend for finer gauge hosiery started immediately after the war. The most popular hose has been 51 gauge and 15 denier construction. However, in 1952, a large volume of hose were made of 60 gauge construction. Today manufacturers are making a sixty-six gauge with twelve denier monofilamint yarn. Although in the experimental stage, the equipment is in operation to make hose even more sheer — seventy-two gauge.

Another new clothing item soon will to be on the market is a suede jacket which will dry clean satisfactorily—watch for them.

Trick Or Treat Night

Tonight the goblins, witches, owls and black cats will be walking about. If you are prepared to treat, you will not be tricked. Good treats can be quickly and easily prepared at home.

President Eisenhower in the television program urged that youngsters be allowed to be individuals in Halloween activities but let youngsters be individuals by keeping activities in reason.

Miss Nobes Weds In California

A romantic gown of frothy tulle and chantilly lace was worn by the former Miss Alice Eldridge Nobes last night when she became the bride of James Walter Lunsford in St. Augustine-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church. The bride is the daughter of Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Nobes, 102 Palisades Ave., Santa Monica, Calif., and her bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt T. Lunsford of Reseda.

The ceremony was held at 8 o'clock October 22 with the Rev. Clifford E. Barry Nobes, uncle of the bride, officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Cahill gown of tulle and imported Chantilly lace over ivory satin. The neckline was banded with re-embroidered lace and formed tiny cap sleeves over the shoulder. Her fingertip-length silk illusion veil was held by a small cap of lace and lilies of the valley. White orchids and stephanotis fashioned her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Joseph G. Stewart, Birmingham, Ala., attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore yellow tulle over yellow taffeta and a halo bandeau of matching tulle. The bridesmaids wore ballerina length gowns of peacock blue silk crystalline over matching taffeta and small matching hats with nose veils. They all carried bouquets of yellow spider chrysanthemums.

Miss Sandra Hawkins and Miss Patricia Swan were bridesmaids.

Robert Lunsford, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and performing their duties as ushers were Dr. Joseph G. Stewart, Robert Waldron and Jack Hartley.

The new Mrs. Lunsford attended Holy Angels School in Minneapolis, and Birmingham-Southern College in Alabama. At the latter she was a member of the Canterbury Club, Kappa Pi and Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority. She transferred to UCLA where she now is a senior.

The benedict received his bachelor's and law degrees from UCLA.

Mrs. Lunsford is a former resident of Monroe and is the granddaughter of Mr. H. H. Nobes and niece of Mrs. Richard Troy.

Nancy Walker Becomes Bride

Miss Nancy Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Walker of Rayville, became the bride of Lanfield Delano Gilley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gilley of Draper, N. C., in a ceremony performed at 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the home of the bride's parents.

Reverend T. McCartney, pastor of the Church of God at Olla, performed the ceremony before an improvised altar of baskets of white gladioli and chyrsanthemums. A low arrangement of roses was used on the piano. Miss Lovey Harper was organist and Mrs. Thelma Ponder and Mrs. Elaine Anderson, vocalists.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose for her wedding a white slipper satin gown with the bodice fashioned of lace. The long tight fitting sleeves ended in petal points over her wrists. The skirt was long and very full. It ended in a cathedral train. A cap of white velvet sprinkled with rhinestones held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and valley lilies.

Mrs. Ray Welch her only attendant, wore a frock of dark green taffeta with a bouffant skirt of tulle. Her bouquet was of yellow chrysanthemums.

When the couple left for a Florida wedding trip the bride wore a suit of navy taffeta with black accessories. She pinned an orchid on her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilley will live in Martinsville, Va.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Elaine Anderson, Mrs. Thelma Ponder, Miss Lovey Harper, Lawrence Harper of Monroe, Clyde and Hubert Stevens of West Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Theo Johnston of Archibald.

Girl Scout News

Do you know what today is besides Halloween? A lot of girls know that it is the birthday of Juliette Gordon Low, the founder of Girl Scouting. Last week in troop meetings girls and leaders told again the story of the dauntless woman who brought Girl Scouting to America in 1912.

Born in 1860, Juliette Gordon was four years old when her native Savannah surrendered to General Sherman. Her family called her "Daisy", a nickname which stuck to her all her life. Daisy, a child during the war years in the south, had never tasted sugar nor seen a chicken until she went to Chicago with her mother after the end of the war. There she was fascinated by the Indians who came to her grandfather's. He was Indian agent at the time.

Back in Georgia, Daisy spent a happy childhood with dozens of cousins and all kinds of pets. Always she was interested in helping others. One of her first attempts was a club to sew for less fortunate children. It disbanded, however, when the girls found that Daisy couldn't sew.

Daisy Gordon was married to an Englishman, William Low, lived in a castle in Scotland, and was presented at court. She never lost her interest in helping people. It was after her husband's death that she met Lord Baden - Powell, founder of Boy Scouting and Girl Guiding in England. Mrs. Low became interested in the guide movement, working with girls in London and in Scotland.

In 1912 Juliette Low sailed for her native city, after deciding that she wanted to take guiding, or scouting as it came to be called, to the girls of America. Until this year the Girl scouts have celebrated as Girl Scout week, the week containing Juliette Low's birthday. Now, however, Girl Scout week is the week of March 12, and October 31 is observed as Founder's Day.

For the past several years Intermediate Scouts have had a work and play day at Pine Wood in the early fall. At the meeting of the Girl Planning Board the girls decided on November 6 as the date. According to their plans, a bus will be secured to take those girls who cannot secure transportation otherwise.

The bus will stop at Crosley school, West Monroe, at 8:45, at the Scout office at 9:00, at Fourth and Louisville, Dairy Queen Lot, at 9:10, and at the State Police headquarters on Louisville at 9:25. Girls who wish to ride the bus should notify the office.

To take part in the day's activities a girl must bring a signed permission blank, bus fare, and a nosebag lunch. She should wear her oldest jeans and sturdy shoes, a warm jacket, and take a scarf for her head.

Girls and leaders should plan to arrive at camp by 10:00, when activities will start with a flag ceremony. After dividing into patrols, the groups will be assigned jobs, such as raking leaves from around buildings, painting fence posts, washing windows, and picking up rocks, work that is fun when everybody joins in.

Some troops will want to cook, others will take their lunch. If it's cold there will be a fire in the fireplace and one outside too. Scouts go prepared for the weather and don't let anything except hard rain cause them to postpone their plans. Let's hope for a good day and lots of fun as well as work. Any Scout may go, and any leader or mother of Scouts.

Representing their troops at the first Girl Planning Board of the year, where they planned the day at Pine Wood, were: Ronnie Hervey, Rose Anne Cascio, Tavie Kenny, Mary Dee Gregory, Suzanne Cason, Marretta Heidenreich, Alma Faulk, Diana Jordan, Carol Groves Kay Snelling, Carol Cole, Lea Skains, Mary Lee Milstead, Joyce Oliver, Gail Dyer, Vernoica Wilds and Susie Quillen.

A hurry-up supper for a cold night can be made out of pantry materials. A can of vegetable soup and tomato soup is heated, with a box of frozen peas or beans in it. Add a can of little sausages, wieners or some cooked hamburger, if you have it. A meal-in-one soup.

Sounds awful, but it works. A lovely brown gravy out of pale materials — sausage drippings, chicken fat — comes when you use a touch of coffee instead of water for making your flour paste.

Girl Scout News

Do you know what today is besides Halloween? A lot of girls know that it is the birthday of Juliette Gordon Low, the founder of Girl Scouting. Last week in troop meetings girls and leaders told again the story of the dauntless woman who brought Girl Scouting to America in 1912.

Born in 1860, Juliette Gordon was four years old when her native Savannah surrendered to General Sherman. Her family called her "Daisy", a nickname which stuck to her all her life. Daisy, a child during the war years in the south, had never tasted sugar nor seen a chicken until she went to Chicago with her mother after the end of the war. There she was fascinated by the Indians who came to her grandfather's. He was Indian agent at the time.

Back in Georgia, Daisy spent a happy childhood with dozens of cousins and all kinds of pets. Always she was interested in helping others. One of her first attempts was a club to sew for less fortunate children. It disbanded, however, when the girls found that Daisy couldn't sew.

Daisy Gordon was married to an Englishman, William Low, lived in a castle in Scotland, and was presented at court. She never lost her interest in helping people. It was after her husband's death that she met Lord Baden - Powell, founder of Boy Scouting and Girl Guiding in England. Mrs. Low became interested in the guide movement, working with girls in London and in Scotland.

In 1912 Juliette Low sailed for her native city, after deciding that she wanted to take guiding, or scouting as it came to be called, to the girls of America. # Little Theatre

By SUE SHARMON

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Today's column is devoted to a new and interesting drama project in our Twin Cities.)

The name of the play "Indian Nuts," a one-act play by Monte Kleban, is directed and produced by William L. Mullican, speech and drama student of Northeastern State College. The therapeutic principles of psychodrama have been taken into account in both the play itself, and the players, with Mr. Robert Cancio, psychologist, giving suggestions along these lines.

"Indian Nuts" is centered around four boys from the south side of New York, who have only one day of their two weeks vacation left at Camp Cliff Mason. They decide to ask the director of the camp to let them stay an extra week, but he refuses to oblige because of the many boys on the waiting list and the lack of funds for both boys and camp.

At this point, however, an Indian Chief, Muzzawawk arrives to teach woodcraft at the camp and through a snap which he drops from his belt and which the boys discover is really a ring, the four boys set out to expose this charleton and wanted criminal, thus doing a good deed for justice and society and of course hoping to earn the gratitude of the director and a possible reward of an extra week at the camp.

The boys decide to call in another Indian chief from a "rich kids" camp to help expose their fake Indian chief, but the other chief's arrival only proves to be not only bogus but also a fellow criminal of the other chief, Muzzawawak. Both Indians are using the respective camps for hide-outs.

How the boys finally achieve their goals and reward adds laughter and hilarity with free - for-alls, Indian dances and even the toughest of the four boys posing as an Indian squaw to keep the chief until the police come.

Production of the play is set for Wednesday at 8 p. m., in the L. T. I. school auditorium. The public is cordially invited to attend free of admission.

The cast includes: Gus McGonzale, a camper, played by Vernon Jones; "Lefty" Lewis, camper, played by Buck Edgens; "Killer" Kelly, a camper, played by Curtis Venable; "Dutch" Swartz, camper, played by Ray Bundrick; Mr. Barnes the camp director is played by Ray Anderson; Muzzawawk is played by Johnny Mahon and Grandmama the other bogus Indian chief is played by Paul Jones.

Little Theatre

By SUE SHARMON

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Today's column is devoted to a new and interesting drama project in our Twin Cities.)

With the vim and vitality of Broadway actors, students of Louisiana Training Institution have gone all out for the first theatrical production of their newly organized Drama Club.

The name of the play "Indian Nuts," a one-act play by Monte Kleban, is directed and produced by William L. Mullican, speech and drama student of Northeastern State College. The therapeutic principles of psychodrama have been taken into account in both the play, itself, and the players, with Mr. Robert Canedo, psychologist, giving suggestions along these lines.

"Indian Nuts" is centered around four boys from the rough side of New York, who have only one day of their two weeks' vacation left at Camp Calm Haven. They decide to ask the director of the camp to let them stay an extra week, but he is unable to oblige because of the many boys on the waiting list and the lack of funds for both boys and camp.

At this point, however, an Indian Chief, Muzzawawak arrives to teach woodcraft at the camp and through a scalp which he drops from his belt and which the boys discover is really a wig, the four boys set out to expose this charleton and wanted criminal; thus, doing a good deed for justice and society and of course hoping to earn the gratitude of the director and a possible reward of an extra week at the camp.

The boys decide to call in another Indian chief from a "rich kids" camp to help expose their fake Indian chief, but the other chief's arrival only proves to be not only bogus but also a fellow criminal of the other chief, Muzzawawak. Both Indians are using the respective camps for hide-outs.

How the boys finally achieve their goals and reward adds laughter and hilarity with free - for-alls, Indian dances and even the toughest of the four boys posing as an Indian squaw to keep the chief until the police come.

Production of the play is set for Wednesday at 8 p. m., in the L. T. I. school auditorium. The public is cordially invited to attend free of admission.

The cast includes: Gup McGonigle, a camper, played by Vernon Jones; "Lefty" Lewis, camper, played by Buck Edgens; "Killer" Kelly, a camper, played by Curtis Venable; "Dutch" Swartz, camper, played by Ray Bundrick; Mr. Barnes the camp director is played by Ray Anderson; Muzzawawk is played by Johnny Mabon and Gitchylungo the other bogus Indian chief is played by Paul Jones.

DR. T. W. CURRIE

Dr. T. W. Currie Will Address Presby Women

Dr. Thomas W. Currie, pastor of the Oak Cliff Presbyterian Church in Dallas, Tex., will be the keynote speaker for the annual meeting of the Women of the Church, Red River Presbytery, Presbyterian Church, U. S. opening at Mansfield, La., on November 4. Dr. Currie will speak on the theme adopted by the Presbyterian Church, U. S. for 1955 — "Forward with Christ Our Savior."

Dr. Currie is one of the outstanding young ministers in the Southern Presbyterian Church and is well known throughout the south. His latest book, "Our Cities for Christ," was published this year.

Following Dr. Currie's message, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed with the Rev. Lannie Parnell, pastor of the Hewitt Memorial Presbyterian Church, Mansfield, in charge assisted by the Rev. E. L. Storey, Vivian, chairman of women's work for the Red River Presbytery.

During the afternoon session, Mrs. H. D. Haberyan, Shreveport, will give an account of her recent trip to the World Council of Churches meeting in Evanston. Mrs. Haberyan is a member of the General Assembly Presbyterian Church U. S., Board of Missions and is national chairman of missions for the United Church Women.

Presbyterial chairmen will present in panel discussion their plans and special emphasis for 1955 in promoting the work of the Women of the Church.

This is the first time that the Women of the Presbyterian Church U. S. have stream-lined their meeting into a one-day session. Registration will begin at 9:30 in the morning with the closing scheduled for 3:15 in the afternoon.

Community Day Set For United Church Women

All church women will enter into the third observance day of the year by United Church Women, World Community Day. The date has been set for November 5.

Church women always give generously on this day, expressing their responsibility for suffering children and refugees, and helping to build an understanding of world affairs of the work of the United Nations through the World Health Organization (WHO).

United Church Women are constantly conscious of what their "Parcels for Peace" can mean to those of suffering, pain, sorrow, and hopelessness: warm clothing for the little children, remnants of materials for the mothers to make into clothing, and household linens and blankets for the homeless. All of these go into the material aid project with that priceless ingredient, our Christian concern. For those who give, "Parcels for Peace" can be an experience of growing into the fullness of life.

Three identical services for adults will be held on World Community Day, November 5, 10:00 a.m. at the Stone Avenue Methodist Church in Monroe; 3:00 p.m. at the First Methodist Church of West Monroe; and 7:30 p.m. at the Grace Episcopal Church in Monroe.

Children's service will be held in their individual churches.

Korean Needs To Be Stressed By Methodist Folk

A worship service emphasizing emergency needs in Korea will be held in all Methodist churches, Sunday, Nov. 14.

According to Bishop Paul E. Martin, bishop of the Arkansas-Louisiana area, Methodist congregations all over America will be conducting similar services on the same day.

A novel feature of the service will be the presentation of offerings in miniature "rice bags," symbolic of the sacrificial offerings of rice which the Koreans themselves have given to rebuild their war - ravaged sanctuaries.

Korean veterans will be honored during many of the special services that will be held nationally. Certificates to be presented have been made available to local pastors through the central promotional office of the Methodist Church.

The certificate carries a message of thanks from the Korean Methodist Church to those "who have been Good Samaritans to us in our greatest time of need." It uses Korean characters in phantom printing with the text overprinted in English, and bears the signature of Bishop H. J. Lew of the Korean Church.

Known as the "Bishops' Appeal for Korea," the special offering has been approved by the Methodist Council of Bishops and the Council of World Service and Finance.

Seventy per cent of the receipts from the offering will be administered through the denomination's division of world missions, and 30 per cent through the Methodist committee for overseas relief.

DR. F. B. CHAFFIN

Dr. Chaffin To Preach In Local Church

Dr. Floyd B. Chaffin, executive secretary of Louisiana Baptist will bring the message at both services this Sunday, at the College Place Baptist Church, in the absence of the pastor who is in a revival at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Dr. Floyd B. Chaffin was born in Alabama. His family moved to Arkansas in time for him to enter high school and attend Jonesboro (Ark.) Baptist College.

He graduated from Union University in Jackson, Tenn., and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

After graduation from the seminary, Doctor Chaffin was pastor of the First Baptist Church, Coleman, Tex., for nearly five years and pastor of Polytechnic Baptist Church, Fort Worth, for more than five years. Polytechnic church erected a $250,000 auditorium with a seating capacity of 1300 during his pastorate.

While at Polytechnic Church Doctor Chaffin developed a unique and successful program of stewardship and missions which brought him recognition from the leaders of the Baptist general convention of Texas. He was consequently named assistant executive secretary of the convention in 1948.

He accepted the position of executive secretary of the Louisiana Baptist convention on July 1, 1952 and has seen every phase of Louisiana Baptist work grow and almost every previous record broken.

Doctor Chaffin is married to the former Lucille Welch of Memphis, Tenn. They have two daughters, Ann and Kay.

Christ King Rally Is Set Here Sunday

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. C. Marsh, V. F., pastor of St. Matthew's and dean of the Monroe deanery, announces that the Christ the King rally will be held this year in Monroe at St. Matthew's cemetery Sunday, October 31 at three p.m.

Then will follow the scouts Columbian Squires, and the Third Degree Knights of Columbus, the Cross-bearer, acolytes of various parishes, the clergy, the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, and Msgr. # Presbyterians To Discuss Plan For Branch Union

The controversial question of union of the three branches of the Presbyterian church will be discussed in the sanctuary of the Monroe First Presbyterian Church Sunday (today) at 7:00 p.m. For some years this matter has been before the branches of the church and has now received approval of the three general assemblies.

Churches involved are the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. of America (northern branch) with membership of two and one half million. The Presbyterian Church in the United States (southern branch) with membership of about three fourths of a million and the United Presbyterian Church with membership that is approaching a quarter of a million.

Rev. Robert Walker, prominent in Presbyterian circles, will talk in favor of union.

Both of these men are outstanding Presbyterians. Each man will speak for 30 minutes and then the session will be open for discussions from the house.

La. S. S. Clinic Is Planned By State Baptists

More than 900 teachers and officers of 80 Baptist churches throughout Louisiana had registered for the state Sunday School Clinic being conducted this week at the First Baptist Church, West Monroe, on Wednesday night. With the theme "Better teachers, better teaching" 15 specialists in the teaching field conducted conferences each night at 7 o'clock that brought out nearly 700 teachers from Ouachita Parish alone. This conference, according to Rev. J. L. Pollard, State Sunday School secretary, is the most successful to have been conducted in Louisiana. The desire of teachers is to reach more people for Bible study and teach them better.

As a climax to this clinic, Friday night has been set for a gigantic rally. Conferences will be conducted at 7 o'clock followed at 8:30 by a message by Dr. Charles McKay, representative from the Sunday School Board at Nashville.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: "I used to give many hours each week to the church, but now I am bedridden and feel useless. What can I do for my Savior?" J. P.

ANSWER: No person is useless in God's sight. Our Father has a work for the handicapped as well as for the strong. The Bible says: "Are not five sparrows sold for two farthings, and not one of them is forgotten before God? But even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not therefore; ye are of more value than many sparrows." (Luke 12:6, 7).

God cares for each and every one. We cannot understand why suffering comes, but when we become ill, or unable to work, we must still trust our Father. Jesus came to save not only the strong. He had a special concern for the blind, the lame, and the paralytics.

Christ came to save you. He died to save you. His Cross is not the symbol of

DR. T. W. CURRIE

Dr. T. W. Currie Will Address Presby Women

Dr. Thomas W. Currie, pastor of the Oak Cliff Presbyterian Church in Dallas, Tex., will be the keynote speaker for the annual meeting of the Women of the Church, Red River Presbytery, Presbyterian Church, U. S. opening at Mansfield, La. on November 4. Dr. Currie will speak on the theme adopted by the Presbyterian Church, U. S. for 1955 — "Forward with Christ Our Savior."

Dr. Currie is one of the outstanding young ministers in the Southern Presbyterian Church and is well known throughout the south. His latest book, "Our Cities for Christ," was published this year.

Following Dr. Currie's message, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed with the Rev. Lannie Parnell, pastor of the Hewitt Memorial Presbyterian Church, Mansfield, in charge, assisted by the Rev. E. L. Storey, Vivian, chairman of women's work for the Red River Presbytery.

During the afternoon session, Mrs. H. D. Haberyan, Shreveport, will give an account of her recent trip to the World Council of Churches meeting in Evanston. Mrs. Haberyan is a member of the General Assembly, Presbyterian Church, U. S., Board of Missions and is national chairman of missions for the United Church Women.

Presbyterial chairmen will present in panel discussion their plans and special emphasis for 1955 in promoting the work of the Women of the Church.

This is the first time that the Women of the Presbyterian Church U. S. have stream-lined their meeting into a one-day session. Registration will begin at 9:30 in the morning with the closing scheduled for 3:15 in the afternoon.

Community Day Set For United Church Women

All church women will enter into the third observance day of the year by United Church Women, World Community Day. The date has been set for November 5.

Church women always give generously on this day, expressing their responsibility for suffering children and refugees, and helping to build an understanding of world affairs of the work of the United Nations through the World Health Organization (WHO).

United Church Women are constantly conscious of what their "Parcels for Peace" can mean to those of suffering, pain, sorrow, and hopelessness: warm clothing for the little children, remnants of materials for the mothers to make into clothing, and household linens and blankets for the homeless. All of these go into the material aid project with that priceless ingredient, our Christian concern. For those who give, "Parcels for Peace" can be an experience of growing into the fullness of life.

Three identical services for adults will be held on World Community Day, November 5, 10:00 a.m. at the Stone Avenue Methodist Church in Monroe; 3:00 p.m. at the First Methodist Church of West Monroe; and 7:30 p.m. at the Grace Episcopal Church in Monroe.

Children's service will be held in their individual churches.

Korean Needs To Be Stressed By Methodist Folk

A worship service emphasizing emergency needs in Korea will be held in all Methodist churches, Sunday, Nov. 14.

According to Bishop Paul E. Martin, bishop of the Arkansas-Louisiana area, Methodist congregations all over America will be conducting similar services on the same day.

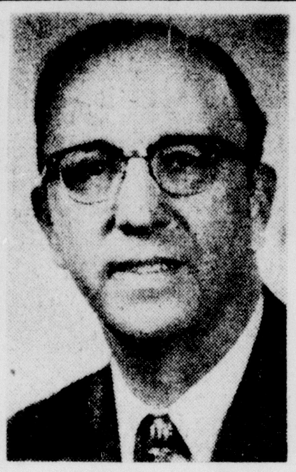
A novel feature of the service will be the presentation of offerings in miniature "rice bags," symbolic of the sacrificial offerings of rice which the Koreans themselves have given to rebuild their war - ravaged sanctuaries.

Korean veterans will be honored during many of the special services that will be held nationally. Certificates to be presented have been made available to local pastors through the central promotional office of the Methodist Church.

The certificate carries a message of thanks from the Korean Methodist Church to those "who have been Good Samaritans to us in our greatest time of need." It uses Korean characters in phantom printing with the text overprinted in English, and bears the signature of Bishop H. J. Lew of the Korean Church.

Known as the "Bishops' Appeal for Korea," the special offering has been approved by the Methodist Council of Bishops and the Council of World Service and Finance.

Seventy per cent of the receipts from the offering will be administered through the denomination's division of world missions, and 30 per cent through the Methodist committee for overseas relief.



DR. F. B. CHAFFIN

Dr. Chaffin To Preach In Local Church

Dr. Floyd B. Chaffin, executive secretary of Louisiana Baptist will bring the message at both services this Sunday, at the College Place Baptist Church, in the absence of the pastor who is in a revival at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Dr. Floyd B. Chaffin was born in Alabama. His family moved to Arkansas in time for him to enter high school and attend Jonesboro (Ark.) Baptist College.

He graduated from Union University in Jackson, Tenn., and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

After graduation from the seminary, Doctor Chaffin was pastor of the First Baptist Church, Coleman, Tex., for nearly five years and pastor of Polytechnic Baptist Church, Fort Worth, for more than five years. Polytechnic church erected a $250,000 auditorium with a seating capacity of 1300 during his pastorate.

While at Polytechnic Church Doctor Chaffin developed a unique and successful program of stewardship and missions which brought him recognition from the leaders of the Baptist general convention of Texas. He was consequently named assistant executive secretary of the convention in 1948.

He accepted the position of executive secretary of the Louisiana Baptist convention on July 1, 1952 and has seen every phase of Louisiana Baptist work grow and almost every previous record broken.

Doctor Chaffin is married to the former Lucille Welch of Memphis, Tenn. They have two daughters, Ann and Kay.

Christ King Rally Is Set Here Sunday

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. C. Marsh, V. F., pastor of St. Matthew's and dean of the Monroe deanery, announces that the Christ the King rally will be held this year in Monroe at St. Matthew's cemetery Sunday, October 31 at three p.m.

Presbyterians To Discuss Plan For Branch Union

The controversial question of union of the three branches of the Presbyterian church will be discussed in the sanctuary of the Monroe First Presbyterian Church Sunday (today) at 7:00 p.m. For some years this matter has been before the branches of the church and has now received approval of the three general assemblies.

Churches involved are the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. of America (northern branch) with membership of two and one half million. The Presbyterian Church in the United States (southern branch) with membership of about three fourths of a million and the United Presbyterian Church with membership that is approaching a quarter of a million.

Rev. Robert Walker, prominent in Presbyterian circles, will talk in favor of union.

Both of these men are outstanding Presbyterians. Each man will speak for 30 minutes and then the session will be open for discussions from the house.

La. S. S. Clinic Is Planned By State Baptists

More than 900 teachers and officers of 80 Baptist churches throughout Louisiana had registered for the state Sunday School Clinic being conducted this week at the First Baptist Church, West Monroe, on Wednesday night. With the theme "Better teachers, better teaching" 15 specialists in the teaching field conducted conferences each night at 7 o'clock that brought out nearly 700 teachers from Ouachita Parish alone. This conference, according to Rev. J. L. Pollard, State Sunday School secretary, is the most successful to have been conducted in Louisiana. The desire of teachers is to reach more people for Bible study and teach them better.

As a climax to this clinic, Friday night has been set for a gigantic rally. Conferences will be conducted at 7 o'clock followed at 8:30 by a message by Dr. Charles McKay, representative from the Sunday School Board at Nashville.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: "I used to give many hours each week to the church, but now I am bedridden and feel useless. What can I do for my Savior?" J. P.

ANSWER: No person is useless in God's sight. Our Father has a work for the handicapped as well as for the strong. The Bible says: "Are not five sparrows sold for two farthings, and not one of them is forgotten before God? But even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not therefore; ye are of more value than many sparrows." (Luke 12:6, 7).

God cares for each and every one. We cannot understand why suffering comes, but when we become ill, or unable to work, we must still trust our Father. Jesus came to save not only the strong. He had a special concern for the blind, the lame, and the paralytics.

Christ came to save you. He died to save you. His Cross is not the symbol of defeat, but of victory. Alone you can do nothing. With Christ you can lead a victorious life in sp

Good Entertainment

By CARL HITTLEMAN
Guest Columnist

HOLLYWOOD, October 30—The movie - going public is interested in just one thing — good entertainment. They're not concerned with what the production costs or perhaps who's in the cast so long as the film proves entertaining. Everything else is inconsequential.

Nothing is more important to a picture than a good story idea, well-developed. You can't cheat on this basic ingredient, no matter how hard a producer tries. You can try to compensate for a good story by adding all sorts of glossy and flossy production elements. You can build it up with magnificent sets and costumes and personalities who theoretically have tremendous boxoffice appeal, but without a good script, it approximates a waste of time and money.

Since the beginning of time, as far as entertainment goes, the public has been intrigued by interesting tales, expertly told. All other suplemental elements are just that — supplemental. They can enhance a story but not provide a substitute for an interesting plot. You must have a good script.

In recent years, as just about everybody knows, Hollywood has been undergoing a drastic period of readjustment, following the financial honeymoon which accompanied World War II and the immediate post-war era. It has had to watch the family budget with more care than in a long time. With the public carefully shopping for its screen entertainment, the major producers have been compelled to exercise greater caution in the employment of funds available for production.

A considerable segment of Hollywood production, however, has long operated along lines of careful planning, consistent with quality entertainment. Personally, as producer and director, I fit into this category, I feel. This production school is generally inclined to the policy of stressing story content rather than lavish production elements which are not necessarily basic to good entertainment. I refer to pictures produced with casts which ably interpret the story being told.

Producers in this group have proven conclusively that excellent pictures, often far more entertaining than productions costing twice and three times their own, can be made for a reasonable figure. This is largely due to pre-production planning which cuts down shooting time when the film is actually before the cameras. Every step of the production is carefully mapped out in advance — before the terrific overhead incident to shooting begins. I have applied this technique to such films as "The Baron of Arizona," "I Shot Jesse James" and "Little Big Horn," all of which, lucky for me, outstanding boxoffice successes and much greater in popularity, in many instances, than pictures with higher budgets.

Nowadays the public wants good performances in their pictures, regardless of "name" value so-called. Big personalities, of course, are a big asset but first rate performances count for a lot more.

Motion picture action should really move, in my opinion. Interesting dialogue, of course, is all very good but, it is vitally important to have a plot which holds the attention of the audience. In my experience, and according to my observations, pictures which are fundamentally action in character, generally have the widest audience appeal. They tell their stories in visual terms basically rather than in terms of conversation. And in so doing, their stories are more easily comprehended by moviegoers in any part of this country and throughout the world.

Motion pictures should primarily appeal to the emotions rather than to the intellect. I do not mean by this that production should have moronic dialogue but I do mean that it is much easier for people to feel than to absorb through a mental process. Languages may differ throughout the world but, of course, emotions are international.

I feel that motion pictures should generally be escapist in character. It seems to me that the world today is so filled with problems that the screen should veer away from such subjects, as a general policy, and instead concentrate upon topics which are far removed from the troubles of 1954.

People go to a movie theater to relax and to escape momentarily the drabness or grimness of life. Consequently, when a production deals with a subject which reminds them of their problems, it seems to me, it is doing a disservice to the moviegoer.

Certainly, there is no story area more conducive to escapist subjects than the old west. As a matter of fact, many of our great audience attractions have been concerned with this era and background which, incidentally, affords an opportunity for heroic tales in the American tradition. Western productions always attract huge audiences and, I personally expect that Hollywood will continue making many stories in this colorful field.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

For some folks its Halloween all year long—they are constantly harassed by witches of their imaginations.

Don't Let Goblins Worry You Whole Year Through

Halloween! This is the night when witches fly on broomsticks and the goblins will get you if you don't watch out!

For some folks it is Halloween all year long. They are constantly harrassed by witches of their imagination and goblins which might jump at them at any moment, but probably won't.

I am not talking now about the out-and-out, admitted worrier, but about the many people who live in a state of constant apprehension, and do not realize it. They do not have any problems which require an immediate answer but they have the "makings" of them and are therefore apprehensive in their attitude. They do not feel at one with life or at peace with it, ever.

Damaging Yourself

Take even the question of illness in the family. You are intelligent enough to know that this or that might happen tomorrow to the one you love. The things you most feared do not happen and you look back and think how you damaged yourself by borrowing trouble. It is most difficult not to do so when in the midst of such a situation, but you must get cutoffs.

An apprehensive state which is not translated into real conscious worry can be as damaging or more so than worry. Your muscles retain residual tension, and your heartbeat and glands and circulation are affected even when you think you are doing fine.

Try to relax. Try NOT to borrow trouble. Try, to meet each day as it comes and do the best you can with it. Keep the optimistic attitude as long as possible, then meet what you must meet when it arrives with courage, but try not to meet it until it comes. Maybe it won't come!

Wear Your Own Face

There is a second group of people who have Halloween all year round. I am speaking of those who always wear false faces. Most of the time your false face is much less effective than your real one would be, because humans are pretty grand when stripped of their complexes. There is nothing headier than sincerity, than naturalness which comes from being free of complexes and false faces.

Those who wear their false faces only on Halloween night are rewarding and "fun" and restful. They are also usually vibrant, and lovely or handsome, as the case may be, and they are very much loved.

Second, the camp runs 24 hours, but at home children are shifted from home to school and school to home, with intervals between when the gang or sports spirit often dictates their conduct. Camp methods might help some homes.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. False. Psychologist Carney Landis concludes after extensive research that only one type of mental disorder has increased in recent years: hardening of the arteries of the brain. Dr. Neil Dayton, after analyzing over 89,000 cases, concluded nervous breakdown has not increased. We merely know far better how to diagnose and cure it.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. Psychiatrist Judd Marmor told the American Psychiatric Association that many people talk freely about the "facts of life"—even in their own lives—who would not for the world let people know about their finances. ## Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: A friend of ours is in love with a man who is studying to be a preacher. About a month ago she wrote him that she did not love him. We are sure she just thought that she no longer loved him as they rarely could see one another. She realizes that now, but says that he has since moved, she does not have his address and that she has too much pride to contact him via his family to tell him that she was mistaken. What do you think she should do?—M.M.C.

I can tell you better what you should do. Mind your own business.

The girl still entertains doubts or she would move heaven and earth to retract her statement. If you push her into admitting that she loves the man and eventually it turns out that she does not, you'll be blamed for a disastrous marriage. Are you prepared for that responsibility?

Dear Ann Landers: I was happily married for the past year until my wife recently told me of a couple mistakes she made before we were married. The knowledge of her mistakes hurt, but what hurt more was the fact that she did not trust me enough to tell me before we were married and that she more or less lived a lie all this year.

We have now come to the point of separation. Do you think that this would always stand between us and cause doubt, suspicion and constant arguing? Or do you think that time, love, forgiveness and future honesty can change her into the type of person I always believed her to be and give us back the love and trust that is missing?—Undecided.

Oh, you egg-headed fool, you! Your wife did not ever have to tell you but she was good enough (or fool enough) not to want to continue living a lie, and after what must have been great mental anguish; 'fessed up. Instead of understanding her tribute to you and saying, "what is done is done, we'll go on from here," you crucify her and want to break up your marriage!

She is no different than before you knew and if you can't see that, you deserve to lose her. Were you so perfect before marriage? How much did you tell your wife of your past before marriage? Certainly, you can have a good marriage. If you do not, it's your fault, not your wife's.

Dear Ann Landers: This may sound silly, but how can I stop thinking of my boy friend? He will soon be leaving for the service and be away for long periods at a time, and in the past when I did not see him for even a few days I kept worrying about what he was doing.

You see I know that he is young and wants his good times; I know what his escapades can be. I love him and I know that he loves me but sometimes it is easier to say that than to believe it.—V.S.

If you trust your boy friend that little, sugarplum, you'd better break it up until he comes back, is no longer "so young" and has left his escapade years behind him. He either loves you enough to remain true to you or he does not. If he does not, what good is he to you now or later?

Confidentially: Maye — Contact the Red Cross and offer your services as a "Grey Lady." Or any orphanage.

Two Anxious Aunts: Try to make him see that he needs help and that something bigger than he has caused his behavior. When he agrees suggest a psychiatrist.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Morning World.

Good Entertainment

By CARL HITTLEMAN
Guest Columnist

HOLLYWOOD, October 30—The movie - going public is interested in just one thing — good entertainment. They're not concerned with what the production costs or perhaps who's in the cast so long as the film proves entertaining. Everything else is inconsequential.

Nothing is more important to a picture than a good story idea, well-developed. You can't cheat on this basic ingredient, no matter how hard a producer tries. You can try to compensate for a good story by adding all sorts of glossy and flossy production elements. You can build it up with magnificent sets and costumes and personalities who theorectically have tremendous boxoffice appeal, but without a good script, it approximates a waste of time and money.

Since the beginning of time, as far as entertainment goes, the public has been intrigued by interesting tales, expertly told. All other suplemental elements are just that — supplemental. They can enhance a story but not provide a substitute for an interesting plot. You must have a good script.

In recent years, as just about everybody knows, Hollywood has been undergoing a drastic period of readjustment, following the financial honeymoon which accompanied World War II and the immediate post-war era. It has had to watch the family budget with more care than in a long time. With the public carefully shopping for its screen entertainment, the major producers have been compelled to exercise greater caution in the employment of funds available for production.

A considerable segment of Hollywood production, however, has long operated along lines of careful planning, consistent with quality entertainment. Personally, as producer and director, I fit into this category, I feel. This production school is generally inclined to the policy of stressing story content rather than lavish production elements which are not necessarily basic to good entertainment. I refer to pictures produced with casts which ably interpret the story being told.

Producers in this group have proven conclusively that excellent pictures, often far more entertaining than productions costing twice and three times their own, can be made for a reasonable figure. This is largely due to pre-production planning which cuts down shooting time when the film is actually before the cameras. Every step of the production is carefully mapped out in advance — before the terrific overhead incident to shooting begins. I have applied this technique to such films as "The Baron of Arizona," "I Shot Jesse James" and "Little Big Horn," all of which, lucky for me, outstanding boxoffice successes and much greater in popularity, in many instances, than pictures with higher budgets.

Nowadays the public wants good performances in their pictures, regardless of "name" value so-called. Big personalities, of course, are a big asset but first rate performances count for a lot more.

Motion picture action should really move, in my opinion. Interesting dialogue, of course, is all very good but, it is vitally important to have a plot which holds the attention of the audience. In my experience, and according to my observations, pictures which are fundamentally action in character, generally have the widest audience appeal. They tell their stories in visual terms basically rather than in terms of conversation. And in so doing, their stories are more easily comprehended by moviegoers in any part of this country and throughout the world.

Motion pictures should primarily appeal to the emotions rather than to the intellect. I do not mean by this that production should have moronic dialogue but I do mean that it is much easier for people to feel than to absorb through a mental process. Languages may differ throughout the world but, of course, emotions are international.

I feel that motion pictures should generally be escapist in character. It seems to me that the world today is so filled with problems that the screen should veer away from such subjects, as a general policy, and instead concentrate upon topics which are far removed from the troubles of 1954.

People go to a movie theater to relax and to escape momentarily the drabness or grimness of life. Consequently, when a production deals with a subject which reminds them of their problems, it seems to me, it is doing a disservice to the moviegoer.

Certainly, there is no story area more conducive to escapist subjects than the old west. As a matter of fact, many of our great audience attractions have been concerned with this era and background which, incidentally, affords an opportunity for heroic tales in the American tradition. Western productions always attract huge audiences and, I personally expect that Hollywood will continue making many stories in this colorful field.

'Killers All' Is Motion Picture Of Underworld

"Killers All," termed a picture all teen agers should see, opens today at the Delta Theatre and depicts gangland's most ruthless killers. The sensational motion picture will have a two-day showing in Monroe.

Actual film of gangland's most ruthless killers will be shown, you will see John Dillinger, Public Enemy No. 1, Bonnie Parker, known as Kelly, Clyde Barrow will also show the famous case of the "Lindbergh Baby Killer" Bruno Richard Hauptman, the crime that shocked the nation. Among the notorious crimes of which all the nation has heard with horror, were those committed by "Cigar Smoking" Bonnie Parker and "Gun Crazy" Clyde Barrow. You will see them as they lived, living to kill for the twisted pleasure they received from this needless murdering, as they loved, forbiddingly and sinfully, then betrayed by their best friend.

'Sitting Bull' Brings Exciting Era To Screen

One of the most colorful and exciting periods in American history, the crashing climax to the so-called "forty year's war" between the Indians and the U. S. government, is brought to the screen in CinemaScope and new Eastman Color in W. R. Frank's "Sitting Bull," which opens on Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre through United Artists release.

Dale Robertson, Mary Murphy and J. Carrol Naish are co-starred in "Sitting Bull," and the large supporting cast is headed by John Litel, Iron Eyes Cody, Douglas Kennedy and William Hopper. The screenplay was written by Jack DeWitt and Sidney Salkow, and Mr. Salkow directed.

Some notion of the scope of the film may be gathered from a handful of statistics: More than 600 horses and burros were hired for use in the battle scenes in "Sitting Bull." Four hundred regular Mexican army cavalrymen, dressed in U. S. uniforms, played the members of General Custer's and General Terry's command. Over a hundred thousand rounds of ammunition were specially treated to fit the period rifles and field pieces that were used in the production. Other details included 800 army tents, 2 American flags, 36 covered wagons, 15 supply wagons, 200 warclubs, 350 tomahawks, 100 coup sticks, 200 bows, 2000 arrows and 100 cradle boards.

Although time and the heart-breaking bravery of the slaughtered American troops have put a luster on the battle at the Little Big Horn, there is no question that the whole incident was the result of a blunder on the part of the handsome, romantic, dashing, but egotistical and vainglorious General Custer. The film takes the viewpoint of the shocked public at the time of the event.

The producer of "Sitting Bull," W. R. Frank, is a motion picture veteran of some 42 years standing. In addition to owning a theatre chain for many years, he has also produced such notable independent productions as the Academy Award winner, "The Devil and Daniel Webster," "Syncopation," "The Great Dan Patch" and "Cry Danger." A keen amateur student of American history, Frank has always been interested in the Indian wars, and has felt strongly that Sitting Bull has been particularly and unfairly maligned. His film attempts to set the record straight so far as the great Sioux leader is concerned. J. Carrol Naish plays the title role, and as the famous Indian Chief, it marks his first portrayal of an American.

SPEAKER—Dr. Kenneth McFarland, nationally famous educator and consultant, will be a leading speaker at the Second Annual All-South Restaurant Show, sponsored by the Louisiana Restaurant Association at the Jung Hotel in New Orleans, November 9, 10 and 11. Formerly a guest lecturer for "Reader's Digest" magazine, he is now educational consultant and lecturer for General Motors Corporation and the American Trucking Association.

Baptist Assoc. Commends Wall

A resolution was passed recently by the Trenton Baptist Association, composed of 20 Baptist churches, commending Ouachita parish representative, Shady Wall, for "his fine work against gambling in our state at the last session of the legislature."

The resolution read as follows: "We, the Baptist people of his home town and community, serve notice on the gamblers that we approve of Shady Wall's stand and work against this enemy of God and righteousness."

Wood cut in summer will deteriorate much faster than wood cut in winter.

PLANE FACTS

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. UP — The U. S. Air Force's new sweptwing fighter-bomber, the Republic Thunderstreak, uses 569 different metal forgings and castings. The smallest is about the size of a pack of cigarettes, the largest 10 feet long.

'Killers All' Is Motion Picture Of Underworld

"Killers All," termed a picture all teen agers should see, opens today at the Delta Theatre and depicts gangland's most ruthless killers. The sensational motion picture will have a two-day showing in Monroe.

Actual film of gangland's most ruthless killers will be shown, you will see John Dillinger, Public Enemy No. 1, Bonnie Parker, known as Kelly, Clyde Barrow will also show the famous case of the "Lindbergh Baby Killer" Bruno Richard Hauptman, the crime that shocked the nation. Among the notorious crimes, of which all the nation has heard with horror, were those committed by "Cigar Smoking" Bonnie Parker and "Gun Crazy" Clyde Barrow. You will see them as they lived, living to kill for the twisted pleasure they received from this needless murdering, as they loved, forbiddingly and sinfully, then betrayed by their best friend.

'Sitting Bull' Brings Exciting Era To Screen

One of the most colorful and exciting periods in American history, the crashing climax to the so-called "forty year's war" between the Indians and the U. S. government, is brought to the screen in CinemaScope and new Eastman Color in W. R. Frank's "Sitting Bull," which opens on Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre through United Artists release.

Dale Robertson, Mary Murphy and J. Carrol Naish are co-starred in "Sitting Bull," and the large supporting cast is headed by John Litel, Iron Eyes Cody, Douglas Kennedy and William Hopper. The screenplay was written by Jack DeWitt and Sidney Salkow, and Mr. Salkow directed.

Some notion of the scope of the film may be gathered from a handful of statistics: More than 600 horses and burros were hired for use in the battle scenes in "Sitting Bull." Four hundred regular Mexican army cavalrymen, dressed in U. S. uniforms, played the members of General Custer's and General Terry's command. Over a hundred thousand rounds of ammunition were specially treated to fit the period rifles and field pieces that were used in the production. Other details included 800 army tents, 2 American flags, 36 covered wagons, 15 supply wagons, 200 warclubs, 350 tomahawks, 100 coup sticks, 200 bows, 2000 arrows and 100 cradle boards.

Although time and the heartbreaking bravery of the slaughtered American troops have put a luster on the battle at the Little Big Horn, there is no question that the whole incident was the result of a blunder on the part of the handsome, romantic, dashing, but egotistical and vainglorious General Custer. The film takes the viewpoint of the shocked public at the time of the event.

The producer of "Sitting Bull," W. R. Frank, is a motion picture veteran of some 42 years standing. In addition to owning a theatre chain for many years, he has also produced such notable independent productions as the Academy Award winner, "The Devil and Daniel Webster," "Syncopation," "The Great Dan Patch" and "Cry Danger." A keen amateur student of American history, Frank has always been interested in the Indian wars, and has felt strongly that Sitting Bull has been particularly and unfairly maligned. His film attempts to set the record straight so far as the great Sioux leader is concerned. J. Carrol Naish plays the title role, and as the famous Indian Chief, it marks his first portrayal of an American.

SPEAKER—Dr. Kenneth McFarland, nationally famous educator and consultant, will be a leading speaker at the Second Annual All-South Restaurant Show, sponsored by the Louisiana Restaurant Association at the Jung Hotel in New Orleans, November 9, 10 and 11. Formerly a guest lecturer for "Reader's Digest" magazine, he is now educational consultant and lecturer for General Motors Corporation and the American Trucking Association.

Baptist Assoc. Commends Wall

A resolution was passed recently by the Trenton Baptist Association, composed of 20 Baptist churches, commending Ouachita parish representative, Shady Wall, for "his fine work against gambling in our state at the last session of the legislature."

The resolution read as follows: "We, the Baptist people of his home town and community, serve notice on the gamblers that we approve of Shady Wall's stand and work against this enemy of God and righteousness."

Wood cut in summer will deteriorate much faster than wood cut in winter.

YOUTH PATROL

Make Winter Plans For Gardens

There's another reason for watering liberally now. If we should have a freeze before the heavy rains come, plants would get winter burn. This winter burn is as disastrous to plants as sun burn —so keep the hose going, soaking plants well. (Maybe there's been rain since I wrote this.)

Garden Jobs

Edge the flower borders, walks and driveways for a neat look over winter. Let's hope this will be the last trimming for this growing season. But with summer weather still here in November, one can never tell. We're still mowing every week at my house.

One of the monthly garden magazines says that when the chrysanthemums are in bloom, lift a few and pot them to enjoy indoors. I've never had any luck transplanting them to pots, but maybe you will. The article said to cut around each plant to full depth of spade. Set plant deep in a large pot, pack soil firmly around roots to hold plant steady. Set pot in sunny window, keep well watered. This will certainly be a lovely spot of color in the house during December, if you have any success.

I just don't know why so many people have suddenly decided they want to fertilize and tranplant everything in the yard. This is not time to do either. Wait til December, January and February, which are our transplanting months. Don't fertilize until January or February.

Somebody called about a Banksia rose, asking when it should be pruned. Mr. Hunt says this rose will go on blooming for many, many years without any pruning at all. You remember the Lady Banksia rose is evergreen, thornless and comes in yellow or white. However, I've never been able to find a white one and I've tried for years.

Mr. Hunt also says the Lady Banksia is beautiful planted in trees. They'll make their way all up into the branches and out on the limbs and then hang down in a cascade of blossoms. Doesn't that sound beautiful? The author does say that a hole must be well prepared with good rich soil for planting this rose.

Several Sundays ago I suggested, you put a short fence of chicken wire in front of your clothes line, then plant vines to screen it. Instead of planting the vines you could cover the fence with moss, the kind we find hanging from the trees in our swampy areas. This would make a lovely screening and would be inexpensive.

Around Town

I've been to several new homes recently. If you've just built you'll probably have this same problem that is — the space around the house is full of cement from the foundation. This must be dug out, both large and small pieces. Cement is alkaline and often leaves the soil alkaline in reaction — azaleas or dogwoods that are acid loving plants, just won't live there.

A most unusual patio or rather screened porch is in the H. W. Chapman's new home on Hilton street. Rather than cut down a beautiful old tree, they just built the screen porch around it. The floor is old brick laid on the ground. The living room opens on to this porch-patio and believe me that tree trunk is a beautiful picture. Jackie says they had the tree surgeon examine the tree to be sure it was in good shape before they started this project.

Food Plentifuls

Those foods on the week's best buy list are: Eggs, poultry, cauliflower, cranberries, apples, oranges, dates, dry beans, prunes, rice, canned tuna, turkeys, grapes, honey, potatoes, beef, pork and shrimp. For those watching diets, you'll be glad to know that seven tablespoons of cooked cauliflower only contains 31 calories. Of course if you add hollandaise sauce or butter you're adding calories.

Your Dog ... ... ....

Does you dog just get kitchen scraps? Dogs are not born to be scavengers and can't keep in good health on meat scraps alone. If your dog is not fed properly don't expect him to hunt, well. So if you want to enjoy your hunting trip more, keep your dogs in good health by feeding them balanced rations including some well balanced dog food.

Men's Fall Fashions

An authority on men's wear says this season the rounded collar holds the spot light. Also, that pink, yellow and blue shirts are as correct for business wear as white.

Spice for the costume is an odd vest or weskit in checks, plaids and prints. The gentleman writer of men's styles say that neckwear for men this fall is as bright as suits are dark. Colors are pink, ice blue, cherry red, gold, rust, beige and heliotrope. Gone is the uninteresting drab style in men's wear!

Here And There ... ...

Mrs. W. G. Haab, 1310 Emerson, Monroe has kindly offered to give violet plants to those calling for them. She asks that you bring your own box.

Tuesday on KNOE-TV, at 2:30, Mrs. Ladart and Mrs. Hamilton will continue the making of the slip cover. If you missed last week's show, we'll review to bring you up to date. Call 3-2251 for a mimeographed leaflet of instructions for making slip covers. This will help you follow each step.

See you next Sunday.

Montbretias Can Be Divided Now

The Montbretias that bloomed back in the middle of the summer can be taken up and divided and reset now. First, dig a few and see whether they have made little roots from the long growths which they put out from the corms. These bulbous plants have such a mixed up ancestry that the corms vary in size and type a great deal. Hardly any two of the named varieties will have bulbs alike. Some varieties do not seem to grow any of the long growths that come out for several inches from the corms of other kinds. On the varieties which do have these growths the roots grow more from the growths than they do from the bottom of the corms. If rootlets have started to form, it is too late to take them up, and it will be best to leave them another year and take them up in early October. You will be able to distinguish fresh, new roots from the old ones of the past season.

One of the readers of the column got after your columnist the other day. She said that the column seemed to be written for wealthy people because all of these fall bulbs cost so much. We said that red spider - lilies and sternbergias didn't cost any more than a lot of spring bulbs. Of course, there are some fall bulbs which do cost more than others. Some of the new lycorises are very expensive, but so are the new kinds of daffodils. Our reader friend then said that she just did not like fall, anyway and told us she had ordered lots of daffodils. When the red spider-lilies failed to bloom very much this year because of two months of drought, we began to think about our gardening friend who likes spring but some kodachrome slides of the garden with thousands of red spider-lilies blooming under trees restored our faith. The cost of these red flowers is no greater than that of the commonest kinds of daffodils. Sternbergias are very little more expensive, and one bulb will produce from two to six flowers — something no daffodil will do.

Furthermore, red spider-lilies and sternbergias make a beautiful evergreen groundcover all winter wherever they are planted, while daffodils have no winter leaves. Most varieties of daffodils must be taken up every three to five years or they will simply refuse to produce blossoms of any size or any at all. Not so with our spider-lillies and sternbergias; they prefer to be left in the ground for years and years. If the soil is good and you will scatter some fertilizer over them when the leaves are on in fall or spring, they will go on and on. We think that, for these reasons, southerners should plant fall bulbs just as they do spring ones.

The column likes to call attention to the good summer blooming bulbs, too. Everybody knows about the spring ones. The montbretias we were discussing at the beginning of this column are as easy to raise as gladiolas if you will just set them four or five inches deep in good soil after you have worked in some bone meal. Montbretias were created by crossing and recrossing several different South African flowers. The old-fashioned varieties were hardly showy enough to bother with, but the new Earlham Hybrids are as big as fifty-cent pieces. They grow on stiff wiry stems and have leaves like gladiolas. For flower arrangements in the summer months, there is nothing more unusual. Tones of yellow, reds, mahogany, brown-and-red combinations in the same flower—even some yellow flowers with touches of red in them—this is what they are like. Some bulb catalogues show pictures of them. Buy the best named varieties because they multiply well, and you will soon have plenty of them. They cost about the same thing that gladiolas do.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Springtime Club Has Beautiful Exhibits

The Springtime Garden Club of Monroe provided our lovely flower show this week. There are wonderful gardeners in this group as evidenced by the lovely plant material exhibit. Mrs. L. P. Craighead of Delhi and Mrs. Kent Breard, Monroe served as judges.

In the arrangement section first place award was given to Mrs. Jeanne Dupont. Using a fluted milk glass container Mrs. Dupont created a lovely mass arrangement of deep red Mirandy roses and tuberoses. The arrangement was set on a black base, against a background of soft gray. Mrs. Alvin Tippit was awarded second place. Against a chartreuse background Mrs. Tippit arranged sumac leaves and two toned marigolds in a deep green container. The very essence of fall! Mrs. Kent Womack was awarded third place.

In a soft yellow bowl, Mrs. Womack designed a horizontal table arrangement of red, pink and yellow roses. In the horticulture section, a blue ribbon was awarded to Mrs. Richard Frost for pink Grootendorst roses, Mrs. Marie Madden for Erythrina (Coral-tree) and a red ribbon to Mrs. H. L. Robinson for Kaiserin Auguste Viktoria rose.

Here is a date to remember— The Welcome Garden Club will present Mrs. Hugh Sutherland, Bethany plantation, Itta Bena, Miss., on November 15, in a lecture on dried arrangements and Christmas decorations. At the Bayou DeSiard Country Club. Time 2:30 p.m. Tickets available at the Garden Center. Next week we will have with us Mrs. Ione Talbert of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Talbert will conduct a flower arranging clinic. The classes are limited to fifteen students and there will be individual instruction. As I write this there are several cancellations. If you are interested call 3-3166.

The Garden Center is a busy place these days with everyone thinking about their fall planting. We are assisting a great many new home owners in the landscaping of their gardens. Our landscape experts tell us to establish our trees and lawns first and carefully choose our shrubs. The modern low rambling homes do not need foundation plantings as we formerly thought of them. Instead they are today used as accents and to compliment the architecture of the homes.

Mr. Truman Quinton, plant doctor, of Jackson, Miss. visited the center this week. He advises that he will be with us again next spring. That's good news.

More Money Is Spent Here For Autos Than Food

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (Special)— More money is spent in Ouachita Parish for automotive equipment than for food. Approximately 32 cents out of every dollar spent in the local retail stores goes for purchases of new and used cars, tires, batteries and other accessories, and for farm machinery, motorcycles and the like.

The 32 cents of the retail dollar this represents is well above the proportion devoted to automotive purchases generally in the United States, 19 cents. For the West South Central States as a whole, the average was 23 cents, and, in the state of Louisiana, 21 cents.

Big spending in this direction reflects a high standard of living and is normally an index of good times. With families earning more, as was the case in Ouachita Parish last year, more is spent for luxuries.

This expansiveness was noted in the grocery stores, meat markets and other food shops in the county, which did a $17,056,000 volume of business in the year. It compares favorably with the prior year's $16-401,000.

It was equivalent to 17 cents out of every dollar of retail business chalked up locally. This was another sign of good living.

Sales in general merchandise and variety stores, another index considered in the survey, totaled $10,605,000 in the year, representing 10 cents of the retail dollar.

The stores selling furniture, household supplies, radios and the like did $7,706,000, amounting to 7 cents.

Purchases in drug stores came to $2,730,000, or 3 cents additional.

It's like an axiom by now: the wardrobe that must be cramped to meet the ever-narrowing budget needs lots of jumpers and costumes that can be changed with a blouse. Mattress - ticking blouse for home or work, fabulous long sleeves and jewel neckline for going out.

Postmasters To Be Host To Their Postal Officials

The fourth and fifth districts of the Louisiana chapter of the National Association of Postmasters will meet in Monroe on November 11. The meeting will begin with a luncheon at the Hotel Frances at 12 o'clock noon.

The post office department will be represented by the following officials: Matt H. Creed, district manager, regional operations; Oliver W .Boyd, Jr., assistant district manager; post office inspector Fred H. Clampitt; L. E. Mathews, assistant general superintendent, postal transportation service; and J. R. Martin, regional controller of the bureau of accounts. These officials will be in Monroe to assist the postmasters in making their preparations for handling the enormous volume of Christmas mails expected this year and to discuss other matters of importance to postal personnel.

All postmasters will be given the opportunity of presenting their individual postal problems to these officials.

The privilege and advantage of having high ranking postal officials meet with postmasters is a direct result of Postmaster General Summerfield's policy of decentralizing the post office department. On June 14, 1954 a regional office was established in Dallas, Tex., to serve the states of Louisiana and Texas. In order to bring management still closer to the post offices in Louisiana, a district office was opened in New Orleans at the same time.

All postmasters and supervisors are invited and urged to attend this meeting.

Make Winter Plans For Gardens

There's another reason for watering liberally now. If we should have a freeze before the heavy rains come, plants would get winter burn. This winter burn is as disastrous to plants as sun burn —so keep the hose going, soaking plants well. (Maybe there's been rain since I wrote this.)

Garden Jobs

Edge the flower borders, walks and driveways for a neat look over winter. Let's hope this will be the last trimming for this growing season. But with summer weather still here in November, one can never tell. We're still mowing every week at my house.

One of the monthly garden magazines says that when the chrysanthemums are in bloom, lift a few and pot them to enjoy indoors. I've never had any luck transplanting them to pots, but maybe you will. The article said to cut around each plant to full depth of spade. Set plant deep in a large pot, pack soil firmly around roots to hold plant steady. Set pot in sunny window, keep well watered. This will certainly be a lovely spot of color in the house during December, if you have any success.

I just don't know why so many people have suddenly decided they want to fertilize and tranplant everything in the yard. This is not time to do either. Wait til December, January and February, which are our transplanting months. Don't fertilize until January or February.

Somebody called about a Banksia rose, asking when it should be pruned. Mr. Hunt says this rose will go on blooming for many, many years without any pruning at all. You remember the Lady Banksia rose is evergreen, thornless and comes in yellow or white. However, I've never been able to find a white one and I've tried for years.

Doesn't that sound beautiful? The author does say that a hole must be well prepared with good rich soil for planting this rose.

Several Sundays ago I suggested, you put a short fence of chicken wire in front of your clothes line, then plant vines to screen it. Instead of planting the vines you could cover the fence with moss, the kind we find hanging from the trees in our swampy areas. This would make a lovely screening and would be inexpensive.

A most unusual patio or rather screened porch is in the H. W. Chapman's new home on Hilton street. Rather than cut down a beautiful old tree, they just built the screen porch around it. The floor is old brick laid on the ground. The living room opens on to this porch-patio and believe me that tree trunk is a beautiful picture. Jackie says they had the tree surgeon examine the tree to be sure it was in good shape before they started this project.

Food Plentifuls

Those foods on the week's best buy list are: Eggs, poultry, cauliflower, cranberries, apples, oranges, dates, dry beans, prunes, rice, canned tuna, turkeys, grapes, honey, potatoes, beef, pork and shrimp. For those watching diets, you'll be glad to know that seven tablespoons of cooked cauliflower only contains 31 calories. Of course if you add hollandaise sauce or butter you're adding calories.

Does you dog just get kitchen scraps? Dogs are not born to be scavengers and can't keep in good health on meat scraps alone. If your dog is not fed properly don't expect him to hunt, well. So if you want to enjoy your hunting trip more, keep your dogs in good health by feeding them balanced rations including some well balanced dog food.

An authority on men's wear says this season the rounded collar holds the spot light. Also, that pink, yellow and blue shirts are as correct for business wear as white.

The column likes to call attention to the good summer blooming bulbs, too. Everybody knows about the spring ones. The montbretias we were discussing at the beginning of this column are as easy to raise as gladiolas if you will just set them four or five inches deep in good soil after you have worked in some bone meal. Montbretias were created by crossing and recrossing several different South African flowers. The old-fashioned varieties were hardly showy enough to bother with, but the new Earlham Hybrids are as big as fifty-cent pieces. They grow on stiff wiry stems and have leaves like gladiolas. For flower arrangements in the summer months, there is nothing more unusual. Tones of yellow, reds, mahogany, brown-and-red combinations in the same flower—even some yellow flowers with touches of red in them—this is what they are like. Some bulb catalogues show pictures of them. Buy the best named varieties because they multiply well, and you will soon have plenty of them. They cost about the same thing that gladiolas do.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Springtime Club Has Beautiful Exhibits

The Springtime Garden Club of Monroe provided our lovely flower show this week. There are wonderful gardeners in this group as evidenced by the lovely plant material exhibit. Mrs. L. P. Craighead of Delhi and Mrs. Kent Breard, Monroe served as judges.

In the arrangement section first place award was given to Mrs. Jeanne Dupont. Using a fluted milk glass container Mrs. Dupont created a lovely mass arrangement of deep red Mirandy roses and tuberoses. The arrangement was set on a black base, against a background of soft gray. Mrs. Alvin Tippit was awarded second place. Against a chartreuse background Mrs. Tippit arranged sumac leaves and two toned marigolds in a deep green container. The very essence of fall! Mrs. Kent Womack was awarded third place.

Here is a date to remember—The Welcome Garden Club will present Mrs. Hugh Sutherland, Bethany plantation, Itta Bena, Miss., on November 15, in a lecture on dried arrangements and Christmas decorations. At the Bayou DeSiard Country Club. Time 2:30 p.m. Tickets available at the Garden Center. Next week we will have with us Mrs. Ione Talbert of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Talbert will conduct a flower arranging clinic. The classes are limited to fifteen students and there will be individual instruction. As I write this there are several cancellations. If you are interested call 3-3166.

The Garden Center is a busy place these days with everyone thinking about their fall planting. We are assisting a great many new home owners in the landscaping of their gardens. Our landscape experts tell us to establish our trees and lawns first and carefully choose our shrubs. The modern low rambling homes do not need foundation plantings as we formerly thought of them. Instead they are today used as accents and to compliment the architecture of the homes.

Mr. Truman Quinton, plant doctor, of Jackson, Miss. visited the center this week. He advises that he will be with us again next spring. That's good news.

More Money Is Spent Here For Autos Than Food

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (Special)—More money is spent in Ouachita Parish for automotive equipment than for food. Approximately 32 cents out of every dollar spent in the local retail stores goes for purchases of new and used cars, tires, batteries and other accessories, and for farm machinery, motorcycles and the like.

Food stores take the second largest bite out of the dollar.

Dealers in automotive equipment in Ouachita Parish produced a sales volume in 1953 of $33,087,000, a gain over the previous year's $26,924,000.

The 32 cents of the retail dollar this represents is well above the proportion devoted to automotive purchases generally in the United States, 19 cents. For the West South Central States as a whole, the average was 23 cents, and, in the state of Louisiana, 21 cents.

Big spending in this direction reflects a high standard of living and is normally an index of good times. With families earning more, as was the case in Ouachita Parish last year, more is spent for luxuries.

This expansiveness was noted in the grocery stores, meat markets and other food shops in the county, which did a $17,056,000 volume of business in the year. It compares favorably with the prior year's $16-401,000.

It was equivalent to 17 cents out of every dollar of retail business chalked up locally. This was another sign of good living.

Sales in general merchandise and variety stores, another index considered in the survey, totaled $10,605,000 in the year, representing 10 cents of the retail dollar.

The stores selling furniture, household supplies, radios and the like did $7,706,000, amounting to 7 cents.

Purchases in drug stores came to $2,730,000, or 3 cents additional.

Postmasters To Be Host To Their Postal Officials

The fourth and fifth districts of the Louisiana chapter of the National Association of Postmasters will meet in Monroe on November 11. The meeting will begin with a luncheon at the Hotel Frances at 12 o'clock noon.

The post office department will be represented by the following officials: Matt H. Creed, district manager, regional operations; Oliver W .Boyd, Jr., assistant district manager; post office inspector Fred H. Clampitt; L. E. Mathews, assistant general superintendent, postal transportation service; and J. R. Martin, regional controller of the bureau of accounts. These officials will be in Monroe to assist the postmasters in making their preparations for handling the enormous volume of Christmas mails expected this year and to discuss other matters of importance to postal personnel.

All postmasters will be given the opportunity of presenting their individual postal problems to these officials.

The privilege and advantage of having high ranking postal officials meet with postmasters is a direct result of Postmaster General Summerfield's policy of decentralizing the post office department. On June 14, 1954 a regional office was established in Dallas, Tex., to serve the states of Louisiana and Texas. In order to bring management still closer to the post offices in Louisiana, a district office was opened in New Orleans at the same time.

All postmasters and supervisors are invited and urged to attend this meeting.

$30,000 Needed To Make Goal For Civic Chest

The Twin City Community Chest will have its final report meeting Tuesday night, 7:30 p.m., in the Virginia Hotel. All workers are urged to work their envelopes and be ready to report their collections at this meeting. Chest officials also urge contributors to cooperate with these volunteers in not requiring them to make numerous trips to get your contribution. It was pointed out that all of these solicitors are volunteers who are taking time away from their own business to give this community service.

Funds for this year's drive have come in faster than ever before, but there's still nearly $30,000 to be raised, if the seven character-building agencies of the Chest are to continue their services. If the goal is not reached each agency will be released to conduct its own individual drive next year, thus forcing seven more charity drives on the Twin Cities.

As the Community Chest Drive nears the end of its fifth week, solicitors and contributors have been urged to join in an all-out effort to reach the goal — and on time. The Chest, which is merely the collecting organization, is striving to raise $72,248.32 to carry on the character - building work of Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YWCA, Monroe Area Guidance Center, Monroe Colored Community Welfare, Salvation Army and Red Shield Boys' Club.

In budget studies during the summer, it was determined that this figure was the absolute minimum required to finance the work of these seven agencies if they are to continue their services to the community. All funds collected are expended locally.

To date over $42,000 has been raised, the largest amount ever for a comparable period, but receipts have slowed down considerably, according to reports from Chest officials. Unless the additional money is pledged, it appears certain that the Chest will be abolished and each agency released to conduct its own individual drive next year.

Winners in the Red Feather Kid contest, conducted by the Twin City Community Chest, were announced this week by Mrs. Eunice Foreman, chairman of this project.

Bonnie Dupuy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dupuy, 1604 North 8th street, won first place in her division. She is a 6th grade student at Georgia Tucker School.

In the other division Janet Moses daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Moses, 911 College avenue, was the winner. She is a third grade student in Our Lady of Fatima school.

Both have received $25 defense bonds. Honorable mention was given to the following:

James Jones, sixty grade, Little Flower school; Verie Lynne Weir, fifth grade, Selman school; Judy Abington, fifth grade, Our Lady of Fatima school; Palma Bruce Hibbard, sixth grade, St. Paschal school; Sam Herron, seventh grade, Highland school; Barbara Pauley sixth grade, Ransom school; Mike Irvin third grade, Sherrouse school; Dottie Thompton, third grade, Millsaps school; Nadine Barrett third grade, St. Paschal school; Mattie Lee Byrd, fourth grade, J. S. Clark school.

More than 10,000 school children participated in this contest to draw likenesses of the Red Feather Kid, chosen as a symbol of this year's Twin City Community Chest drive.

THAT CUP~ CUT FROM A SINGLE DIAMOND! IS IT VERY (GULP) OLD?

YES, PERHAPS THREE THOUSAND YEARS OLD. NOTICE THAT GREEK LETTER 'A' CUT INTO THE BASE?

"YES. WHEN ALEXANDER TOPPLED THE GREAT PERSIAN EMPIRE AND BECAME RULER OF THE EARTH~ THE CUP WAS BROUGHT TO HIM."
